An Inhuman Father.

The Guard says: A rather unique case came up for hearing in Com missioners' court yesterday afternoon. Frank Weaver, a lad not sixteen years old and rather under size, applied for assistance. He made the statement that his father had driven him from home and the whole family were about to go to Nebraska and leave him here. Not being able to find steady employment at work he could do, he applied to the court for protection. The father, "Dr." Philip Weaver, was sent for and made some excuses and unfeeling statements regarding the boy, claiming that he was unmanageable, and admitted having turned him out and his intention of leaving him here alone among practical strangers. This man draws a pension and during the past winter has received some assistance from the county, but this was cut off some time since, the result of some investigation made by the court. The boy made some statements, which were corroborated by the man's talk and actions himself, to the effect that the little money he earned had been taken by his father and spent in other ways than for the support of the family. The lad is tender hearted, does not look at all vicious and appearance, although thinly clad, made a much better impression upon the court and others present than that of the father comfortably clothed and as healthy as he looked. The court will endeavor to find a home and work for the boy if left here alone, but the action of the father is denounced as unfeeling and inhuman.

Newspaper Law.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.
2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect to or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed they are held responsible till they have settled their bill and ordered their paper discontinued.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former direction they are held responsible.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for is "prima facie" evidence of intentional fraud.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and at last resort we gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. Knudson & Co., Kensington, Minn. 50 cent bottles sale by M. A. Miller.

Tom Tower, a 12 year old boy, living at Holbrook, in Clackamas county, had a terrible fight with a panther, resulting in the death of the panther and the probable death of the boy. Young Tower fought with a knife. Being alone, and too weak when found to talk, the particulars are not known. The panther was found about 200 yards from him. The boy deserves to live.

Last evening "Dick" Fox, an old resident of Albany was stricken with congestion of the brain at his home on Frist street. He resides alone, and was found in a critical condition, being entirely out of his head. The case is one liable to prove fatal, though there is a possibility of his recovery.—Democrat.

On Sunday the steamer Hoag made a trip to Harrisburg, and when about ten miles below that city, in approaching the bank to take on board the fireman of the snag boat Corvallis, the steamer hit the roots of an old decayed tree, loosening them so it fell upon the boat. It caught one of the deck hands, John Brown, knocking him insensible and breaking one leg and giving him injuries that it is feared may prove fatal. He was taken to a Portland hospital on the morning train from Harrisburg. Postmaster Monteth, of this city, was on the steamer at the time of the accident.—Herald.

Persons who are subject to attacks of bilious colic can almost invariably tell, by their fellings, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off disease. Each person should always keep the Remedy at hand, ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses of it at the right time will save them much trouble. For sale by M. A. Miller.
