Academy Notes.

Birthington's Washday was celebrated by a holiday.

Those who attended the teachers' examination, from the Academy, now wear a smile of satisfaction.

Most of the Academyites visited the Public School on last Wednesday.

The Literary Society was postponed last Friday, on account of the drama by the S. of V.

The Literary Society will not be public this week, although it is the last meeting in the month, as the programme for that evening was not prepared for public night.

The boys are filling up the sewer ditch, which runs through the yard, preparatory to making a baseball ground.

Ray Jackson, a former student of the Academy, called at the Academy one evening this week. Mr. J. is now studying medicine at the Willamette University in Portland, and we presume he will soon have the "Dr." attached to his name.

A Difference of Opinion.

Everybody is in debt, farm products will not bring the cost of production, roads impassible, hundreds of men in enforced idleness, hundreds of families can hardly procure the necessities, without any of the comforts of life, but these are trifles. The people are suffering from an "efficient" militia!—Advance.

The writer of the above is surely the most unmitigated prevaricator that ever perpetrated himself on any community or any state. Those looking for the biggest liar for the least money just correspond with the editorial writer of the "Lebanon Advance," the author of the above.—Stayton Times.

Thos. A. Edison on Thursday completed arrangements to show his latest invention, the kinetograph, at the world's fair. The kinetograph is a remarkable device, but it is not very useful. It is an instrument by which every gesture of a speaker may be photographed and at the same time every word he utters is recorded on the cylinder of a phonograph. The two devices are then connected, the photographing apparatus and the phonograph. By throwing the photograph on a screen and starting the talking machine the words and gestures of any speaker can be reproduced. The effect produced is that the figure on the screen is doing the talking. The deception is said to be very clever.—New Orleans Times.

J. S. Talbot and C. F. Wheeler are in this city from Independence in the interest of a new line of railroad that is proposed to be built from Independence to Salem. The original idea was to build the road via Dallas, but the gentlemen say that the Dallas business men took so little interest in their scheme that they now propose to build from Independence to Salem direct. These gentlemen represent $75,000 that stands ready to go into the investment and they will ask a like amount from Salem. They want to put in a first-class standard gauge road to cost $150,000. The idea is to extend the line eventually up the Luckiamute to Falls City. Messrs. Talbot and Wheeler will spend several days in this city among the business men and property owners in the interest of the proposed line.—Salem Statesman.

The Church of Christ meets in the Academy for regular services every Lord's Day in the morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

Ed Kellenberger has bought 40 acres of land of John Cave.

Miss Julia Kirk and Mrs Blanchard, of Brownsville, were the guests of B. E. Kirk and wife this week.

On the 3rd of March the young people of the Presbyterian church will give a concert and social. The principal feature of the evening will be caudy pulling, bon bon caps and an other refreshment very much liked by all social goers. The program will be somewhat as follows: Two choruses by the Lebanon Choral Union, two choruses by the R. E. M. D. N. L. Society, recitation and reading, Rev. Edward Eccleston; solo Miss Nona Miller, and other parts still to be arranged.
COMMITTEE.

The Union Scout in its county court proceedings has the following: Bids were then opened on keeping county poor farm for one year, and contract was let to Egbert Coffinberry at $3.75 per week for each pauper, the contractor to have the use of the poor farm and the county to furnish the necessary clothing and medical assistance for the paupers, the contractor to furnish all necessary care and attention to the sick.

The ladies of the Relief Corps gave a very enjoyable social at the G. A. R. Hall Wednesday evening, celebrating Washington's Birthday. The Choral Society furnished excellent music. Prof. Gandle made the opening remarks. Miss Madge Marks recited in a very good manner "Grand Mother Lee." F. M. Miller spoke on the character of Washington. But the crowning was a song, Washington, by four little boys and their hatches. After the literary program refreshments were served. The ladies of the corps were in Martha Washington attire, and a general good time was had by all. The Relief Corps desire to return their thanks too all who so kindly assisted them, especially the Choral Society.

Sheridan's bill to protect Mongolian pheasant provides a penalty of $50 to $100 fine for killing the birds or having them in possession during the close season, and in default of payment the offender must serve a day in the county jail for every $2 of the fine. Half the fines collected go to the informer and half to the county. The bill also provides that the birds shall not be taken or killed in the counties of Douglas, Coos, Curry, Jackson or Josephine for a period of three years. The reason for this provision is that the birds have not yet obtained a foothold in these counties.

Mr. Albert Favorite, of Arkansas City, Kan., wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. He says: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs, and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I never would get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had entirely left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others, and all speak well of it." 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller.

Washington's Birthday was appropriately observed by the students of the public school. All the students, about two hundred in number, were assembled in the two upper rooms which were thrown together by means of folding doors. Quite a number of the friends and patrons of the school were present, who with the students filled the rooms almost to the brim. The exercises began at nine o'clock, and consisted of declamations, essays, songs, dialogues etc., all of which were appropriate to the occasion, also interesting and entertaining. All of the teachers who had the matter in charge deserve much credit for the success of the exercises. Some of the recitations are deserving of special mention and display much elocutionary ability.
