How is This?

Something unique even in these days of mammoth premium offers, is the latest effort of Stafford's Magazine, a New York monthly of home and general reading.

The proposition is to send the Magazine one year for one dollar the regular subscription price; and in addition to send each subscriber fifty-two complete novels during the twelve months—one each week.

Conan Doyle, Miss Braddon, Captain Marryat, Miss Thackeray and Julie Verne. If you wish to take advantage of this unusual opportunity, send one dollar for Stafford's Magazine one year. Fat Man's Race.

To brake the monotony Tuesday evening, some of our citizens got up a fat man's race. The distance run was one block, or about 250 feet; and the winner was to receive a sack of flour. J. H. Frey, Kelsey, Jaa. Sharp and P. W. Morgan entered the race. J. W. Guyard Chas. Smith were appointed judges. The race was won by J. H. Frey who got the sack of flour, but it was very close between he and Kelsey. Our marshal was altogether too fat, and consequently he was not "in it," as he dropped out about half way.

Died.

Irvine—Near Tallman, Linn county Oregon, on Tuesday morning, July 4, 1893, Lona, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Irvine; aged 11 months.

Another flower too tender for this world has been added to the wreath of little one's in the paradise of immortality. The remains of little Lona were quietly laid to rest in the Masonic cemetery on Wednesday in the presence of sympathizing friends of the bereaved parents.

One more loved one sweetly sleeping. Dear little Lona gone before. And if faithful we will meet her. Safely on the other shore.

Yes, we know she's gone forever. With the best Redeemer to dwell; But how sad it is to sever Hearts that we have loved so well.

Often in the eve we'll gather Round the fireside dear and lone, Thinking as we grieve together Of the loved one now gone home.

One more loved one sweetly sleeping. Our darling baby gone before. Yet, we joy at the thought of meeting Bye and by to part no more.

J. Stewer, of Jefferson, lost ten fine milch cows a few days ago by leaving some old white lead cans where they could lick them. The lead poisoned them and they died in a short time in spite of all the medical assistance he could give them. Old cans are a dangerous article to leave around.

Capt Ad G Chapman, the old Indian war scout, has made a standing wager of $1000 that he can with a horse beat any bicycle from Vancouver to Salem and return. This was brought about by some bluster made by a fancy bicycle. That a bicycle was superior to a horse. Chapman is a good rider and understands a horse. He has silenced the blusterer of Vancouver.—Dispatch. All the same the bicycle with the right man on it would undoubtedly win.

The Hero in Stripes.

Deputy Sheriff Bruckway and Correl, of Douglas county, passed through Albany with the self confessed "Hero" Geo. E. Richardson, the several times over attempted train wrecker. He goes to Salem to remain in a stock-maker for eight years, and will probably learn a trade in that time. After he was turned over to the warden at the penitentiary the shackles which bound his feet together were removed and the handcuffs taken off his wrists. Immediately he reached down and took from a secret pocket in his pants leg, where the shackle had encircled it, a portion of a case knife, the blade of which had been notched to use as a saw. He said that he intended to make an attempt to cut the handcuffs should opportunity allow him while on the way to Salem.

Captain Humphrey's Condition.

Captain Humphrey rallied well after the amputation of his foot Wednesday afternoon, says the Pendleton East Oregonian, and he was removed on a stretcher from the transfer house to his room in the Golden Rule hotel. He suffered much pain during the night, but this morning said that he seemed more like himself than at any time during the accident. Although he is very weak, his condition seems very encouraging. Even while he was in desperate pain with his foot crushed and bleeding, "Cap's" ruling spirit prevailed. John Bendy was at his bedside, and remarked that he would have to leave to attend to some business. "I want you to stay, John," said the sufferer feebly. "These doctors are going to operate on me, and I want you see they don't cut off the wrong foot." At last accounts the patient was resting well and the universal wish for his recovery will doubtless be gratified.

A Rich Gold Find.

Fresh fuel was added to the gold fever in Southern Oregon recently by a rich strike made by the Denny Brothers, who are well known here. They were prospecting on an old placer field in the Aulthouse district in Josephine county, when they discovered a rich pocket from which they took one nugget weighing 21 ounces ($305). Other smaller nuggets and a large amount of coarse gold dust were also taken out. The formation upon which the lucky prospectors have staked their claim is a rich placer bed containing many large chunks of paying quartz. By digging a shallow ditch a few hundred feet in length a steady flow of 1000 miners' inches of water can be obtained. The strangest part of the find is that it is in the center of a placer bed that was famous for its richness 50 years ago. It was worked for many years and it is estimated that $1,500,000 worth of gold dust was taken from it. The present owners will form a stock company at once and proceed to work their property for all it will yield. Dr. J. M. Taylor, a well known mining man of Southern Oregon, vouches for the above statements, and asserts that it is the richest find made in that section for some time.—Oregonian.
