FRIDAY.....NOVEMBER 14, 1890.

EYES AND EARS!

Jas. Matchett is improving his property.

T. C. Peebler added another counter this week.

Abe Loveall commenced work on his dwelling Monday.

Don't read the new ads. in this paper, under penalty.

When in Albany call on F. M. French, the jeweler.

Joe Nixon is enclosing his premises with a nice picket fence.

Mrs. M. Banta was granted a divorce at the last term of court.

The stock of the Variety store has been sold to T. C. Peebler.

Agent Bennett says, "Harrisburg and Lebanon for chickens."

We noticed a new street lamp at a corner near the M. E. church.

John Banta is building a cottage on Vine street near Isabella Park.

The lots on Vine street opposite the M. E. church have been fenced.

The town is at present distressingly healthy, as the doctors would say.

H. C. Moran of Sweet Home shipped some beef cattle to Seattle Tuesday.

Ernest Case purchased three lots in Kirkpatrick's third addition this week.

Parties who paid the West Shore artist for sketching will have their money refunded.

J. D. Walton has conferred a favor on pedestrians by laying a walk along his premises.

Messrs. Smith & Hammack, of Tallman, were shipping both oats and wheat last week.

Kirkpatrick's horticultural garden will be set to trees, shrubbery and flowers by Dec. 1st.

The best and most substantial bedsteads ever sold in Lebanon, at bed-rock prices, at E. Goan's.

The town received a new invoice of street lamps recently. Our town will be well lighted soon.

A. W. Marks has bought half a block in the Wasson addition and will build a house immediately.

The addition of rustic to the M. E. parsonage adds to the appearance and comfort of that building.

Go to E. Goan for window shades, oil paintings, wire beds, wool beds, sofa beds and feather pillows.

A peddler was arrested on our streets Tuesday for vending his wares without a license. He was tried and acquitted.

Judge Miller is the proud possessor of a most beautifully-written letter from his little eight-year-old daughter Bessie.

Rich diggings were struck at Tallman Saturday. In other words, Jim Mulvehill stumbled into a well seven feet deep.

A letter from L. Samuel, of the West Shore, assures us that the sketch of our town will appear about the middle of the month.

Messrs. Garland and Barker have returned from the Santiam mines, and report wonderful preparations for the spring work.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a pie social at the residence of Dr. Courtney this Friday evening. All are invited.

C. C. Hackleman lost his milch cow last week. Charley, we sympathize with you, but there is no use "crying over spilt milk."

Mr. Hamilton, of Sweet Home, tells us that four members of Ad. Nye's family, including himself, are down with typhoid fever.

The demand for brick in Lebanon has outrun the supply this season. Three car loads of brick were shipped into town last week.

Austin Kees cut his hand very badly Monday morning with an ax. He says he lost a piece of flesh about the size of a boarding house steak.

Mr. Bossler, formerly fireman on the Lebanon branch, writes from the East to Abe Loveall of this place, that there is no country like Oregon.

Oregon behaves exceedingly well this fall as regards climate, and every man in the East who contemplates moving is sure to find it out.

We have many, and good reasons for thinking that the building boom in Lebanon next year will eclipse the very creditable record of 1890.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry of F. M. French, Albany, and get chances in the drawing. See list of the presents to be given away.

There are from six to twelve houses under construction constantly, and it has been so since last spring, and yet you cannot find a vacant dwelling.

For sick headache, female troubles, neuralgic pains in the head take Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cents a vial, at Beard & Holt's.

Waterloo springs ceased to flow last week. Should the spring continue dry, it would be a severe blow to G. B. Cross, who runs a hotel and store at this place.

Mr. Whited, formerly of Brownsville, was inquiring for a vacant house Friday. We doubt if he found one; I think your humble servant got what he was after.

The people of Lebanon are decidedly fond of public speaking. Large audiences were in attendance upon both churches as well as the literary society Monday night.

The political cyclone that swept the country last week is the subject of lively discussion in our midst. The Democrats are jubilant and the Republicans are sober.

A great deal of improvement work will be done in East Lebanon this winter, which points to that portion of our corporate limits as the handsomest spot in Lebanon.

