

The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union holds its sixteenth annual convention in Chicago, from the 8th to the 12th of next month.

An organization which, even at the end of sixteen years, has by its own efforts built up a system of ten thousand local auxiliary branches, spread a network of juvenile branches over the country, establishing a publishing house with an annual issue of sixty million pages and a newspaper organ of sixty thousand circulation, challenges universal respect for the business ability and force of character of the women who have had charge of its fortunes.

More, perhaps, than any other temperance organization, this one, by its well maintained activity and zeal, has come to be regarded by the great mass of people as the very head and front of the liquor movement. Its tendencies are carefully noted by friends and enemies. Its efforts in behalf of society purity as well as in the special sphere of temperance have won for it the approval and warm sanction of thousands of men and women outside its ranks. All this has tended to give extraordinary weight to its public expressions, and has made it as necessary for the Union as any other great enterprise to show the utmost caution in its relations to politics, when an issue is before the public in which its principles are involved.

Beer is not food. Four hogsheads of beer are not equal in nourishment to one loaf of bread. The beer drinker is not soiled, but paralyzed; he is not fed, but poisoned; he is not cured of his maladies, but made diseased in every part, and "wears his heart on his sleeve, here to a death wound, even from a rusty nail or the claw of a cat."

A poor old man, busily engaged planting an apple tree, was rudely asked: "What do you plant trees for? You can't expect to eat the fruit of them." He raised himself up and leaning on his spade, said: "Some one planted trees before I was born, and I have eaten the fruit. I now plant for others to show my gratitude when I am dead." Thus should we think and act for the welfare of others, that the world may be better by our having lived in it. Some men will be known only by the wreck and ruin they have wrought; others "departing leave behind them footprints in the sand of time," that cheer and guide, comfort and bless, the generations that come after them.

A Hale Old Man.

A hale old man, Mr. Jas. Wilson of Albion Springs, Ill., who is over sixty years of age, says: "I have in my time tried a great many medicines, some of excellent quality, but never before did I find any that would so completely do all that is claimed for it as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is truly a wonderful medicine." For sale by M. A. Miller.

There is nothing parents should be so careful about as selecting a cough syrup. Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup costs no more than the cheap and inferior nostrums thrown upon the market. The best is none too good. Be sure and get Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup. We keep it on hand at all times. M. A. Miller, Druggist.

WANTED.

Family to move into residence in rear of Santiam Academy and look after rooms and board for students. Call on or address R. N. WRIGHT, Principal, Santiam Academy, Lebanon, Oregon.

Who hate them that give him his neighbor drink, that putteth his bottle to him and maketh him drunken also. —Habbakuk 2: 15.

The Lord shall not spare him, but the anger of the Lord and His jealousy shall smoke against that man, and all the curses that are written in the book shall be upon him, and the Lord shall blot out his name from under heaven. —Deut. 29: 20.

What a thundering from the thrones is the above! It will be profitable for all men to consider the divine justification in declaring His judgments against the evil of strong drink. We hear much about hard times and the sufferings of the laboring class, and many feel that they ought to have some relief from the enemies that oppress them, but the greatest wrong to the poor man's land is, strong drink.

When we remember that the drink bill of this country is one and one-half million more dollars than the amount paid for bread, and that as much is paid for tobacco as is paid for meat, it is not difficult for any man to see that the remedy is in his own hand.

The latest statistics showing the cost of the various commodities used by the people of this country are as follows:

Liquor 900,000,000, tobacco 800,000,000, meat 800,000,000, bread 750,000,000, iron and steel 550,000,000, boots and shoes 400,000,000, public instruction $5,000,000 dollars. Let every consumer study carefully these figures, and let every man who complains of hard luck and bad times, and who is finding fault because some other man is more prosperous than himself, and who is angry because the devil is so mean, first cast away the destructive glass and the de-filing plug, and see if very much of the evil complained of does not disappear.

Says the New York Tribune: "One in every twenty of the people of this country are incapacitated for work through the use of liquor, and these, if employed at ordinary wages, would earn $200,000,000 annually." Stone-wall Jackson said: "I never use it; I am more afraid of it than of Yankee bullets." REV. F. H. CALDER.

BEWARE OF FRAUD.

To the Citizens of Linn County: Beware of the fraud of the country! I have been taken in too often not to speak of it. Don't let them fool you in their eastern goods until you see the home manufactured article. Every man with reason knows that they can't ship to us as cheap as we can make it at home. For an example, take the Common Sense Harrow. They are made at home; they are made of the best of material; all hand made; and their eastern work is all made by machinery. My work is warranted to stand. If it doesn't, fetch it back and I will make it. I have the cheapest and best harrow to be bought in the section. It is made in independent sections, either wood or iron. Show me a harrow that you can buy from the east for $4.50! You can't do it! I'll fix you up a good harrow for that, and don't you forget it. Blacksmithing and woodwork done on short notice. JOSEPH HARBIN, Red Front Shop, Lebanon, Oregon.
