

Lebanon Express.

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1890.

EYES AND EARS!

Mrs. Barker is slightly indisposed.

We saw Steve Goble in town this week.

Brick Moyer was in Lebanon this week.

Willis Calder returned to Lebanon Monday.

The school house frame was erected this week.

Mr. Boyle is painting his cottage in good style.

Guaranteed machine oils at Cruson & Menzies.

Mrs. Chas. Ralston has been ill for several days.

Screen doors and windows at Cruson & Menzies.

John G. Reed is having the front of his store repainted.

O'Neill Bros. are building a barn near the paper mill.

Jack Bilyeu drove over from Brownsville Tuesday.

Rock is being hauled for the basement of the paper mill.

Geo. L. Wilcox and wife left by train for Albany Thursday.

Mr. Hearn returned Monday and again took charge of the depot.

Wheeler & Troutman are scattering beef broadcast over the country.

Rev. H. B. Elworthy, of Brownsville, visited Lebanon last week.

This week we "knock out" the Examiner, our readers being judges.

Ray Lakin, of Eugene, is working on Lebanon's new school building.

Louis Marselles is learning to dispense drugs in the City drug store.

G. W. Wheeler has all kinds of lumber at his saw mill in Lebanon.

Ed. Kellenberger shipped five dressed hogs and several veals Thursday.

A truck load of foot-wear was dumped at C. C. Hackleman's Thursday.

Hop buyers are anxious to contract this year crop at 16 cents, so we are told.

Rev. P. A. Moses of Taunton has been visiting his sons in town this week.

Mr. L. Maxwell, from the Albany prairie, called on the Express this week.

Vroom Bros. of Cedar Flat are shipping some first-class shingles from this point.

J. A. Nickerson is kept busy at his planer, dressing lumber for the school house.

Mrs. Hattie Williams of Dallas, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Guy, at the place.

Mr. Retherford is marketing beef, pork, and mutton chops for Kellenberger.

S. P. Bach is visiting in Salem. The capital city has some attractions for Stephen.

Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick and daughter Maggie returned home from Seattle Tuesday.

Sheriff Scott was shaking hands with his many friends in Lebanon Monday.

John Hope is carrying his arm in a sling. He thinks it is an attack of erysipelas.

Jack Ralston is clerking in Beard & Holt's drug store during the absence of Mr. Beard.

Prof. L. Say of Brownsville, visited the coast at Yaquina and also Alsea valley this week.

T. C. Peebler and family and Mrs. Wm. Reed are enjoying the mountain air at Fish Lake.

Carpenters Banta, Williams, and Crouch began work on John Beard's residence Monday.

Remember you can get a hot or cold bath any day in the week at L. R. Horn's barber shop.

Ex-County Clerk A. C. Palmer and wife, of Crook Co., were visiting J. F. Markham this week.

The M. E. Church, South, will decide where to build their church and parsonage in a few days.

The work of renovation still goes on at the St. Charles, and has now reached the bar-room.

Lumber! Lumber! Where does it all go? It is put into new buildings right here in our own town.

Rev. F. W. Parker of Woodburn has been engaged to preach for the C. P. church at Brownsville.

Frank Spaulding, the "boy preacher" from Prineville, stopped at the St. Charles Tuesday night.

Miss Nettie Ames took her leave of Lebanon Wednesday, to visit in Harrisburg three weeks.

M. A. Miller has a large stock of machine oils of all kinds and will meet any and all competition.

Mrs. Parker, of Centerville, Oregon, has been visiting with Mr. Jos. Nixon and other friends lately.

Meers, Dobkins & Osborne are kept busy at the machine shop repairing disabled machinery.

Mr. Powell, who lives near Lebanon, tells us that he will commence threshing his grain next week.

E. Goan, at the new planer, is dressing lumber for Mr. Ralston's dwelling and other houses in town.

We notice a few dry spots on Main street after the sprinkler has passed. How do you account for it?

When the grain in the Willamette valley is all garnered it will be found that we have an average crop.

The many loads of hay which pass through our town daily, do not indicate a shortage in the hay crop.

Mr. Bone, Halsey's liveryman, was in Lebanon Tuesday. He was hauling commercial travelers as usual.

