The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency reports thirteen failures in the Pacific Coast States and Territories for the past week, as compared with fifteen for the previous week and fifteen for the corresponding week of 1892.

Eleven Denver young men danced seventeen hours and thirty minutes, and only stopped when the Humane Society and the police interfered. The men were allowed six lady partners apiece, who relieved each other at stated intervals. The prize contested for was a $300 medal.

A petition is to be forwarded to Ottawa from the white fishermen of the Fraser river in British Columbia protesting against the present law, which enables the Japs and Aleuts to get naturalized and then procure fishing licenses. The Asiatics are taking the oath of allegiance by the score.

The boys in the State Reform School near Salem are kept at work clearing land. About ten acres will be cleared for the plow this season, making a little more than 100 tillable of the total estate of 377 acres. The school uses between 400 and 500 cords of wood a year, and the cutting of it removes most of the timber from the tracts to be cleared.

Health Officer Keeney and Dr. Rezenburger of the San Francisco Board of Health have sent to the pesthouse Robert Jackson, a 41-year-old cook, whom they decided was a full-fledged leper. Jackson said he was a native of England, and that he had been in Honolulu for some time. Then he went to Victoria, and three months ago came to San Francisco. He thought he was only suffering from a slight skin disease.

The result of the investigation by the government inspectors of the recent collision between the steamers State of California and Whitesboro is made public. The inspectors find that Captain Liebig of the Whitesboro went below on the night of the accident, leaving the second mate, an unlicensed officer, in charge, and it was due to his want of knowledge that the collision took place. Captain Liebig is found culpable for having placed such an officer in charge, and his license as a master and pilot is suspended for thirty days. Captain Ackley of the State of California is exonerated from all blame.

David Starr Jordan has resigned the Presidency of the Leland Stanford (Jr.) University. The resignation is said to have been made to Senator Stanford personally and supplemented by a written communication, which the founder of the institution has accepted. It is understood that at the end of the scholastic year President Jordan's connection with the college will cease. The reason given for the resignation is that Senator Stanford has for some time been rather dissatisfied with the manner in which Jordan has managed the university affairs. When he returned from abroad six weeks ago he summoned the President to a conference at his Palo Alto residence. He indicated the changes he desired, but Jordan resented the Senatorial interference with the ultimate result as stated.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

At the entrance of the Colorado building at the World's Fair is a flagstone of red sandstone 25x8 feet and ten inches thick.

It is reported that Count Tolstol intends to visit the World's Fair and bring over with him a party of young Russian nobles, who are to investigate American agricultural methods and the systems of irrigation in use in the West.

A number of foreign commissioners who, when dissatisfied with the awards plan, withdrew their exhibits from competition have announced they have restored them as the result of the settlement of the much-discussed question.

Henry C. Ives, head of the art department of the World's Fair, has had a cloth placed over Anderson's picture of "Woman Taken in Adultery," which the committee had refused permission to exhibit, but which the French exhibitors gave representation to in their collection of pictures.

Herr Wernith, the Imperial German Commissioner, said the other day, referring to the report in late dispatches that Emperor William had finally decided to come to the fair, that he had no official advice to that effect, but would not be surprised if it came to pass, as the Emperor was a great traveler and had taken a deep interest in the fair.

The formal opening of the electricity building, which has been so long deferred, took place one night last week. The feature of the display was the unveiling and lighting of the big Edison tower erected by the General Electric Company. This shaft is situated in the exact center of the building, and represents the highest achievement of the incandescent lamp. It extends into the grand arch formed by the intersection of the nave and transept, reaching a height of about 100 feet. The methods used in construction have resulted in showing a perfect column as though the entire shaft were hewn from one massive block of stone.

It springs from the roof of a colonnade surrounding the base, and the entire interior is strewn with thousands of incandescent lamps as many hued as the Western sunset. The colors are arranged by mechanical methods, capable of being flashed in harmony with the strains of music. The column is crowned with a well-proportioned replica of an Edison incandescent lamp, formed from a multitude of pieces of prismatic crystals. Upward of 80,000 of these beautiful jewels are strung on a frame, and are all lighted from the interior by a large number of incandescent lamps. The effect produced is marvelous, and can only be appreciated when seen.