We will begin a serial story in the EXPRESS next week. Now is the time to subscribe and get the first chapter of this serial, which we promise you will be good reading.

Are you in love? If so, marry the idol of your affections and then go to Matthews & Washburn's, at Albany, buy a stove or range, raise a large family and be happy.

D. J. Wheeler received a letter from Ed O'Neil recently informing him that his father is sick. Dan is greatly disappointed, as he was expecting his father in Lebanon soon.

We noticed two new freight cars at our depot which belong to the O. R. R. At the present rate of widening the gauge on that line, these cars will soon be needed where they belong.

Fifty dollars was put up on a dog fight last Friday, but the parties betting could not come to any agreement respecting the rules which were to govern the fight and no blood was shed.

"Resolved, that the mortgage tax law should be repealed," will be debated by Lebanon Literary Society on Monday evening, Nov. 24. Affirmative will be opened by F. M. Miller and the negative by M. A. Miller.

A car load of over twenty tons of machinery for the paper mill arrived this week. Work is progressing rapidly and soon will be heard the pleasant sound of its busy machinery at work.

Dr. H. A. Leininger, dentist, of Albany, will be at the St. Charles hotel, Lebanon, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 14 and 15. Painless extracting and gold fillings a specialty. All work warranted.

A large percentage of the buildings erected in Lebanon this fall have been plastered. The latter finish is preferable to either paper or ceiling, and is, perhaps, all things considered, the cheapest finish.

Do you want the earth? If so, call on Matthews & Washburn, Albany, Or., and they will take pleasure in showing you the largest and most complete line of hardware, stoves and ranges in the valley.

For sale or exchange, the Lebanon Steam Planer. Machinery almost new and in good condition. Will sell reasonable for cash or will exchange for good stock farm. Apply to Walton & Wiley, Lebanon, Or.

The crayon portraits on exhibition at the drug stores are works of art. Alma Morris, the artist, is a true genius. Mr. Morris is a native of this county, living at Sweet Home, and never received but one lesson in drawing.

Our better half called rather unexpectedly last week and caught us at some of our clandestine schemes. Of course we promised better behavior, but no amount of coaxing and promising can prevent her moving to Lebanon.

Old people suffer much from disorders of the urinary organs, and are always gratified at the wonderful effects of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm in banishing their troubles. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Beard & Holt.

Chicken Bristle was enlivened by a runaway last week in which the oldest inhabitant lost her front tooth, the roost was depopulated and a fine buggy was transformed into a bicycle that moved gracefully off without a rider only to be lost in a cloud of "Brick Dust."

We are told that there are as many buildings in contemplation right now as have been built the past season. About the first of January we will surprise the people by furnishing in tabulated form the amount of money expended in buildings in Lebanon for the year 1890.

Our streets do not—since the lumber season is about over and the rock hauling has ceased—present the life and bustle of a month ago, but the men engaged in these occupations find employment at something else, so that there is merely a change and not a cessation of business.

All members of the Elite Literary Society of Santiam Academy are requested to meet at the Academy chapel on Friday evening, November 21, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of reorganizing the society for the winter. Let all members come out and take an interest in this work.

We see by the Herald that Albany gets her wood supply from the Santiam, over the O. P. R. R. Lebanon can furnish that city with wood at a cheaper rate than that paid at present, and by the time this stock of fuel is exhausted we can furnish either coal or natural gas if you prefer the latter.

Imperfect digestion and assimilation produce disordered conditions of the system which grow and are confirmed by neglect. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier, by its tonic properties, cures indigestion and gives tone to the stomach. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by Beard & Holt.

The illustration of Lebanon which will appear in the West Shore demands your notice. The short article descriptive of the town which accompanies the picture is so brief and hastily written that it affords a very imperfect idea of Lebanon and but a tithe of our resources. See that your Eastern friends get a copy, imperfect as it is.

Rev. O. B. Whitmore gave us a pleasant call last week. Rev. Whitmore is a high official in the A. O. U. W. and came to Lebanon in the interests of that order. As a result of his visit, this worthy order has received new life and vigor. Fifteen new applicants have been examined by Dr. Booth, the physician of the order, and will be initiated on Thursday, when Rev. Whitmore returns.

