Six reporters are laid up in Parisian hospitals as the result of too close contact with the mob in the recent troubles in the French capital.

Oregon is getting mighty bare of hops of the 1892 crop. The new pick will have a clear field, and we hope to see good prices realized.

"How is it with you?" asked the editor of a subscriber who was dying in arrears. "All looks bright before me," gasped the subscriber. "I thought so," observed the editor, "in about ten minutes you'll see the blaze."

The keepers of the gambling-houses at the popular Eastern benches are complaining of a very dull business. This is a consoling feature of the quiet times.

A meeting in progress at the colored church in the Fielding Barnes neighborhood in Platte county, Mo., was broken up by the appearance of a ghost. A murder was committed in the vicinity last Christmas.

John C. Pelton, the first superintendent of public schools in San Francisco, in his old age, finds himself surrounded by poverty. A number of leading citizens of that city are raising funds sufficient to support him in his declining years. This is a worth object.

Some men's success is founded on a shock, which they receive when they begin to comprehend how scrub stock or methods have nearly ruined them. The winds of adversity have to blow hard enough to nearly knock the home down before the owner will put up the right sails to utilize the wind. —Rural New Yorker.

It has generally been stated that the Bell telephone patent expired in March, but an exchange says: The patent covering broadly a telephone receiver, which is held by the Bell Telephone Company, expires January 30, 1904. Until the expiration of this patent the manufacturer or user of an electric speaking telephone of any practical usefulness becomes liable to prosecution from this monster monopoly.

An exchange pertinently remarks: "The reform school, four miles out of Salem, is to be enlarged and its capacity doubled. Wonder if any of the Salem people will enjoy this work. It is as much in violation of the constitution as the erection of the Soldier's Home at Roseburg. The constitution says these institutions must be located at least one and four miles out or one mile out is no more Salem than one hundred miles would be."

Question: Cannot you put a piece in The Sun that will stop the everlasting and tiresome talk of everybody about the weather? Answer: We do not desire to put a stop to this talk. The weather is a thing of abiding and practical interest to the whole people. It affects the health, the business, the crops, the industry, the prosperity, and the pleasure of the country. The state of it is important to everybody. People will continue forever to talk about it. It is a theme of the first importance and interest. —N. Y. Sun.

During these progressive days the Indians seemed to have absorbed more or less the true spirit of the age, and are making remarkable strides along the pathway of education. The proficiency that is being made among the Indian pupils at Chemawa is a matter of general comment, and now comes a Pendleton exchange and says: Savina, a bright and intelligent Indian girl, the daughter of Cash Cash, the venerable ex-judge of the Umatillas, came home Monday from Pennsylvania, where she has been a pupil for over a year at an institution where Indian pupils are educated. Savina, who is 16 years old, speaks the English language fluently, reads and writes with ease, and possesses other attainments that many white girls envy. Upon her arrival she was taken out to her home by Ed Bristow. Failing health compelled her to abandon her studies.