Montana's famous solid silver statue of "Justice" was unveiled in the mines and mining building the other day. It is the statue for which the actress, Ada Rehan, stood as a model, and by so doing created much contention among her sisters of the profession. The unveiling of the statue was the event of the day at the White City, and the great building in which the statue stands was thronged with people eager to see the magnificent work of art. While the crowd was assembling, the Cincinnati band played national airs. The opening address was by Major Martin McGinnis of Montana, who spoke in glowing terms of the brilliant future before that State, of her untold wealth, of the enterprise of her citizens and her wonderful natural resources. When he finished, Mrs. Richards of Montana stepped forward, and taking up a small silken cord, gave it a gentle pull, and the Stars and Stripes which enfolded the silver image of "Justice" fell away and exposed the statue for the first time to public gaze. The crowd gave vent to wild cheers, while the band played "America." When the applause died away, Hon. I. M. Quinn, editor of the Butte Miner, made the closing address. He spoke of the statue as a work of art, of how it came to be made, and how it represented the wealth, enterprise and artistic taste of the citizens of that State. At the close of the exercises the Montana Commissioners entertained their friends and a large number of exposition officials and the representatives of foreign nations at luncheon.

June 1 closed the first month of the exposition. Although the weather and the general impression that the fair is not finished have affected the attendance, the average has not been as high as the governing officers of the fair expected before President Cleveland pressed the button May 1. There is no denying that the treasury department of the fair is pressed for money, although the banks, which are represented in the local corporation, stand ready to advance money at any time to tide the exposition over; but money is owing to the contractors and employes, and the former find much difficulty in getting quick and full payment of their claims. Treasurer Zeeberger is compelled to resort to all kinds of excuses for putting the contractors off, but some have been waiting two months after the contracts have been completed and their vouchers passed. There will be a severe policy of retrenchment in all departments of the fair beginning next month. The discharge of 2,000 employes is contemplated, and even Major Handy, who deals with the press representatives of the world, is now preparing a detailed statement of passes given with a view to a heavy reduction in the list. Ex-President Baker of the exposition, who is of the special committee investigating the press matter, thinks that the press of the country has done more harm than good to the fair and should not be treated liberally. Before the opening the enthusiasts connected with the fair talked about an average daily attendance of 100,000, but that number has only been reached twice—the opening day and Memorial day. Special fete days and single-fare excursions from distant points will swell the crowds for the next four months, but the European patronage is not being relied on to any great extent in figuring up prospective receipts. For the month of May it can only be said that the fair has not much more than paid the opening expenses.

By a ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Paul, Minn., it was held that a foreign subject who is qualified to become a citizen of the United States under the Revised Statutes does not become such by filing a declaration of intention to do so. He must comply with all the provisions of the Federal statutes.

One of the Florida phosphate companies is shipping 1,500 tons a week. There are now a dozen companies thus engaged, one of which is formed by French capitalists, who ship phosphate to France. Europe now annually consumes 75,000 tons of Florida phosphates. The capital invested in these Florida companies is $30,000,000.

The Salvation Army in New York expects to make a remarkable display in that city next fall, when General Booth will visit this country. Commander Ballington Booth and his wife will have charge, and it is their purpose to bring to New York at least 100,000 members of the army, and that every State and every province in Canada will be represented.

Mrs. Frank C. Buffon, alias Mrs. Anna E. Wetmore, alias half a dozen other names, who was arrested in Pittsburg recently at the instance of her newest father-in-law, Jacob Buffon, appears to be the most remarkable adventurer that has ever operated in the United States. Her scheme was similar to that of Eva Mann, who wrecked and finally drove to suicide Robert Ray Hamilton.

Alexander Russell Webb, the United States Consul, who four years ago embraced the religion of Mohammed, and who represents the Mohammedans in the United States, has been securing land in Florida and Georgia for the purpose of establishing colonies of the faithful in this country. He believes that within five years there will be about 5,000 active, able-bodied Musselmans settled in the first colony.