Our streets are well kept, but our alleys! Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in Askelon, are hot-beds of malaria and the breeders of diseases which make it unsafe for wagons to stop over night in them lest the timbers be shrunken with fever and the tires shaken off with chills. Let there be a general cleaning up and the people will feel better and the doctor will make fewer calls.

The people of Lebanon now have a good opportunity to attend religious services. The revival at the M. E. church is progressing finely under the preaching of Revs. Boyd and Aldridge. The Cumberland Presbyterian church have also commenced an interesting series of meetings. The town is large enough to furnish good congregations for both churches, as is shown by the large attendance upon both meetings.

We know a successful teacher in our common schools who has introduced the LEBANON EXPRESS into the school room, and is well pleased with the result. That's right; if the parents will not take a paper, see that their children are informed in the every-day history of our country, and in this way the head of the household may gain enough knowledge by absorption, if in no other way, to know when Sunday comes and also the name of the last President of the United States.

Montague must be preparing for a boom, judging by the way he is stocking up his Mammoth and One-Price Cash Stores. By purchasing his goods in such large quantities he naturally gets much lower prices. He guarantees good goods in all the departments of his extensive establishments at prices that absolutely astonish other merchants in the valley, some of them going so far as to say that Montague retails his goods as low as they buy them at wholesale. The careful buyer invariably goes to Montague's.

We could put our finger on a man in Lebanon who last spring planted about three acres of potatoes, cultivated them with his own hands, in the interim of growth and harvesting plied his trade as a mechanic at good wages, and the harvest shows a net profit of $8 50 for every day's work on his crop. And yet there are a few men who will spend whole days in the unprofitable work of ornamenting a goods box with a jackknife, and then when Poverty comes as an armed man their only defense is that Oregon as an agricultural State is a failure. In settling the merits of the country, which of these two men will you believe?

Ten fine and useful presents to be given away—$55 worth—at F. M. French's jewelry store, Albany. Commencing Nov. 1, I will present every one a ticket for each dollar's worth of goods purchased, entitling the holder to a chance to draw one of the following beautiful presents: 1st, large dinner castor, worth $10; 2d, fancy fruit dish, $9; 3d, silver cake basket, $8; 4th, silver cake stand, $7; 5th, set silver knives and forks, $6; 6th, double pickel castor, $5; 7th, silver butter dish, $4; 8th, single pickel castor, $3; 9th, Seth Thomas clock, $2; 10th, silver cup, $1. Drawing to take place New Year's day. The corner jewelry store.

The One-Price Cash Store has become one of the features of Lebanon. As everything is new and fresh, and the prices are so much below that charged in credit-giving establishments, people who desire to buy their goods for cash naturally go to the corner, where they do not have to make up to the "corner keeper" for the non-paying customers who, when they can do so, buy on credit, and who are constitutionally opposed to paying for anything. Get prices at the One-Price Cash Store and if there is any reason in you that is the place where you will purchase your supplies.

The Albany Herald recently said that three car loads of brick had been shipped to Lebanon for the foundation of the paper mill which is to be built next spring. The inference to be drawn from this is that the paper mill is an insignificant building and will be built next year. The fact is the frame is up and rests on a foundation perhaps equal to anything in the State. Brother, you certainly have not been away from home for some time, and about the improvements being made in neighboring towns you don't seem to know just a little.

The literary society had a crowded house last Monday night, and the audience seemed well pleased with the exercises. The musical program was greatly enjoyed, and much interest was shown in the speeches of the debaters, who ably discussed the relative merits of the pulpit and the bar for inspiring eloquence. The question to be debated at the next meeting is, "Resolved, that knowledge exerts a greater influence than wealth." Speakers, on the affirmative, Bernard Marks, M. A. Miller and S. M. Garland; on the negative, Rev. McIlroy, F. M. Miller and S. Wallace.

PERSONALITIES.

W. R. Bilyeu was in town Friday.

Steve Bach went to Salem Saturday.

Jos. Wassom returned from Seattle Tuesday.

John Donaca is spending a few weeks in Seattle.

Miss Nettie Amos is clerking in T. C. Peebler's store.

