Two More Beautiful Monuments.

E. W. Achison of Albany called on us again to-day, having just placed two more neat monuments in our cemetery. One, a family monument of the Brilliant-Crystal granite for the late Artimus Dodge; the other, a beautiful No. 1 Sutherland Falls marble monument at the grave of Margaret Barker. They are both, as are all their work, of first class material and workmanship and a credit to the firm. Mr. Achison wishes us to state that his firm are prepared to furnish any kind of marble or granite in the world, that they can guarantee to give satisfaction to their customers, and says it will pay anyone wanting work to see them before purchasing.

Try the new drink—cherry cider, at Zahn's. It is fine.

Attys. Somers and Garland visited Albany one day this week.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Bean, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist.

Wm. Ireland, who resides near Crawfordville, met with a very severe accident one day this week. He was mounted upon a good horse and was engaged in driving some of his neighbor's stock out of his wheat field, and while his horse was running as fast as possible, it fell, throwing its rider violently to the ground. Mr. Ireland received several severe bruises about the head and face, besides having his nose mashed as flat as a pancake. Dr. Henry was called and dressed the wounds and he is now on the road to recovery.—Brownsville Times.

IN MEMORIAL.

A precious one from us has gone,
 A voice we loved is stilled,
 A place in our home is vacant
 which never can be filled.
 She has gone to a happier home than this
 But O! her gentle voice we all do miss.
 Her parting words are sweet indeed to tell,
 I am going to my dear Mamma
 One she loved so well.
 Her love thanks she extended
 To all whom were near,
 And tried to relieve her sufferings here.
 And to one on whom her
 Future happiness did depend
 A parting kiss she did extend.
 Now good-bye, dear papa, sister,
 brothers and friends,
 For I'm going to die.
 Try a Christian life to live and meet me
 by and by.

A NEAR RELATIVE.

A fisherman on the St. Helen's bar had an experience Tuesday night which he will not soon forget. He had his net in the river and was making a drift, when the steamer T. J. Potter passed on her regular run to Astoria. Captain Sullivan did not see the net, and in passing one of the Potter's big wheels picked it up and quickly wound it around the shaft, taking the fisherman and part of his boat with it. Fortunately he was so completely tangled in the net that he was held firmly in one place and carried around and escaped being dashed to pieces. His boat was smashed to kindling wood. His outcries for help were heard and the steamer was stopped. He was released from his perilous position and taken to St. Helen's in a bruised and feeble condition.—Oregonian.

A Good Move.

It is said the young ladies of Mound City, Mo., are subscribing to the following iron clad pledge:
 The man who takes the red, red wine
 Can never glue his lips to mine;
 The man who chews the navy plug,
 Will in our parlor get no hug;
 Who smokes, or drinks or cuts a deck,
 Shall never, never bite my neck.
 Don't you monkey with the cards,
 Or we'll never more be pards.
 The man who fizzes lager beer
 Can never, never bite my ear.
 Drink nothing stronger than red pop,
 Or in your lap I'll never flop.
 If sught but water you e'er taste
 Just keep your arm from off my waist.
 If you drink wine or other slop,
 You can never hear my corset pop,
 The man who smokes the cigarette
 Can never squeeze me you can bot.

A Barbed Wire Cinche Oath.

A few evenings since the young men of Prineville met in solemn convocation, and pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, that any young lady, before entering into matrimonial life with any gentleman of this town, shall be required to subscribe to the following oath:
 I, _____, being first duly a worn, do dispose and say:
 That I will never bang my hair,
 Nor strike my husband with a chair.
 Will never wear my corset tight,
 Nor will my dear, dear hubby fight.
 Always be sweet as sweetest honey,
 And never ask for spending money.
 Never, never wear a tight shoe.
 Nor kick if tobacco he should chew.
 To him be kind all my life,
 And not complain if he hugs another wife.
 Never daub my cheeks with paint red,
 Nor complain of his cold feet in bed.
 Will build the fire on mornings cold,
 And if wood's scarce will not scold.
 Always have for him a warm dinner,
 Though he be the gravest sinner.

All the young men except one concurred in the agreement, and indeed desiring to seal their future destiny may stand some show if they go before Justice Lindman and take the above oath.—Ex.

Obituary.

Mrs. W. H. Cyrus died at her home in Crook county, July 27, 1893, with blood poison. She was known in this community as Lonia Stringer. She was married to Mr. Cyrus September 30, 1861. She leaves a husband, little girl, father, mother, three sisters and four brothers, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

She was born in Lebanon, Or. February 21, 1873; aged 20 years, 5 months, and 6 days. To God to give and God to take away, and he has taken away a loved one whose place can never be filled. She has gone but not forgotten. She was a jewel that will shine as long as memory lives. She was a loving wife, a loving sister, and a loving friend to all who knew her. May God bless, save and comfort the loved ones who are left to mourn her loss.

This world is filled with sadness, and our hearts in sorrow chilled;
 No more will we hear her sweet voice call
 "us
 For her heart in death is chilled.
 Farewell dear Lonia, farewell,
 My heart will never be reconciled.
 Farewell till we meet beyond the sky,
 Where true friendship never dies.
 Dear Lonia was but a smile
 Which glitters in a tear,
 Seen but a little while
 But Oh! how loved, how dear,
 We only know dear Lonia thou hast gone,
 And that the same remorseless tide,
 Which bore thee from us still glides on—
 And we, who mourn thee will it guide.
