

A Woman At The Pen.

The penitentiary doors swung open yesterday afternoon to receive as a convict a woman, Edith Holmes, who had been convicted, at Astoria, of larceny and sentenced to a term of one year.

This young girl is the only female convict, the last one of the gentler sex having been released in April 1888. It is seen from this that Oregon's penitentiary was for eighteen months without a female prisoner, a fact that speaks volumes in favor of Oregon women. It is doubtful if any prison in the United States can show such a record.

Edith Holmes is the name under which this lone female convict was tried and convicted, but it is not her real name. She was interviewed upon her arrival at the prison yesterday afternoon but refused to favor the reporter with her true name. She was willing, however, to talk. She said she was nineteen years of age, was born at Walla Walla, but had lived for many years in Yamhill county, her home having been until a year ago at Newberg, near which quiet little city she has a married sister named Carter. Her mother died when she was a babe, leaving her to be raised by her father, whose whereabouts are now unknown. The reporter suggested that the sight of a girl so young in a felon's cell was a touching one, to which her only reply was a sob and a drooping head.

She dons the striped uniform this morning and Monday will be put to work sewing. Her nights and Sundays will be spent in the woman's cell on the first floor.

This girl is the sixth woman to serve in Oregon's penitentiary.—Salem Statesman.

TOBACCO RAISING.

That the Willamette valley is admirably adapted to the cultivation of tobacco many successful experiments prove, and the value of the product has frequently been pointed out by well qualified persons. The consumption of tobacco in this fertile valley requires the importation of large quantities of the weed, and the substitution, as far as possible, of home grown leaf will lessen the expense of smokers, and add materially to the income of the soil tillers. Several fine specimens of tobacco grown in this valley have been exhibited in Salem within the past few weeks.—Salem Statesman.

HOW THEY SWINDLE.

Note and comment in the Oregonian says: A number of people are continually swindled in Portland and hereabout by bunco men and other grades of sharpers. The gold-brick man has had his booty and it is about time for the dream swindler to appear. His plan of operation is as follows: He disguises himself as a peddler and contrives to put up for the night at a farm house whose owner he has learned is rich. During the night he has a dream, in which there is revealed to him the location of hidden wealth. He tells his host and they search for the spot and find it. They dig up a box, which generally is found at the foot of a tree, and find it filled with either gold or silver coin. The stranger is willing to sell out his half at a sacrifice. He secures the money and decamps, while the poor farmer finds that all his glittering coin is bogus and he is the victim of a neatly executed swindle.

A Good Cough Syrup.

There is nothing parents should be so careful about as selecting a cough syrup. Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup costs no more than the cheap and inferior nostrums thrown upon the market. The best is none too good. Be sure and get Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup. We keep it on hand at all times. M. A. Miller, Druggist.

Monday was pay day at the Eagle woolen mills. The operatives received their monthly dues, and the jingle of the "almighty dollar" gladdened the ears and pockets of our merchants.

Thomas Kay, Sr., who on Thursday arrived in Brownsville, states that the Salem woolen mills are fast nearing completion and will soon be finished sufficiently to commence operations.

M. R. Meyer and wife, Mrs. George Dyson, Dr. O. B. Reese, John H. Waters and wife, Mrs. B. Cushman, Mrs. Mary Garoutte and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kirk on Monday left for Portland to attend the Mechanic's Institute.

On Friday Rev. A. Le Roy returned from Portland, where, at the Baptist church on the evening of Tuesday, he delivered to a large attendance, under the auspices of the "Young People's Association," a lecture on the subject of "Ethics of Beauty."

McMahon's circus on Monday, Oct. 4, gave an afternoon and evening performance and, notwithstanding the fact that the weather was disagreeable in the extreme, heavy showers falling incessantly, the mammoth canvas pavilion was crowded to excess by those eager to witness the truly artistic performance of this popular and justly celebrated show, which, during the past summer months, has made a grand financial success on its tour of the territories. It will close this season's programme on Oct. 12, going into winter quarters at Portland.

At the North Brownsville city hall on the evening of Thursday, the 10th inst., the Oakes Comedy Sketch Club gave a performance to a crowded house. The entertainment was first-class in every particular, the musical part of the programme being far above average productions. Frank Hollister (F. H. Veach), the "star banjoist" was a drawing card and is truly the people's favorite. Each and every member of this troupe are finished artists, and stand at the head of their profession.

What a Fortune

Is a good healthy, pearly skin. Few are aware of the short time it takes for a disordered liver to cause blotches on the face, and a dark greasy skin. One bottle of Begg's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will restore this organ to its natural and healthy state, and cleanse the blood of all impurities. It is meeting with wonderful success. We guarantee every bottle. M. A. Miller, Druggist.

A Hale Old Man.

A hale old man, Mr. Jas. Wilson of Allens Springs, Ill., who is over sixty years of age, says: "I have in my time tried a great many medicines, some of excellent quality, but never before did I find any that would so completely do all that is claimed for it as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is truly a wonderful medicine." For sale by M. A. Miller.