Isaac Banta and son Guy left Friday morning for California.

M. T. Lindsey of Spicer was in this office inquiring for news lately.

Charley Wilson returned the first of the week from a trip over the mountains.

W. J. Guy and family left last week intending to spend two weeks on the Sound.

Mrs. Stratton of Albany was visiting her sister, Mrs. Cowan, last week, in Lebanon.

Mrs. Hawley, of Pennsylvania, a sister of Mrs. Doud, is visiting at the St. Charles.

C. J. Stuart, soliciting agent for the O. P. R. R., was in town this week in the interest of his road.

Bob Montague was kicked by a horse recently, which interfered with his locomotion to some extent.

James Burtenshaw arrived home yesterday from Southern Oregon, where he has been for several months past.

A. J. Gross, from Washington, was registered at the St. Charles Thursday. Mr. Gross formerly lived near Brownsville.

Miss Emma Bringham, who has been visiting the family of W. H. Reed, returned to her home in Pendleton last week.

Dr. Negus was threatened with typhoid fever lately, but precautionary remedies have warded off the attack thus far.

Ed Carr was caught at a disadvantage Saturday while handling lumber and hurt his spine, disabling him for a few days.

Mr. Barnes, who recently came from Pennsylvania, and who has been working in the Eureka meat market, went to Portland last week.

Prof. J. W. Wilson called Saturday last. Mr. Wilson says his school has more than doubled in numbers since the term began, which speaks well for the teacher.

ACADEMY NOTES.

Miss Hela Gilbert, of Albany, has been secured to teach music at the academy.

A class in book-keeping will probably be started next Monday.

From present indications the Elite Literary Society will soon resume work, much to the satisfaction of the pupils.

Mrs. Skipworth visited the school for a short time Monday. We would be pleased to have more of the patrons and friends to call around and see us.

Several new names were added to the scholars' roll this week, among whom are Bernard Marks, Frank Marks, Melvin Williams, the Messrs. Ross and several others.

Prof. Torbet spares no pains to make the school a success and a pride to our town. Our list is rapidly increasing, and we hope soon to have a membership which an institution like this, with its excellent corps of teachers and other advantages, such as the literary society, the library and cheap tuition, justly merits.

"ACADEMICAL."

Fearful Accident.

The overland train from Portland to San Francisco went through a bridge between Salem and Brooks Wednesday night, causing a frightful wreck, with many killed. The long train, with sleepers, day coaches, mail and express cars, engine and all, piled itself up in an indiscriminate mass. The killed are John McFadden, engineer, "Fin" Neal, fireman, and two unknown men. The deaths will probably reach twelve. But ten escaped uninjured. The doctors from Salem and other points hurried to the scene.

Notice.

I have this day sold my general merchandise business to B. F. Bodwell, who will continue the same at the old stand. All accounts against me should be presented at once for adjustment. All bills due me must be paid at once, otherwise they will be left with an attorney for collection. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage, and bespeaking a continuance of same to my successor, I remain,

Very resp'lly, JOHN G. REED.

Lebanon, Nov. 6, 1890.

A Pointer.

I have concluded to discontinue the general merchandise business in Lebanon, and offer my entire stock at prices that will surprise you. Clothing, gents' furnishing goods, hats, caps, boots and shoes, everything goes. Come in and see and be convinced. Now is a good time to lay in a good supply. And Christmas goods will be sold from now on at prices to suit anyone. Remember the place, Red Front store. B. F. BODWELL.

The Fat Lady

That always looks so pleasant, says go to Matthews & Washburn, Albany, Or., to buy stoves and ranges, because they only keep the best and always do as they agree to.

Three Families Arrested on the Streets

Of Albany, by the magnificent display of hardware, stoves and ranges at Matthews & Washburn's, who carry the largest assortment in the valley.

COMMUNICATED.

LEBANON, Nov. 4, 1890.

EDITOR LEBANON EXPRESS:

Once more I have had the pleasure of mingling with your citizens and receiving that heartfelt hospitality that fairly rivets the bonds of friendship. Many of the old-time friends, with the same genial smile, the hearty handclasp, the warm words of welcome, greet one on every hand. Some I used to know are gone, some here, some there, across our broad domain, and some are in the silent city of the dead forevermore at rest.

