

BURDETTE'S PHILOSOPHY.

A SORE LOSS AT THIS TIME.

Laura Bridgman, who was deaf, dumb and blind, and could neither smell nor taste, and could not feel very well under the circumstances, is dead. It is a great pity. She would have been of invaluable assistance just now to the Chicago detectives.

TAKES ROOM TO GET IT ALL IN.

"What's that?" asked old Gunnybags, as a supplement, crowded with long columns of names and figures, fell from the newspaper when he opened it, "delinquent tax list?" "No," said his son, as he scanned the sheet, "it's a report of the cricket match."

A RARE CHANCE FOR A CORNER.

It is stated by scientific and learned men that all the great wealth of the Vanderbilt family, about $300,000,000, would suffice to buy only two tons of gallium, that rare and precious metal being valued at $1,250 an ounce. If any of our editorial brethren want any more gallium than they are now carrying in stock, it is hoped they will get a few pounds to last through the hot weather before the Vanderbilts hear of this chance and play with the market. The pressman told us last night that he didn't believe we had more than half a barrel on hand now.

WE ARE DISCOVERED.

A typewriter girl who has seen much of men and their ways during business hours, writes to The Indianapolis Journal that she is "sick of men." They are messy, they are silly; they talk utter nonsense. I am beginning to believe that a trashy dime novel is better society than the average man, and equally improving. We told you so. We said when men began to employ girls in business offices that it wouldn't be long before they found us out. No; you wouldn't listen to us; you went on employing them, thinking that because a girl was pretty she had no sense. Now see where you are. She has sized you up before she has been with the house long enough to learn where they keep the postage stamps.—Burdette in Brooklyn Eagle.

A Tough World.

Flossie is 6 years old. "Mamma," she asked one day, "if I get married, will I have to have a husband like pa?" "Yes," replied the mother with an amused smile. "And if I don't get married, will I have to be an old maid like Aunt Kate?" "Yes," "Mamma"—after a pause—"it's a tough world for us women, ain't it?"—Binghamton Republican.

The Beauties of Knowledge.

"My son, you should emulate young Bloodgood. Instead of wasting his time he worked hard, saved money, educated himself and graduated as a physician." "Have you seen him lately?" "Yesterday." "What was he doing?" "Well—er—ah—he was driving a street car."—Nebraska State Journal.

Eligibility.

"But, my dear, what has that old man to recommend himself aside from his riches?" "Heart disease."—Life.

Advice Is Cheap.

Seedy Stranger—I have here a couple of articles which I think would interest your readers.

Editor—Well, sir, what are their subjects? Seedy Stranger—They are editorials. One is on "The Business Situation," and the other "Advice to Young Men as to Getting on in Life."

Editor—If you will leave them we will look them over.

Seedy Stranger—Thank you; but if you would only advance me five cents it would be a great favor. I should like to buy a neat but not gaudy sandwich.—America.

Not an Uncommon Voice.

The music teacher in the Sunday school was selecting a chorus. He inquired of each scholar in what voice he sang. They answered tenors, altos, etc. One little boy didn't know what his voice was.

"Say treble," was the kindly advice. He became confused, blundered and said, "Terrible."—Cleveland Land Dealer.

Holst.

"Yass, I know you-ah name. You-ah fat-hah was one of my gwandfathah's keepahs." "Indeed! I never heard that my father looked after the monkeys."—Harper's Bazar.

Willing to Sacrifice.

As we rode along the highway out of Goldboro the owner of the team pointed to a half finished church building alongside the road and said:

"The colored people have been building that for the last ten years."

"One struck me in town last night for a dollar to help finish some edifice, and this must be the one," answered the colonel.

"No doubt of it, and that may be the one just coming out."

"So it is. Hold on, and let's see what he has done with my dollar."

The man approached, bowing and smiling, and the colonel said:

"Is this where you are going to put that dollar I gave you last night?"

"Oh! Hul den you ar de gem'ten who gin me de big dollar?"

"I am. What are you going to do with it?"

"Ise already dun gone dun wid it, sah. See 'em shingles ober dar?"

"Why, there isn't two bits worth in that pile."

"Just exactly two bits, sah."

"And the rest of the money?"

"Do rest jis settles my charges for bringin' de shingles 'y, sah, an' Ise obliged to walk home for nothin'."—Detroit Free Press.

The Forth Bridge, in Scotland, has stirred the engineering world so that Schneider & Co., the great French iron-makers, have prepared a design for a channel bridge from Dover to Calais. The length is twenty-four miles and the number of piers proposed to be built in the sea is 120.

Thomas Stevens, the bicyclist, who, after making a tour of the world on his wheel, was sent to Africa to "discover Stanley," has returned to Zanzibar. He has failed to find any trace whatever of Stanley. His mission is a complete fiasco.