The second street north of Main will be opened north to the canal as soon as Mr. Eaton can remove his growing crop.

The steam saw is cutting the wood along the Lebanon branch road, amounting to about one thousand cords.

Mr. Charles Ralston began the work of tearing down his old dwelling this week to make room for a fine residence.

Mr. Wallace promised the particulars of a very interesting suit at law, for publication. Hand it in, Bro. Wallace.

Eureka meat market, just opened on Sherman street, opposite St. Charles hotel. Wheeler & Troutman. Call and see us.

G. E. Hardy has filled his show case with late invoices of jewelry, and will make prices to suit his many customers.

Our merchants must do a good business in the city alone; the wheels of Gordon's delivery wagon are continually buzzing.

T. A. Swan has several carpenters at work on his dwelling this week. The plans of the residence guaranteed a good building.

Uncle Billy Nichols is unroofing his barn, tearing down sheds and remodeling the old structure to suit his taste and convenience.

The attention of the young is called to the first of a series of articles which appears in this issue under the head of "Guaranteed."

Bob Montague got a mole in his eye this week, but we cannot mention the fact until we have first cast the beam out of our own eye.

L. T. Berry was in town this week. Mr. Berry would like to own some Lebanon real estate, and he is not alone in this regard.

D. J. Wheeler and Frank O'Neill went to Albany Monday evening. Mr. O'Neill took the train at that place for Portland Tuesday.

Jos. Wrenn, a former resident of Linn Co., who left Crook county for Lakeview, about two years ago, has never been heard of since.

The cherry season will be prolonged into August. We have a standing invitation to eat of this fruit now. One is a great fault country.

If we knew just when Buff. Hatt would be back we would grease our spider; you know he promised us some boneless meat from Clear Lake.

W. J. Guy is preparing to erect a business house 25,000 feet, two stories high. The building will be on Main street, one door north of his saloon.

Ten of our young ladies and gentlemen visited Brownsville last Sunday. It is not necessary to call any names, as everybody knows who they are.

The Albany census report probably includes some of Lebanon's suburban towns. If so, the inflated population would be a great advantage.

We guarantee our machine oils to contain no cotton seed nor fish oils; but pure machine oil.

Improvements are being made so rapidly that it will puzzle some of our friends, who have spent a few weeks in the mountains, to find their homes.

J. R. Kirkpatrick informs us that he has a fine supply of wood on hand, both hard and soft, which he will deliver to any part of the city. Notice ad.

Rough lumber is coming in from the saw mills and dressed lumber is being distributed about over town. For the new buildings which are soon to be built.

Rev. Geo. Gibney and wife were in Lebanon this week. Rev. Gibney is C. B. Montague's son-in-law. He came up to officiate at Charley's wedding.

Victims of the hook and line are numbered by the hundreds on the Santiam, and still there is no end to the anglers and fishing tackle arriving daily.

Parties knowing themselves indebted to Cruson & Menzies since 1889, please call and settle, as all of our old accounts will soon be put in the hands of a collector.

Messrs. Reed and Tompkins, state fish commissioners, were in Lebanon recently. It is well enough to look after the finny inhabitants of our streams.

Really now, don't you think a new walk north to the Examiner would facilitate travel, prevent a number of casualties and probably reduce the death rate?

The St. Charles can now boast a handsome parlor. Mr. Doud, the new proprietor, takes hold like a man thoroughly acquainted with the details of the business.

People in the East are making anxious inquiry about this country. They are coming and before many years pass ours will be a densely populated country.

The Red Front store attracts like a magnet; whether it is the unique front or the cheap goods handled by Mr. Reed can be ascertained by calling on the proprietor.

The product of precious metals in the state of Oregon during the calendar year of 1889 was approximately as follows: Gold, $1,372,529.27; silver, $41,583; total $1,414,112.54.

The Switzerland butcher is delivering meat to the farmers over the country. Ed's meat market on wheels is a great convenience to farmers and a source of profit to himself.

Geo. Cable of Brownsville, gave us a call Tuesday of this week. Handily the yard-stick must agree with George, as he seems to be enjoying that great old bling, rolling wheel.

