

How a Nigger Can Sleep.

I saw a queer illustration of the sleeping qualities of a negro the other day. Everyone knows that a genuine unadulterated negro can sleep on a board with his face to the sun and without covering his eyes on the hottest July day—and he sleeps as peacefully as a white man on the softest cot in the darkest room. It has been said that he could sleep under the mouth of a cannon in operation, and I believe it—or, at least, I believe that the one of which I shall speak could. In going down to Augusta a few days ago on the regular day passage we were a few miles below Union Point when the train suddenly stopped. The fireman jumped from the engine and ran back by the passenger coach crying, "There's a dead nigger behind." Everyone looked out, and sure enough just behind the rear coach, with his head resting on the cross-ties, was what was supposed to be a dead negro man. Two or three train hands and a number of negroes ran back to see if the train had struck him.

"Dat nigger ain't dead. He's er' mo'in," said one of the negroes, and he jerked and kicked him until the sleeping negro awoke, arose and walked off, followed by a kick from the brakeman.

The wheels of the engine and cars had passed within a few inches of the negro's head, and had not even affected his snoring.—Ex.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.

The extra train which brought in the passengers from the steamer Willamette Valley from Yaquina Bay last evening met a hand car on one of the grades. The occupants of the car were apparently busy watching a forest fire raging near the road, and did not notice the whistling, which the engineer put on vigorously, or the noise of the approaching train until they ran into it. No material damage was done, the examination after the shake up showing only a small contusion upon a Chinaman's foot.—Albany Herald.

A Good Cough Syrup.

There is nothing parents should be so careful about as selecting a cough syrup. Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup costs no more than the cheap and inferior nostrums thrown upon the market. The best is none too good. Be sure and get Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup. We keep it on hand at all times. M. A. Miller, Druggist.