Time, ever ceaseless in its flight, leaves changes with us all. The happy school-girl of a few short years ago is happy wife and mother now, and many like myself, who once were young like they, have ceased to pluck the silvery hair from beard and brow, and have settled down resignedly to the undeniable fact that we are growing old. The prattling boy or girl who climbs upon our knee and whispers "Gran'pa" in our ears, confirms the fact and brings to mind the Bible truth: "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun."

The growth of Lebanon is phenomenal, and one cannot be indifferent to the radical changes of the past few months. The comfortable cottages that are being constructed, the new sidewalks and crosswalks, the beautiful new school house, the extensive and expensive paper mill now under course of construction, the different additions that are being platted and added to your beautiful city, speak eloquently for the energy and foresight of her citizens. And yet there are some things that should be remedied without delay.

Constant contact with danger lessens our vigilance and leads to actual indifference and neglect. As the city grows and spreads in all directions it is only a matter of justice to the citizen and tax-payer that adequate protection should be afforded in case of a conflagration. The wealth of a city is the nucleus around which gather the habitations and inhabitants, and as it is life, so it should and does receive the best protection. But while this is right, the citizens should also be remembered on the outskirts and beyond present available facilities. A cistern here and there and ample hose of good quality would inspire many hearts with the fact that they were being cared for.

Another matter that the EXPRESS has paid so much time and attention to, remains unchanged, a shame and disgrace to any place—your cemetery. We love the memory of our dead, for this is all that now remains of what was real. But when one looks upon the weeds, the prostrate monuments, the unkept graves, the rotten enclosures, the thought will come unsummoned to the mind,—gone and forgotten. Here and there we find the evidence of true and loyal love, in kindly acts and sweet mementoes.

Two children lying side by side
Within the silent tomb,
Remind us of their peaceful lives
And a once happy home.
The flowers blooming on the grave
Kept with such tender care,
Remind us of a loving heart
That feels sweet memories there.
These memories wield an influence
That reach the inner life
And make us better day by day,
No matter what the strife.

The caring for the resting place of the dear departed is usually spasmodic.

"'Tis true, 'tis pity,
And pity 'tis, 'tis true."

For were we brought into closer and more frequent contact with the reel, that brings to mind associations and friendships of the past, our hearts would be more tender, our sympathies more easily excited, our homes far happier, our influence for good more expanded.

'Tis not for me to dictate nor suggest how to make the radical change that should be commenced in this direction, but as I stood within the gate to-day and noticed everywhere the signs of neglect and decay, I thought how pleasing it would be were each road rounded up and gravelled, the walks the same, the weeds and fern grubbed out, the stones all nicely cleaned, and all appearances of decay removed.

Let flowers bloom on every hand,
Where noxious weeds now infest the air,
Perennial with their sweet perfume,
Blending fragrance everywhere;
Immortelles, blooming at each grave,
Convey sweet messages of love
To those, more fortunate than we,
In mansions prepared, up above.

Road to the Mines.

Considerable interest is centred just now in a trail from the wagon road above Sweet Home to the Quartzville mines on the Santiam. There was at one time a trail over this route, but having been travelled but little of late years, fallen timber and a rank undergrowth have blocked the way to some extent. The citizens of Sweet Home and vicinity show a willingness to cooperate with interested parties at this and other points along the route and re-open the way. The mines are distant from Lebanon about fifty miles, one-half of which distance is already traversed by a good wagon road. This seems to be the most practicable route to the mines, and a good road up the South Santiam would shorten the distance and tend to divert the travel from the northern route and would benefit the farmer, the miner and the merchant. We hope our people will consider it to their interest to second any endeavor to shorten transportation and benefit all classes alike.

THE QUARTZVILLE MINES.

A few hours' ride on the O. P. R. R. up the North Fork of the Santiam brought us to Gatesville, the nearest accessible point to the mines. After a good night's rest and a hearty breakfast with Landlord Gates, the question to be decided was whether we would walk the long trail of twenty miles up and down the steep mountain, or trust our corporeal treasure to the sierra-like back of one of the descendants of Balaam's loquacious companion. A hasty inspection of this forbidding-looking beast caused us to decide to tramp it.