T. D. Linton, a boy grower and buyer, of Eugene, was in Lebanon recently interviewing the hop growers in this vicinity. He contracted for about 100 bales at 16c and 16 1/2c.

Died, in Lebanon, July 21st, Fred Kohler, aged four years and six months. The parents, although strangers in our midst, have the sympathy of our entire community.

We wonder why that telephone line has not been built to Sweet Home; also, why the citizens of Lacombe have not built a line from their town to Lebanon. They said they would.

When nature falters and requires help, recruit her feeble energies with Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Beard & Holt.

The initial crop of the Seio Press under the new management, was received this week. Mr. Dugger deserves much credit for the success which we believe will patronize him liberally.

We are reminded quite frequently that punctuality pays. Often we see belated travelers chasing a departing train, and we always learn a lesson from the uneven and profitless race.

If you suffer any affection caused by impure blood, such as scrofula, salt rheum, sores, boils, pimples, tetter, ringworm, take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla. For sale by Beard & Holt.

G. E. Hardy, the popular jeweler, keeps a full line of first-class jewelry. He also wants it understood that his telephone line now includes the three stations, Tallman, Lebanon and Soda-ville.

Many serious, and some fatal accidents have occurred in Brownsville and vicinity lately. No part of creation is exempt from calamity, but it does seem that our neighbor is entitled to a reprieve.

W. S. Mayberry began work on a new dwelling on Park street, this week. Mr. Mayberry has been working at the carpenter's trade in Albany and has concluded to try his fortune in Lebanon.

I. D. Boyer of Brownsville, who has been rusticated at Yaquina, stopped at this office last Saturday. Mr. Boyer left his wife at the bay and returned to his official duties as secretary of the E. W. M. Co.

Brick Hardin has built several sheds and a basement in town. He is also erecting a large store room, all of which bespeak a first-class workman. Mr. Hardin is master of the trowel and hammer, without a doubt.

Wm. H. Moreland, who filled Mr. Hearn's place at the depot, was incapacitated for work last Saturday by drinking too freely of intoxicants, was relieved from duty, and the office was turned over to E. P. Dodge.

One of our young sports went hunting this week. An examination of his gun bag revealed the following: He did not kill a Mongolian, grouse, snipe, nor hawk. There were also several other choice birds left untouched.

Ben Dodge thinks it much better riding four wheels than two. Didn't the boys look daggers at him as he started for Soda-ville Wednesday evening? Well, he couldn't haul everything else but a horse.

The Lebanon Flour Mill has been rented by me, and it will be run in the future as it has in the past. I will grain and take in on exchange. Both flour and feed on hand at all times as heretofore.

Contractor Schell set a force of carpenters to work on the school house. The building is to be completed some time in September and nothing but active work will accomplish the task within the limited time.

Messrs. Barker, Garland, Stone, Wood, Hale and one or two others returned from their mountain trip Saturday. They feel amply rewarded for their four notwithstanding the hard rain and they suffered many privations.

What about the Cheadle canal? We were told two months since that stock to the amount of $20,000 had been subscribed, but this sum was considered sufficient to carry out the enterprise. Engineers would be here forthwith.

Timber and mineral resources of Linn county made known on application at this office. Mining rights in the Calapooia and Blue River districts sold at the Express office. For particulars call and see our specimens and read our descriptive pamphlets.

The State Fair Association, which convenes at Portland August 15, promises to be well attended. The hospitality of the citizens of Portland has thrown wide open the doors of the $1,500,000 hotel and all are invited to a feast of mind and body on that occasion.

A. M. Wilson, a farmer living near Tallman, reports his grain crops good. He also tells us that Miss Gibson, who lay sick for three months, and whose lungs were diseased for several years, during her illness, has recovered and will visit in Washington for a few months.

We have reason to believe that there are yet a few knaves in town who do not read the Express. We are laboring to build up our town and country; we are striving to build up your individual interests in common with the interests of the masses. Give us your co-operation.

The Lebanon Midland Orchestra composed of the best of the local trumpet, and tambourine, Monday night. Victims of the unhalloved strains attested their high appreciation of the dusky performances by the free bestowal of complimentary shoes and booties.

