

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The best job work is done by the EXPRESS.

A good rain would be acceptable now by nearly every one.

The dust is better than it has ever been. Oh, how nice.

Cruson & Menzies will furnish your windows and doors cheap.

Rev. Gillespie is in town this week, the guest of Rev. Giboney.

There is a great deal of grain being taken to the warehouse now.

Dr. E. R. Barker left for the mountains again last Monday morning.

Mrs. R. C. Miller, who was quite sick last week, is able to be up again.

Old settlers say it is dryer than it has ever been known before in Oregon.

What would become of Lebanon if a fire should break out during a high wind?

Harvesting is about over and nearly every one is hauling in their grain now.

Miss Alta Dyson, of Brownsville, was visiting in town this week, the guest of Miss Ada Miller.

We received a pleasant call on last Wednesday from Misses Alta Dyson, Ada and Nona Miller. Call again ladies.

We should see that everything is kept in order about the fire engine, as there is liable to be a fire nearly any time.

Charlie Miller returned from Brownsville Monday, where he has spent several weeks.

Col. B. F. Alley was in town last Monday distributing some of his pamphlets. He says there will be a lot sent out as soon as they could be bound.

W. W. Ray, who resided at this place many years ago but who now lives at Prineville, arrived in town Monday and made this office a pleasant call.

Mr. F. M. Miller is having a new dwelling house built on the corner lot just diagonally across the street from the Methodist church. He is also having a new barn built where the one was burnt down.

The wedding which we announced to take place on last Sunday did not come off. Some may think we were joking, but we were not; we did get an invitation to a wedding for last Sunday. We will say that only one of the parties reside in Lebanon at this time.

When you go to Albany be sure and call on G. W. Simpson and examine his new stock of Gent's Furnishing Goods. The second story of his large house has lately been fitted up and is now heavily stocked with the latest style and the lowest priced goods ever offered in the Albany market.

Yea, verily, blessed is the man who sitteth not in the seat of the kicker nor mingleth himself not in the congregation of the mossbacks and his delight is in building up his town and himself. He shall be like an evergreen tree planted by the river of waters; his leaf shall not wither for the boomer will get there, but the kicker shall be left to hold the bag.

Messrs. Ruff Hiatt and James Keebler returned to Lebanon from across the mountains last Tuesday, where they have been after sheep. Mr. C. Gordon having stopped at the pasture, several miles above here, with the sheep. They report having had a good time, with the exception of the dust, which was very bad.

A disastrous fire occurred at Truckee, Cal., Monday afternoon, and a large portion of the city was burned, including many business houses and about thirty dwellings. Loss, about $75,000. We think that Lebanon and many other Willamette valley towns should "look a leetle ood" and guard against the possibility of a fire in their midst.

On last Wednesday evening, in company with Mr. Ruff Hiatt, we took a drive to Mr. Geo. McKnight's barn to look at the fine trotters, which are beauties. Oneco is a fine, well shaped horse as can be found anywhere, and he has a record of 2:20. The other, Altigo, is somewhat smaller, but has a finer color, and, if possible, is better shaped for trotting, and has a record of 2:42 at three years old. He also has some very fine mares and some as fine colts as we ever looked at. He has a track on which he is now training his horses. It would pay any one that likes to look at fine horses to go out to this barn, as we have seldom seen finer horses anywhere.

Teams are all busy hauling lumber for new buildings, or repairs on old ones. Everywhere are signs of improvement. No houses in town for rent. It would be a good investment for some of our property owners to put up some new houses to rent.

On last Tuesday Walt Johnson, deputy sheriff, and J. L. Johnson, one of the proprietors of the livery stable at Corvallis, arrived in town with a warrant for the arrest of a man named Humphrey, who had hired a horse from the stable to ride out about three miles in the country, and as he failed to come back they started out to hunt him up. They found the horse here, where it had been left in the livery stable. The two men then went on as far as Sweet home and heard of a man who suited his complexion, but did not get him. Telegrams have been sent in all directions to look for him, so that in all probability Benton county's jail will have a tenant before many days. Humphrey is a man of medium size, about 25 years old, pimples on his face, and wore a large light colored dirty hat and blue flannel shirt. It is thought he is on his road to Prineville or in the Sweet Home valley.

Why is it that some people seem to think that the sole aim and object of a newspaper man's life is to boom his fellow men and live upon the knowledge that he is doing good in the world? An editor's space is his stock in trade, it is worth so much and is generally sold for a very small per cent of its actual value. A banker makes his living by using his money. How would it look for any well-to-do business man to run into the bank occasionally and ask for a quarter? Curious feelings would promenade through the brain of the average man were one of his wealthy neighbors to come into his store and ask for a sack of flour as a personal favor. Yet the average newspaper man takes pleasure in giving his patrons an occasional puff. It is when he is censured for not blowing up some man who says that money spent in advertising is money thrown away, that patience ceases to be a virtue, and his habitual reserve and modesty falls from him like chaff before the whirlwind as it were.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following, from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right today; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease, to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." For sale by M. A. Miller.

As a general thing the man who has faith in his town and country succeeds in business. The man who is dissatisfied and has no faith in the country had just as well pack his grip and hunt more congenial places. The grumbler cannot do any good for either himself or his country, but on the contrary he can do a great deal of harm.

That they may regain lost health invalids are advised by their physicians to go down by the sad sea waves for a little rest. And the inevitable result is that the baggage transfer man gets the change and the the hotel keeper the rest.

We understand that the government has sent a couple of men to Oregon to see about the timber business. Uncle Sam has evidently become alarmed and will investigate the fraudulent filing on timber lands.

You say he calls you a donkey? Yes. What did you do? Nothing. Well, if a man should call me a donkey, I'd kick him with both feet. Certainly, any donkey would naturally do that.

One of our young druggists has a terrible looking nose on him. He says he fell down, but we rather believe that he ran against something, may be it was a rail, but most likely it was a man's fist. The pugilistic character of this young man caused him to attack a tree at Fish Lake, thinking it was a man!

IN MEMORIAM.

The following lines were written in memory of Charley Klum, who died April 8, 1889, by his mother:

Dearly we loved Charley,
But his Savior loved him best,
So He took him up to Heaven,
There to live and ever rest.
Though his place at home is vacant
And his voice no more you hear,
Yet you'll find him up in Heaven
With his Savior ever near.
Father, be not sad and lonely;
He has only gone to rest
With the Angels up in Heaven,
There to dwell among the blest.
He'll be waiting there to greet you
When life's fitful dreams are o'er;
Oh! be ready then to meet him
On that bright and heavenly shore.
Brothers and sisters, you'll miss dear Charley,
His bright smiles you will see no more,
For he has gone to live in heaven,
Where pain and sorrow all are o'er.
If you love your Savior dearly,
You will meet him by and by,
With the Savior who has loved us,
In that land beyond the sky.