Like the boy that had had his fill of plum pudding, we thought we would never more be hungry. So on we started without providing for the possible needs of the inner man. Miles of steep hills were manfully overcome when finally the aforesaid inner man became the most important and self-asserting part of two lone tramps. But a few raw potatoes, found at a deserted camp, and some frost-bitten huckleberries, gathered along the roadside, were all that we had to satisfy the pangs of hunger. Finally, when we began to think that our stomachs extended from the crown of our heads to the soles of our feet, we reached the friendly shelter of a mining camp, where wholesome food and sweet sleep restored us to our original vigor.

Quartzville is an old mining camp where broken bits of mining machinery mournfully suggested its former activity. Further up the gulch, the Albany company has erected a new mill, built a stout tramway up the mountain side, run long tunnels and sunken deep shafts. An abundance of rich rock has been brought to the surface, from some of which has been milled a brick of gold of the value of $180. Much anxiety preceded the first day's crushing, and great satisfaction followed the encouraging yield. The miners are jubilant, and they have good cause for their jubilee, for the result of their laudatory labors proves that great wealth awaits them. Their mining stock has been withdrawn from the market and they intend to hold to the last share, so confident are they of the wealth of the mines. This company owns but a small part of the mines in this district. Other companies and individual miners have even richer ledges, which will soon be developed. Next spring the district will be full of miners and mining machinery, and the old activity of Quartzville will be revived. It is not improbable that in the spring a railroad will go up the Santiam divide to these mines, and Lebanon should secure its western terminus. These mines have been ridiculed for many years, but recent results prove beyond doubt the wealth of gold that will soon be taken from these rugged hillsides. G. B.

HAMILTON CREEK ITEMS.

NOVEMBER 10, 1890.

Roads are very muddy in this valley.

Big dance at Sheppard's Tuesday night.

Three inches of snow fell at Bald Peter last week.

John Wirt sold his White Cloud, so he has to walk now.

There is not a man on the creek but that is busy at work.

There is not much news up here. We are always glad to receive the EXPRESS.

Jennings & Co. have shut down their mill, but Lebanon can get all the lumber she wants from Daddy Fry, who will start sawing soon.

Log-rolling at Andy Jennings Saturday. Everybody is invited to come. Uncle Charley Williams will have a log-rolling Thursday week. He says he will have a barrel of good cider. Come everybody.

J. B. Wirt came very near committing suicide. A big buck jumped into the mill pond and J. B. got his revolver and commenced firing at it. In the excitement he fired too quick and just missed his fingers, and the powder burned his hand. J. B. says he can't account for the accident.

Log-rolling is all the go. Mr. Johnson had a log-rolling the other day, also Bishop & Story. Mr. Sheppard rolled logs last Saturday. There were thirty men to help him, and they piled about five acres of logs. This is the way to clear this land. Hamilton Creek has some good, "skookum" young men. But, boys, a little too much cider. ONE OF THE BOYS.

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week, we hereby guarantee Dr. Acker's English Cough Remedy, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct. M. A. MILLER.

A Great Liver Medicine.

Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills are a sure cure for sick headache, bilious complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, torpid liver, etc. These pills insure perfect digestion, correct the liver and stomach, regulate the bowels, purify and enrich the blood and make the skin clear. They also produce a good appetite, and invigorate and strengthen the entire system by their tonic action. Sold at 25 cents a box by M. A. Miller.

TAKE IT QUICK..

Were we to advertise that we would present a silver quarter to every customer, our store would be unable to hold the people that would crowd to our store.

But That's What We Do.

We might just as well charge the same prices as other merchants charge and then present each customer 10 per cent. of each sale, for our prices run at least that much lower; so while we don't take their money first and then give it back, we save it for them, and it's

Just as Good as a Present.

Please remember this when you feel that you want to find a quarter. Hackleman's is the quarter in which to find quarters.

Don't forget those All-Wool Suits from the Thos. Kay Woolen Mill Co. of Salem, Oregon, the best value in Clothing in the market. Come, let us build up home industries.
