Lane County's Sheriff.

The Farmers Alliance committee of Lane county have been examining into Sheriff Noland's accounts with the county of Lane, assisted by Judge Boise and I. F. Amis, and make a long and severe report, giving samples of his charges, and demanding that the prosecuting attorney proceed against the sheriff under section 2796 of the code, and also sue him under section 2378 for $1200 for failing to return to the secretary of state his emolument account. The following in the report would indicate that the office is an astonishingly fat one the way run: We, the committee, also find that the sheriff, J. E. Noland, has received from the county the following sums of money for his pretended services as sheriff since January 1st, 1893, viz.

January.....	$ 51 10
March.....	496 07
April.....	3570 58
May.....	3837 37
June.....	682 61
Claim now before the court.....	2173 09
Total.....	$10,831 42.

In addition to this he has received as sheriff large amounts as fees for services from litigants in civil cases. And your committee further find that the sheriff has retained in possession thousands of dollars collected for taxes beyond the time allowed by section 2797.

"My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhoea. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhoea or colic medicine. J. E. Hare, Trenton, Tex. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. A Minister Horse Whipped.

Friday afternoon The Dalles was treated to a highly interesting and sensational episode. Rev. O. D. Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church and chief boomer of North Dalles, was thoroughly and most satisfactorily horsewhipped and chased about the streets by a woman. Mr. Taylor is president of the Wasco Independent Academy situated there, and acts as treasurer of the institution. Miss Holcomb, one of the teachers for the past year, was engaged by Taylor, and with a lady friend, Miss Equie, left her home in the East and came to The Dalles a year ago. After the close of the last term Miss Holcomb applied for the salary due her, and, as she claims was $100 short, Taylor refusing to pay the balance, and Miss Equie after being insulted by the minister met him in the street, and the blows rained on his head. After a struggle, he succeeded in grasping her wrists with the ejaculation of "Damn you, I'll kill you." But he did not kill her, as a crowd which numbered at least 500 gathered and tore his hands loose, holding him while the rawhide was piled most industriously by the young lady. On being released he ran for the hills, distancing his tormentors, but was soon overhauled by one of the crowd and received another benefit. The last seen of him was his fleeing form disappearing over the bluff, with Miss Equie a good second.

Miss Holcomb and Miss Equie are both cultivated young lady, graduates of Wellesley college. They are not only above reproach in reputation but are highly esteemed in the community. It is not inexcusable, that being denied what they claim are honest dues and left without funds so far away from home and with no male relative to attend to Taylor's case, these young ladies went to this extreme. The general sentiment of the community was clearly evident in the attitude of the large crowd which gathered about the scene, among whom not one friend of Taylor's was to be found, with the exception of his attorney, who was promptly told not to interfere. A warrant for Miss Equie's arrest was issued, but the charge was withdrawn and she was put under bonds to keep the peace.

A Wonderful Scheme.

Owing to the stringency of the money market the hop growers begin to see that they will have difficulty in obtaining the needed money to pay hands for harvesting their crop. This state of affairs puts them at the mercy of the hop buyer who sets a price on the hops and compels acceptance on account of the buyer's deposit being the only ready cash obtainable. It is proposed to remedy this by issuing money that will be acceptable by the laborers in hop fields and merchants in surrounding districts. The plan is something as follows: The farmers are to issue bills of credit in the denomination of $1 each to the extent of $100 or less according to their credit. These bills are to answer all the purposes of any kind of money in the districts in which they are issued, and are redeemable at the hop exchange of that district. To this exchange all hops are to be delivered and sold, and bills called in, and returned to the party issuing them.—Salem Independent.

Mr. Jefferson Smoking.

Thursday evening the people of Prineville had a most beautiful view of the grand old snow peak which is visible from this place, and it had all the appearance of being an active volcano, and no doubt the spectacle witnessed here on that evening is what those have seen before when they have declared the mountain was belching forth fire and smoke.

Heavy clouds covered the sky at the time but had risen just to the summit of the peak as the sun set in the west, leaving a clear strip of sky at the horizon. The clouds in the west were all crimson and gold, while the snow on Jefferson looked like polished silver, and the shadow of the mountain left a dark streak on the clouds, reaching from the peak high in the heavens, small and dark at the lower extremity and gradually grew broader and lighter as the eye followed it upwards, very much resembling smoke issuing from a chimney. The sight was grand in the extreme, and had one been imaginative he could have easily believed Jefferson was pouring forth fire and smoke equal to the most turbulent volcano in the world.—Ochoas Review.

A Big Suit.

The Guard mentions the suit against Mrs. Dr. Patterson-Wallace as follows: Mrs. Cynthia A. Croner, this afternoon, entered suit in the circuit court of Lane county against Mrs. Dr. Patterson-Wallace, late of Albany, for malpractice. The complaint alleges that the defendant claimed that she was skilled in medicine and therefore commenced to treat plaintiff; that she gave the plaintiff an overdose of creosote which blistered the mucous membrane of her mouth, throat and stomach, causing depression of the heart and other organs; that she has suffered much bodily and mental pain from the same, and is now unable to partake of any nourishment, by reason of taking such medicine. And by cause of said treatment she has been compelled to expend $75 for the service of a physician, $30 for nurse hire and has suffered damages in addition to the amount of $5000; therefore plaintiff asks for judgment in the sum of $6105. The plaintiff has retained the services of Attorneys E. R. Skipworth and A. C. Woodcock; and the defendant, Attorney L. Bilyeu. On the subject of her right to practice, Mrs. Wallace has taken the preliminary steps in Portland, and has also a diploma from the Ohio American Health College of Cincinnati, showing that she has been fully instructed in the vitapathic system and amply qualified to practice in the treatment and cure of all diseases; also by "virtue of religious organization and second incorporation, we also constitute and ordain her minister of the gospel, of life and authorize her to preach and solemnize marriages according to law, to attend funerals and to lawfully perform all ministerial offices."

A man giving the name of John Pearce succeeded in passing three forged checks on three Albany firms last Monday night; one on Reed, Peacock & Co. for $25; one on T. L. Wallace for $40; and one on E. U. Wills for $30; making a total of $95. He had to buy some goods at each place in order to get the checks cashed. He forged the name of John Morgan the brick mason, claiming he had been working for him and got the check after the bank had closed.

D. Andrews has sold his stove and tin shop which he bought of Swan Bros., to F. L. Carman and B. A. VanAukin, late of Washington. Mr. VanAukin is a practical tinner and Mr. Carman has had considerable experience in that line of business. The firm will go under the name of Carman & Co. The EXPRESS gladly welcome them into our midst.