Families not already supplied should lose no time in procuring a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is the only remedy that can always be depended upon for bowels complaint in all its forms. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller.

We hear a good deal about the rising young men of our country. Don't share the delusion that Linn county is without a representative of this class. We could put our finger on several young men who rise at 9 o'clock in the morning, and always under difficult conditions.

Mr. F. J. Miller, superintendent of Grants Pass Sugar Pine Door and Lumber Co., at Albany, gave this office a call lately. Mr. Miller was formerly a bridge builder, and many are the bridges in Lane, Linn and other counties that have stood for years, and attest the skill of this workman.

Our town is rather quiet just now, owing to the fact that harvest is upon us, and a large percentage of our population are drawing fresh vigor from the mountain air and mineral springs. When our people return you may expect something startling and sensational, perhaps a bear or fish story.

O'Neill Bros. have built a good substantial bridge across the canal at the flour mill. In sinking a hole for the water wheel they reached the water level before the required depth was reached. They now find it necessary to keep a steam pump in operation night and day so that the shoveling may go on.

Rev. Handletter is working hard to advertise our town and surrounding country at the coming conference Aug. 21st. The eastern church dignitary will be furnished conveyance to Water-ville, Soda-ville and other noted places in our vicinity, and we doubt not they will fall in love with this part of the country.

The times coming when a general system of drainage will be adopted in the Willamette valley that will increase the yield of agricultural lands two-fold and greatly enhance the value of grazing lands. The farmer must bring to his calling the foresight and business acumen that lies at the foundation of all progress.

Presiding Elder, Rev. H. L. Barkley of the United Brethren church, preached near Portland, and says there are several other cases of this dread disease in the Beaver country.

Reports from all parts of the county are that the past few weeks of favorable weather have been very beneficial to growing crops, and everywhere grain is coming out better than was expected.

A few reports have been received from the valley, some of them of dealers in town. These are necessary of life which every farmer should produce on his farm, and until the farmers do this they cannot expect to become prosperous. With the exception of groceries, the farmer should consequently be at home to his own needs, but many Crook county farmers do not, hence the great drain upon their incomes and upon the wealth of the county.

Chas. Elkins, of Beaver, was in town last Saturday. He says the cattlemen of Beaver have plenty of beef for sale, but at $20 per head to buy it, and besides the beef must be received at Beaver and not driven to Deschutes bridge as in the case of the mountain of J. C. Elkins. If you would combine and demand this price and also that their beef be taken at the ranch, certainly the cattlemen could force buyers to concede to their demands, and would thereby realize several thousand dollars more for their cattle.

Machinery made and repaired at the Lebanon machine shop. We have nothing but the best machinery, it is managed by practical machinists and consequently we can repair steam engines, boilers, saw mills, grist mills, windmills, quartz mills, planing mills, chop mills, mud mills, rock mills, coffee mills, and all kinds of machinery and paint mills. In short we can make or repair anything that has wheels and weathers.

We also keep on hand leather, rubber packing, hemp packing and brass goods. You can take them a skeleton large class of travel. The main part of the machinery and they will put it in running order on short notice.

DORRICK & OSBORN.

Montague must be preparing for a boom, judging by the way he is stocking up his Mammoth and One-Price Cash Stores. By purchasing his goods in such large quantities he naturally gets much lower prices. He guarantees good goods in all the departments of his extensive establishments at prices that absolutely astonish other merchants in the valley, some of them going so far as to say that Montague retails his goods as low as they buy them wholesale. The carded buyer invariably goes to Montague's.

Wood's Wood.

I have a large quantity of wood on hand which will be delivered in any part of town at the following prices: Fir wood, per cord, $2.00; maple, per cord $2.25. Leave orders at Express office. J. R. KIRKPATRICK.

The farmers are very busy now.

AT HENRY'S ALTAR.

Mr. C. D. Montague, son of our well-known merchant, C. B. Montague, and Miss Ella Miller, daughter of Hon. R. C. Miller, were married at the Presbyterian church Wednesday night at 9 o'clock. As the eventful hour drew near the guests and relatives filled the church, the groom's relatives occupying seats to the left, the bride's to the right. Several rows of chairs on either side of the main aisle were filled with friends of the bride and groom who had been invited to witness the ceremony. The church was tastefully decorated, the pulpit was adorned with flowers, and the altar was a beautiful floral arch in which were blended the ivy and other evergreens.

