PORTLAND MARKET.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK MORE FAVORABLE.

While There is no Direct Change in Quotations, Every Business Man Feels Confident of an Eary Change all Round.

The controlling features of the busines situation have undergone but little change since the close of last week, the distributive movement of trade having been satisfactorily maintained, while reports from all important interior distributing centers reflect the same satisfactory conditions both as to character and extent of the autumn demand. Coffees remain firm at last quotations. Sugars are lower all round. The fresh fruit market is still firm and active. Fresh vegetables are still in good receipt and prices are well maintained. For dairy, produce and poultry there is not much to report, last week's prices being well maintained. Wheat is more active and firmer. Flour and feed is unchanged, the demand continuing good. The local wool market is still exceedingly dull. Hops are coming in more freely, but the market is still without interest.
