The decision of Judge Boise, that the railroad companies cannot remove the cases brought against them by the railroad commissioners, is one that will meet with the hearty approval of the people, as it deserves to. The state courts are quite competent to decide these cases.

Cigar manufacturers are preparing to form a trust with a capital of $25,000,000. The increased duty imposed by the McKinley law aids them in doing this. But an increase in the price of cigars is not so important as the increase of the cost of things more necessary.

John J. Taylor, Streator, Ill., once wrote 4100 words on the blank side of a postal card without official aid. The words on that single card, if printed in regular newspaper type, would fill two and three-quarter columns of any of the great metropolitan dailies.

Storms have been raging in Northern Wales, off the English channel and at Nova Scotia, which have resulted in great destruction of property and considerable loss of life. We read about these storms and commiserate the poor wretches who are the victims of the warring elements; but those who have always lived in this part of Oregon can scarcely appreciate the horror of these terrific gales.

A number of gentlemen are in various parts of the world amusing themselves by trying to invent an airship. One of these is a Berkeley, Cal., man who has constructed a model for a machine that he is sure will soar through the air like a bird. He will probably be disappointed, but when one thinks of the wonders unfolded during the last half a century it is not safe to say that aerial navigation is an impossibility.

The Tacoma papers are weeping and wailing because Portland did not patronize the exposition they had up there. The Tacoma people should remember that we had an exposition at home that was worth patronizing. Beside, Tacoma is such an out-of-the-way place nobody had time to hunt it up. Portland is charitably inclined toward all of its weak sisters - but towns like Tacoma learn to live without the charity of its big sister. - Evening Telegram.

The news comes from Pendleton that a clever swindler has lately been operating in that city. Some time since a man giving his name as H. H. Downs, and representing himself as an agent for the World's Fair Publishing Company, was there soliciting advertisements for a book, descriptive of Oregon and Pendleton merchants. Several of the latter furnished photos of their buildings, and $15 in advance to cover the expense of having the cuts made. A telegram received from the manager of the company, however, denounced this man as an impostor, and offered to subscribe $25 to help prosecute him, but unfortunately he had disappeared.