The presence of the bride party was announced by the playing of a beautiful march, and they entered the church with the ushers, Grace Thompson and Louis Marselles leading, followed by Mrs. Gibney and Marcelles, the bride and groom being last in the procession. The happy couple having taken their places under the arch, the officiating clergyman, Rev. W. G. Gibney of Oregon City, made a few prefatory remarks concerning the sacredness of marriage, and then pronounced the nuptial vows. This was followed by a beautiful and impressive, though not elaborate, ceremony, uniting the two young hearts.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding couple repaired to their former home, the cottage on Park street, to receive the congratulations of their friends and to begin life in real earnest. The bride and groom were the recipients of much good wishes from their friends who hope that their conjugal bliss may extend through life, and that the happy lessons may not fade with the changing seasons.

The Paint Mill.

A sample of the paint manufactured at the Oregon Paint Mill, near Lebanon, was left at the Statesman office yesterday, and those who saw it and know what good paint is pronounced it the first class. The paint is especially by Salem men and its development promises to make considerable gains in the paint business. There is no other paint out and the more work it does the better the paint appears. Underlying the paint is a vein of asbestos which will also put in marketable condition. One large paint company has contracted to buy the entire product of the factory, but the owners prefer to make no monopoly of it. One good point for the paint is that it does not wash off, and it is not washed and rubbed shines as if it had been varnished.—Salem Statesman.

Railroad Prospects.

Superintendent C. N. Scott, accompanied by a friend from Denver, Col., was in Seio Saturday and conferred with the citizens concerning the connecting of Seio with the main line of the Oregon Railway. By means of a switch from near West Seio to Seio, says the Press, Mr. Scott thinks that the main line could not be changed in great degree, but that a city without incurring a larger expenditure than would be justified. He further says that the line about one-half longer, and as it is intended to make the Oregonian Railway a great success, the matter could be thought of. A spur switch in time might be extended up the valley some distance and operated independently of the main line, the best that the railway people would be willing to do.

PRINEVILLE PICKINGS.

(From the Oregon Review.)

The mercury thermometer showed a temperature of 98 degrees at noon several days this week, though there was no inconvenience caused from the heat.

Mr. Mattison, the Salem beef buyer, recently bought 55 head of steers in the Mitchell country, and drove them to the mountains to graze this week. Frank Zell accompanied him.

Sheepmen complain that the summer range in the vicinity of Look-but mountain is badly overgrazed, and a large number of Wasco sheep having been driven there to summer. This brings up the old and oft-discussed question of restricting stock to the range in the county where it is owned.

Dr. Belknap was called to Beaver creek last Saturday to tend a little boy named Scott, who died on Sunday, soon after the doctor's arrival. The doctor pronounced the case diphtheria, and says there are several other cases of this dread disease in the Beaver country.

Reports from all parts of the county are that the past few weeks of favorable weather have been very beneficial to growing crops, and everywhere grain is coming out better than was expected.

A few reports have been received from the valley, some of them of dealers in town. These are necessary of life which every farmer should produce on his farm, and until the farmers do this they cannot expect to become prosperous. With the exception of groceries, the farmer should consequently be at home to his own needs, but many Crook county farmers do not, hence the great drain upon their incomes and upon the wealth of the county.

Chas. Elkins, of Beaver, was in town last Saturday. He says the cattlemen of Beaver have plenty of beef for sale, but at $20 per head to buy it, and besides the beef must be received at Beaver and not driven to Deschutes bridge as in the case of the mountain of J. C. Elkins. If you would combine and demand this price and also that their beef be taken at the ranch, certainly the cattlemen could force buyers to concede to their demands, and would thereby realize several thousand dollars more for their cattle.

Machinery made and repaired at the Lebanon machine shop. We have nothing but the best machinery, it is managed by practical machinists and consequently we can repair steam engines, boilers, saw mills, grist mills, windmills, quartz mills, planing mills, chop mills, mud mills, rock mills, coffee mills, and all kinds of machinery and paint mills. In short we can make or repair anything that has wheels and weathers.

