Fracturing with the knot, used in surgery. Gargling, a punishment originally derived by the Arabs and Moors. The guillotine, bar-kart, impalement, poisoning, branding, pounding in a mortar, precipitation, pressing to death, thrack, running the gauntlet, shooting, stabbing, stoning, strangling and suffocation.

It will be readily seen by the observant reader that any one of these methods might be improved upon so far as the physical comfort of the victim is concerned. In countries where these modes of punishment were and in some cases are now practiced, the main object was to give the prisoner as much suffering as possible. He was held up as a terrible example. Now, however, the main object is to get the prisoner out of the way as soon as possible. In order to understand how quick a man can die under the force of electricity, let us consider first how fast a man can think. Well, it takes just one-tenth of a second for a nerve to communicate with the brain, according to Professor Hertz. Now Professor Tyndall estimates that an electric discharge occurs in one hundred thousandths of a second, or ten thousand times more rapidly than nerve transmission. So you see that if it were possible a man would die before his nerves could have time to communicate with his brain.

Last winter, for the purpose of ascertaining the effect of the electric light current on the action of the heart, the thorax of a chloroformed dog caught in Buffalo was opened, so that the lungs and heart could be seen in action by forcing respiration as is common life. At the instant when the current passed through the heart it became a mass of quivering flesh. It was noticed that an attempt to breathe was made after the current was passed through the dog. This indicated that the brain had not lost its susceptibility to impressions, and shows that in execution the current should be passed through the center. It should not be forgotten, however, that the dog was from Buffalo. The commission could have selected no tougher subject than a Buffalo dog. There can be no question, however, that electricity is the thing to do the business.

HE LET HIMSELF DROP.

A Terrific Story of a Very Strange Accident.

Here is a large and elegant story told in a Lowery, Blount county, Ala., dispatch to The Huntsville Mercury. You are not obliged to believe it unless you want to:

A party of Birmingham capitalists, largely interested in the minerals of the region, and some prominent railroad officials were best on a tour of inspection, with the view of opening some beds of iron ore and selecting the most practicable route for the extension of the new railway that leads up this valley.

This, indeed, seems to have been the true battle ground of the gods, with "Pelias piled upon Ossa," or the utter confusion of the geologists, who cannot account for red iron ore in one side of a mountain and brown on the other, with veins of coal immediately underlying the top on both sides, so it was determined to leave them out of the party and carry along a practical man familiar with the formations peculiar to this valley for all geological information necessary in making an approximate estimate of the amount of solid and loose rock to be encountered on the extension. Accordingly an old foreman, Mr. Merz, who had been in the valley on the new road since April, and had also had large experience in railroading in the west, was selected. He was an intelligent, sober and industrious man, who regularly once a month sent the greater part of his earnings to his wife and children in Kansas. He gave his opinions only after the most careful examinations, and the gentlemen had implicit confidence as to their accuracy.

The party reached a perpendicular bluff about fifteen feet high, when Mr. Merz climbed down to a ledge about six feet from the top, and with his hammer was investigating the character of the stones and its probable thickness. The gentlemen above heard several blows from his hammer, then apparently a quantity of loose rocks falling, and immediately a terrific explosion. They were all considerably shocked, but not otherwise hurt, and at once went to the edge of the precipice, where they detected the strong odor of dynamite, but to their consternation could see nothing of Mr. Merz. After a careful search some small pieces of his clothing were found hanging in a tree about thirty feet from the ground, but that was all. The question for the scientists to settle is, what caused the explosion? A number of people from Birmingham have visited the place, but I have heard only one plausible theory, and that was advanced by Mr. Schultz, a scientist. It is known positively that Mr. Merz had no dynamite with him, and Mr. Schultz says the only possible way to account for the explosion is that he had constantly, for a number of years, been handling dynamite and nitro-glycerine, and that so much had been taken into his system by absorption that it was only necessary for him to receive a slight jar to set it off, which was done when he struck the ground on falling from the ledge.

Whether his story is true or not I can't say, but give the facts as they happened, and they can be substantiated by a number of citizens in this vicinity and Birmingham.

Thought He Was in "Lennon."

"Boy, poole, me boy, where am I?" asked a well dressed, middle aged man with a decided English accent, of Officer Ripple A. Broadway and Thirtieth street last night.

He appeared to be dazed, as if recovering from long sleep.

"You are in New York," replied the policeman.

"That can't be, yer know," said the stranger. "I'm in London, and I want to go home, bobby."

The officer took the Englishman around to the Thirtieth street police station, where he told a strange story.

"My name is Henry Johnson," he said, "and I am 37 years old. The last thing I remember previous to accosting the officer was walking down Chapsdale, in London, it seems only a few hours ago. I have no recollection of crossing the ocean, and I know no one in America."

