NOT FACIAL BEAUTY ONLY.

The young look for beauty of form; the mature look for beauty of character. In early life we inquire for outward charms; we say this is lovely, and that is grand, simply meaning that in our estimation the outline is perfect, the color is exquisite, or the proportions are noble. By-and-by, however, when we are disciplined and mellowed, we know that there is no satisfaction but in moral excellence alone, and a reluctant distrust of all ephemeral charms begins to affect our estimate of life.

COMMUNICATION NO. 4.

EDITOR LEBANON EXPRESS: I wish in this communication to call the attention of all classes to symptoms and diseases often caused by the habitual use of tobacco. Depression of spirits, melancholy and despondency as a necessary result of over-excitement, great fear of death, irritability and nervousness, loss of memory and dullness of perception. One of the most intelligent teachers of Detroit declared that those young men under his instruction who used tobacco seemed to be much more dull and stupid than those who did not use it.

Dr. J. C. Warren of Boston reports a case of cancerous tongue attributable to the use of tobacco, in which the life of the patient could not be saved by an operation. Everybody knows that General Grant died long before his time with a cancer at the root of his tongue, caused by excessive smoking. It is a sad and common occurrence that marked alterations in the most expressive features. The lips are closed by a circular muscle which completely surrounds them and forms a sort of fullness. Now every muscle of the body is developed in precise ratio with its use, and persons are aware of it.

MORE OF THE CHURCH TROUBLE.

EDITOR LEBANON EXPRESS: In your issue of Aug. 2 I saw an article which I calculated to see Mr. Eber straight. Well, Bro. Fisher, I confess that I need a straightening once in awhile, but in this case you are after the wrong man to straighten me. Now I am not simply speaking to you, but specially to others, who (without a doubt) think that I am a very big dummy, fool, or without stinner, and I feel it my duty to explain myself.

First, I will say that I might have continued to reply to Mrs. McKroy, but her last attempt was not worth an answer. I also might have taken the name of that of a string as H. S. A. and call my friends hard names, but my mouth forbids. But when it is said that I am misrepresenting anything, then you will hear from me. Bro. Fisher tries to figure up the strength of the Eber party, and in a measure predicts what it will be in the future, or, in other words, what the old occasion will be. Don't you know that I care not a straw for all the figures you may produce? His own figures are based upon misrepresentations. Yes, I know how the German organ is putting things and I suppose the Messenger plays the same tune. Misrepresentation O, if I could come up with statements I might write an article long enough to twist a rope sufficient to hang every man, and I guess many of our loyal ones would be glad to see us suspended in that way.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success. So said Butler, the greatest of Novelists, and he never spoke more truly, and he might have added with equal force, that merit is the essence of success. Wisdom's Magazine in this regard is successful, and its history is success. The magical effects of this preparation have been attested by thousands of the leading ladies of society and the stage. It is the only article ever discovered which gives a Natural and Beautiful tint to the complexion, at the same time removing all roughness of the face and arms and leaving the skin soft, smooth and velvety. It has long been the study of chemists to produce an article that while it would beautify the complexion would also have the merit of being harmless, and these two important qualities were never brought together until combined in WISDOM'S ROBERTINE.