We also keep on hand leather, rubber packing, hemp packing and brass goods. You can take them a skeleton large class of travel. The main part of the machinery and they will put it in running order on short notice.

DORRICK & OSBORN.

Montague must be preparing for a boom, judging by the way he is stocking up his Mammoth and One-Price Cash Stores. By purchasing his goods in such large quantities he naturally gets much lower prices. He guarantees good goods in all the departments of his extensive establishments at prices that absolutely astonish other merchants in the valley, some of them going so far as to say that Montague retails his goods as low as they buy them wholesale. The carded buyer invariably goes to Montague's.

Wood's Wood.

I have a large quantity of wood on hand which will be delivered in any part of town at the following prices: Fir wood, per cord, $2.00; maple, per cord $2.25. Leave orders at Express office. J. R. KIRKPATRICK.

The farmers are very busy now.

BROWNVILLE BREEZES.

Good cheap hay is being delivered at 87 per ton.

Mrs. Captain Von Hagen is suffering from the mumps.

Wild blackberries are plenty, and sell at $1 for three gallons.

Miss. Ione Arthur, on Saturday paid Brownsville friends a visit.

Wm. Skiff and family, on Wednesday, returned home to Portland.

W. R. Kirk and Chas. Miller, on Saturday paid Albany a business call.

Miss Maud Bonney, of Mountmouth, is visiting Mrs. Maud Howe, of this place.

Miss Alice Lockwood has for the past week been suffering from an attack of ill health.

Bernie Howe on Saturday left for Vanuina to pass the next two weeks at the sea coast.

Mrs. James Will-on and little son Harry, on Thursday returned home from Corvallis.

Mrs. J. M. Moyer, accompanied by Miss Goldie Moyer, on Tuesday left for Portland friends.

R. N. Thompson and wife on Friday left for Soda-ville, returning home on the following Monday.

Robert Saunders and family and Jas. McHargue and family are camping on the beach at Newport.

Judge D. R. N. Blackburn, who was in town inspecting the new bridge, on Sunday returned home to Albany.

Miss Maud Howe, who for the past three weeks has been absent visiting friends, on Thursday returned home.

Our hop raisers are feeling easy; the crop promises well, and prices are advancing; 17 cents per pound has been refused.

Noah Shanks and family on Wednesday left for Port Townsend, estimated twenty-three miles east of Spokane Falls.

Captain James Blackley, accompanied by his granddaughter, Miss Leda Colley, on Tuesday morning started for Seattle.

Mrs. Rand, daughter of Rev. A. Lee Boy, on Tuesday made home friends a visit, returning to her husband at Hood River.

C. H. Cable and wife, accompanied by Mr. McKinley and wife, are spending a week at the Lower Soda springs on the Santiam.

John Frazen, formerly of Brownsville, on Tuesday left for the Oregonian Railway, at its present location at Astoria.

Messrs. Jarger, Phegley, Stevens and Knapp on Saturday left for the Calapooia trail. This week the number of trailists to fifteen.

Supervisor Evans has about completed a new house. It is quite an addition to his property and presents a very neat appearance.

Did you ever see a mosquito's bill? If not, try one of those 3000 power microscopes at the Statesman and investigate the wonders of nature.

Scott Ward and party, on Friday passed through town bound for the Crook country on a business, fishing, and blackberry foraging tour.

Jack Bilyeu, with a number of friends, during the past week, took a days outing, visiting the logging camp, and catching a fine lot of trout.

At the C. P. church, South Brownsville, the Rev. E. W. Parker held a revival service to a large attendance, on Sabbath last.

Rev. Carpus Sperry, Dr. Tucker and family, of the Dalles, on Tuesday returned from their mountain trip, having visited the Soda springs and luxuriated on trout and wild fruit.

Ballard Tyler, Frank Jack and James Smith on Tuesday morning left for the Soda springs. They will return home on the first of next week.

Mrs. Fidelity McBee and children on Tuesday departed via the Oregonian Railway to Portland, from which place they will proceed to Port Townsend, Wash.