Upon Mr. Johnson's person was found a letter dated London, Oct. 18, and addressed to "Henry Johnson, No. 45 Eastway Terrace, Flambury Park, London."

It was from a lady and advised "Dear Henry" to stop drinking. Mr. Johnson grew nervous and ill in the station, and he was sent to Roosevelt's hospital. Capt. Kelly does not know what to think of his queer prisoner, whose strange story seems to be corroborated by his actions.—New York Evening Journal.

EXPLANATION.—The following picture contains four faces, a man and his three daughters. Any one can find the man's face, but it is not so easy to distinguish the faces of the three young ladies. The picture was published in a few newspapers some time ago, and attracted considerable attention to our standard remedy. We now offer a new prize competition in connection with it. As the sole object is to introduce our medicine into new homes, those who entered the former competition are requested not to compete in this one. As to the reliability of "The Ford Pill Co.," and the estimation in which their medicines are held in Toronto, Canada, where they are best known, patrons are referred to the daily newspapers, wholesale druggists and leading business houses generally at Toronto.

The proprietors of "The Ford Pill Co." will give an elegant pair of Shetland Ponies, Carriage and Harness, valued at $500, (delivered free in any part of the United States, to the first person who can make out the three daughters' faces. To the second will be given an elegant Lady's Cold Watch, set in sapphires and diamonds. To the third will be given a pair of gemstone Diamond Ear-rings. To the fourth will be given a handsome China Dinner Service. To the fifth will be given a Kodak Camera. To the sixth, a Swiss Dinner Plate. To the seventh, a French Mantel Clock. To the eighth, an elegant Banquet Table. To the ninth, a pair of Crown Derby Vases. To the tenth, a complete Lauren's Penicillin set, and many other prizes in order of merit. Every competitor must cut out the above "Prize Picture," distinguish the three girls' faces by marking a cross with a lead pencil on each, and enclose same with 15 U. S. two-cent stamps for one of the following "Prize Remedies":—"Ford's Prize Pills," "Ford's Prize Catarrh Remedy," or "Ford's Prize Cough Cure." Select any one of the above remedies you desire. Address "The Ford Pill Co.," Cor. Wellington & Bay Sts., Toronto, Canada. The person whose envelope is postmarked first will be awarded the first prize, and the others in order of merit. As this advertisement appears simultaneously throughout the United States, every one has an equal opportunity. To the person sending the last correct answer will be given an elegant Upright Concert Grand Piano, valued at $500.00. To the first person from the last sending a correct answer will be given a gentleman's fine Gold "Bantley's" Watch, which retails the home and quarter hours on small cathedral gong at pleasure, and valued at $300.00. To the second from the last, a first-class Safety Bicycle, pneumatic tires. To the third from the last, a first-class English Shotgun. To the fourth from the last, a pair of Parlor Furniture. To the fifth from the last, a handsome Silver Tea Service. To the sixth from the last, an elegant Plano Lenses. To the seventh from the last, a handsome pair of Perfumes. To the eighth from the last, a genuine English leather travelling Trunk. To the ninth from the last, two pieces of genuine French Hosiery, and many other prizes in order of merit.

SPECIAL PRIZES FOR EACH STATE.
 A special prize of a Slit Dress Pattern (sixteen yards, any color) or a first-class sewing Machine (any make desired) will be given to the first person in each State in the U. S. who can make out the three daughters' faces. We shall give 500 valuable prizes, besides special prizes, (if there should be so many sending correct answers.) No charge is made for buying and posting of prizes. The names of the leading prize winners will be published in connection with our advertisement in leading newspapers next month. Extra permission will be given to any one who are willing to enter in introducing our medicine. Nothing is charged for the prizes in any way. They are absolutely given away gratuitously and without "Ford's Prize Remedies," which are standard medicines, and will be used in every family for years where they have been once introduced. All prizes will be awarded strictly in order of merit, and with perfect satisfaction to the public. The remedies will be sent by mail, postpaid, and prices free of duty.

A WATCH FOR EVERY CORRECT ANSWER.
 An extra premium of a genuine "Bantley's" Watch. (seen under) will be awarded to every person who sends a correct answer within 30 days after this advertisement appears, in case they should not be fortunate enough to secure one of the larger prizes. That is, if any one can find the three faces and enclose their prizes 30 days from the time this advertisement appears in the newspaper, they are guaranteed either one of the leading prizes, or an extra premium of a watch on conditions stated. No money will be required that does not contain so much for one of Ford's Prize Remedies.
 Address THE FORD PILL CO., "57," Cor. Wellington & Bay Sts., Toronto, Canada.
