

CROW FOOT.

Again, after quite a lengthy vacation, we grasp our quill and seat ourselves on an old box with our paper on a three legged stool, and are determined to write you the news of this section. But we are weak and nervous (nassing with the realities of life, and we are also nervous from excitement, for the responsibilities connected with newspaper corresponding are so great that it's only once in a great while that our nervous system will permit us to act as correspondent. Hence you can expect items from us only semi-occasionally.

Harvesting is all over in this locality.

Mr. Geo. Lesley is running his wood saw in this vicinity.

Mr. M. Jackson, wife and daughter, have gone on a visit to Clackamas county, this week.

The Sunday-school at the school house, which has been postponed for some time on account of warm weather, will be resumed on next Sunday (Sep. 1) at the usual hour, 3 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

We are hugely enjoying a nice rain this week.

Mr. W. L. Jackson is our representative at the teacher's examination this week.

Mrs. R. Cheadle has been visiting in Portland for some time.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blain, of Albany, is making a visit at her daughter's, Mrs. J. M. Marks.

The last time we plucked up courage to write to THE EXPRESS we were forced to suffer discouragement and disappointment of the worst kind, in fact it was almost an insult. The editor had the cheek to insinuate that our Foot did not have as delicious perfume as the choicest flowers that blossom on the sunny hillside in the early days of spring. Well, now, Mr. Editor, since our last writing our foot has been washed and we have donned a clean garb, and we think you will have no cause to complain for a while at least. We do not know what else we can do unless we can borrow a pair of your old foot apparel and then perhaps you could not tell who —

SETTLER.

Pheasants are in prime order just now, and promenade in bands, sometimes thirty or forty meandering in a band. As the law provides a fine for killing them, sportsmen content themselves with shooting "grouse" or "bird," which amount to the same thing when once in a bag.

If you go to Albany to buy a stove call on G. W. Smith, who has the largest and best stock of stoves and tinware and sells cheaper than anyone in Albany.