PURELY PERSONAL.

M. Pierre Loti has a penchant for dedicating his books to prominent ladies. Miss Charlotte M. Yonge is now three score and ten, and has written far more than the same number of books. She began novel-writing when she was 20.

In Spain the name "Infanta" is given to all daughters of the reigning King except the oldest when she is heiress apparent to the throne. The masculine form, "Infante," is given to all the sons except the oldest.

When the wife and daughter of the Chinese Minister to England were presented to Queen Victoria they were allowed to remain seated after their presentation, as their small feet unfitted them for long standing.

Rev. Father Thomas E. Sherman, son of the late General, is an aggressive and outspoken as his distinguished father. In his sermons he takes every-day matters as subjects, and in a recent discourse he poured hot shot into the secret societies.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett is soon to leave Washington for a year's sojourn abroad. Much of her time will be spent in London, where she is almost as well known in society as in New York, but in the autumn she will make a tour of Egypt and the Holy Land.

Cardinal Ziglaris, who has just died at Rome, was persona gratissima at the Quirinal, and besides being a great favorite of the present Pontiff he was generally regarded by the Catholic clergy throughout the world as destined to become the successor of Leo XIII.

The royal family of England is said to be the most money-loving of the princely blood of Europe. The Queen has accumulated a vast fortune from her savings, and she pays her servants less than they can get in any first-class hotel. Her daughter, the Princess Louise, inherits this parsimonious spirit.

Whatever the poverty of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, Dr. Talmage himself is not a poor man. He is credited with a fortune of $500,000 and an income of $20,000 from books, sermons, lectures and editorial work. The Tabernacle's finances have been badly managed; otherwise the late sop of 25 per cent to hungry creditors would not have been necessary.

Colonel Bob Ingersoll once visited the stoke hole of an American liner. After seeing all that was to be seen he drew a $5 bill from his pocket and said: "Boys, I don't believe in hell, but I guess you do. We won't let our beliefs enter into good fellowship; so here's something to drink to my health with." And then he went into his cabin and wrung out his clothes.

Miss Jennie Young, the American who recently built a railroad to the extensive salt deposits she owns in Chihuahua, has received from the Mexican government a valuable concession in the form of a privilege for the establishment of colonies in the States of Chihuahua and Coahuila. Miss Young has gone to England to make arrangements for bringing over several thousand English families to settle upon the lands she has secured from the government.

Ex-President Harrison is having a quiet life in Indianapolis, and has not renewed business relations with his old law partners, ex-Attorney-General Miller and Mr. Elam. He has a desk in the office of Howard Cole, who studied law in Mr. Harrison's office, against the time when he takes up business again. He does not propose to practice law generally, but will confine himself to the Federal and higher State courts. He does not expect to do much law business until after his return from California, where he goes in October to give a series of lectures at Stanford University.

The Star says that the President has intimated that he will probably call Congress together about October 1 instead of the middle of September.

Secretary Carlisle during the past few days has received several telegrams confirming the newspaper dispatches as to a conspiracy on the extreme Northwest border to smuggle opium and Chinese into the country. They intimate that a number of government employes are implicated.

The treasury statement showing the amount of gold and silver coin and certificates and of United States notes and national bank notes in circulation June 1 has been issued. It shows the total circulation is $1,596,151,901, a decrease during the month of $2,876,434, and for the last twelve months of $23,858,328. The circulation per capita is $25.86.

Secretary Gresham authorizes an emphatic denial of the statement that the Chinese Minister has notified the Department of State that the Chinese government would retaliate if the Geary act is enforced. Gresham declared that the recent interview between himself and the Chinese Minister on the decision of the Supreme Court on the Geary law was pleasant and friendly. Not a word nor an intimation of a threat was used during the interview. No verbal or written statement from the Chinese government has been received since the decision to indicate that the Emperor proposes retaliation. When asked if any steps had been taken towards the enforcement of the law, Gresham replied that the matter was in the hands of the Secretary of the Treasury. So far as he knew nothing had been done.
