MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

Morgan Wasson's Trial Set for April 24, at a Special Term.

Morgan Wasson was taken into the court room last Thursday evening and the indictment charging him with murder in the first degree was read to him by district attorney McClain. Mr. Wasson's face assumed a deadly pallor and during the reading he kept his eyes upon the floor. He talked some time with his father and attorneys before being taken back to jail. He was brought back in on Friday morning and plead not guilty.

An application for a continuance was made, a showing being made that an important witness by the name of E. Milbredt, who is now in Independence, Kansas, will swear that Grubb threatened to kill the defendant. After the argument of the motion to continue, the case was set for trial at 1 o'clock on April 24, at a special term to be called for that purpose.

Wasson has been real sick since he has been confined, and is looking pale and nervous.

Grand Jury's Report.

The grand jury for the March term of circuit court has concluded its business and made the following report: To the Honorable Judge of the Circuit Court of Linn County, Oregon:

We, the grand jury for the March term of the circuit court of 1893, have, as required by law, examined the different county buildings and the offices therein, including the jail and outbuildings. We find each of the county officers have their offices in good condition and the books neat and clean. We find the sanitary condition of the county jail is poor, and recommend that the wooden structure be removed and the north corridor be provided with a sink and portable bath tub. There being no further business before us we respectfully ask to be dismissed.

WILLIAM PORTMILLER,
G. W. GEISENDORFER,
W. T. COCHRAN,
J. M. ARCHIBALD,
L. A. CHURCHILL,
WM. IRELAND,
J. M. HASSLER.

Last Sunday constable Morgan and R. Tivey went up in the neighborhood of Waterloo and vicinity where John Lovell was murdered, to see what evidence could be found in regard to the murder case. After gathering all that could be found they came to the conclusion that the evidence was sufficient for the arrest of Wm. Vall. They arrested him and brought him to town on Monday morning, and telegraphed for Deputy Prosecuting Atty. Wyatt who came out on the evening train. After Atty. Wyatt examined all of the witnesses and gathered all the evidence that was at hand, he moved that the prisoner be dismissed, stating at the same time that the evidence was sufficient for arrest, but didn't think it was enough to hold him. While the Express thinks every effort to bring the guilty man who committed this awful crime to justice is commendable indeed, we think one should be doubly sure that they have the right man before any arrests should be made.

Abbott will deliver an address. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular meeting last Tuesday evening. The roll was called and all the members were present.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

The committee on accounts and current expenses reported favorable, and by motion a warrant was ordered drawn on the treasurer for the different bills.

On motion of G. W. Cruson the city officers were instructed to enforce all the city ordinances on pain of dismissal.

The committee on streets and public property were ordered to look after the sidewalks and crosswalks and see that they are cleaned off, and also to have walks built where they have been ordered by the city.

The committee on license was ordered to notify the saloon keepers and also their bondsmen that any violation of their bonds will be prosecuted.

Council then adjourned to meet Wednesday evening.

Atty. A. F. Stowe and J. C. Mayer got into a little spat last Monday night on the street in front of Guy & Mayer's saloon which resulted in the city treasury being replenished to the amount of about $40, and Atty. Stowe wearing a pair of black eyes for a few days.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will give a dime social at the residence of J. J. Swan's, Monday evening, March 27. A bountiful repast will be served and every one is expected to have a good time.

The strongest recommendation that any article can have is the endorsement of the mothers of the town. When the mothers recommend it you may know that the article has more than ordinary merit. Here is what the Centerville, South Dakota Citizen says editorially of an article sold in their town: "From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our children. We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day." 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller.

Last Thursday evening Chief of Police McFeron arrested a smooth-faced young man about nineteen years of age who had been endeavoring to swindle the people of the Third ward. He presented a ring which he claimed to be a valuable family ring and asked for $5 or even $2 on it to help him out, as he was out of money. He found at least one victim. The rings are worthless. When arrested he had $16 in money on him and two tobacco bags full of rings. On being fined he said he would serve his sentence, but Friday forenoon weakened, paid $4.50 the fine and costs less two days imprisonment, and was given a ticket to Millers and shipped for that place with $11 50 in money and his stack of rings. He gave the names of Jim Johnson and Sam Carter. The boy is on the road to the penitentiary where he will land in due time according to the present indications.—Democrat.

Willie Booth received a coin souvenir this week, which was offered as a third prize in a contest for the best answer, "How to increase the sale of the Blade and Ledger in your town." Out of 1500 competitors he came out third best. Good for you, Willie.

There was some fine drawing last week in the show windows in the different stores. It was done by the pupils of Prof. Michener's room. It was the different states of the Union, drawn on putty. The work was pretty and artistic and the pupils deserve much credit for the work.

California's state capital is in danger of migrating. A resolution passed both branches of the legislature to submit to the people a constitutional amendment to remove the capital from Sacramento to San Jose, provided the latter city shall donate ten acres of land to the state and contribute $1,000,000 for building purposes.

A small bad boy crawled under the bed in a house out in Harrison when his mother wanted to punish him. She couldn't get him out and left him there until his father returned from the city. When the father came and was told about the case he started to reach under the bed and yank out his disobedient son, whereupon the small bad boy said: "Hello, pap; is she after you too?"

One postmaster that is likely to hang on is Roswell Beardley, who was appointed during John Quincy Adams' administration (1828) to the post-office at North Lansing, and who has held it since without interruption, a period of sixty-five years. He only got $19.53 for his first year, but he enjoys an increase of nearly 900 per cent. at present. His salary is now $170 a year.

Two years ago the legislature passed a bill which practically prohibited the people of the main part of Southern Oregon from fishing. At the late session an attempt was made to remedy this estate of affairs but it seems as if the Portland fish commissioner would succeed in defeating the plain intent of the law. Portland sportsmen have, also, succeeded in getting the game laws so amended that no hunting for grouse or wild fowl of any kind is legal except at the time when they are able to take their annual vacation, the very time we do not care to hunt. An Oregonian who lives outside of Portland isn't very much anyway.—Roseburg Review.

The voting contest for the "most popular people" was closed last Saturday night, at C. C. Hackleman's, and on counting the ballots C. B. Montague, Mrs. F. M. Miller, Miss Adelle Simpson and Jack Ralston, were found to be the most popular people in town, and were duly given the prizes. In another column will be found the number of votes each received.

Visitors to the world's fair will be compelled to walk over miles of territory in order to gain the faintest idea of the exhibits. Persons entering the manufactures hall, walking at the rate of four miles and hour and ten hours a day, would have to walk seven days in order to go through the aisles. If three minutes were spent at each exhibit it would take twenty-one years and three months to go through that building alone. This building covers 40 1/2 acres of ground.
