Rev. H. Oberg goes from here to Halsey. Halsey has a strong church and we have an idea it will be an agreeable change for Rev. Oberg. He and his wife leave many warm friends at this place.

Rev. Walton Skipworth has been transferred to Idaho conference and will preach at Union.

Rev. Thos. P. Boyd will again fill the pulpit at Sunnyside in Portland.

Rev. John Parsons was again selected as presiding elder for this district.

A strange tale comes from Perrydale, Polk county. A week ago last Thursday night as Luke Strong was traveling along the road between the farm of Ira Townsend and Perrydale, after dark, he was set upon by two men who threw him down and bound him. He was then blindfolded and conducted on foot to what he thinks was Bredwell's station, where he was put into a hack, and then began a journey that ended about twelve miles east of the Summit near Mt. Hood. Strong was kept blindfolded the entire distance, and was offered food, which he declined. Tuesday night his captors did not tie him, as usual, and along toward morning he escaped and started west. After daylight he met a freighter going to Tygh valley, who gave him two dollars. Strong left his coat, watch and chain and $22 with his captors. He walked the entire distance, via Portland, to Perrydale, arriving home last Friday at midnight, says the Sheridan Sun. Strong is 20 years of age, has no bad habits and is considered truthful by all who know him. He thinks the men were after someone else, and when they found their mistake, they purposely gave him an opportunity to escape.

Jim McCurdy, who is hauling straw for the paper mill brought in a load Monday that had on sixty-eight hundred and thirty pounds of loose straw, which is the largest load that has ever been brought in. Wagon and all weighed 4550 lbs. It was brought about five miles besides pulling it out of the loose stubble field, with only two horses. Mr. McCurdy is a good hand to load on straw besides being a first class driver. Mr. Weeks brought in 6190 lbs. which is a big load itself.

Prineville News.

(From Ochoco Review.)

B. P. Poindexter and family have returned from Lane county. They got enough fruit to load a four-horse team.

Assessor Gray will complete his roll today and have it ready to submit to the county board of equalization next Monday.

R. H. Barnett and W. H. Peck claim to have done the biggest day's reaping of the season. They cut 20 acres of grain in 14 1/2 hours.

At the next session of the supreme court five cases appealed from this county will be argued. They are Connor vs Lambert, Connor vs Clark, A. W. Hough vs A. Hough, Belknap and Sons vs Charlton, and Ab Doon vs C. S. Smith.

Last Saturday the house and lot belonging to the T. W. Davis estate was sold by the administrator to the Ward for $100 and a half interest in the Powell store building to Powell Bros. for $150. Both properties brought all they were worth.

The first of the week a family passed through town en route to Roseburg. They had come all the way from Oklawaha. They will doubtless pass through here on their return next season, as that class of people will not remain in one place longer than one winter.

J. W. Kitching got home Saturday from Kentucky, where he disposed of the horses which he took from this county last month. He was well satisfied with the prices he received. R. P. Miller and W. H. Anderson have also returned. Mr. Miller was in town Monday, and said he and Mr. Anderson netted a little over $30 per head for their horses, which he considered a fair price for this year, though it is not as much as he has realized on shipments he has made to Montana in past years.

The Dingey estate in Chesterfield county, N. Y., valued at $5,000,000, is now in fair way to be settled up and distributed among the heirs. I. L. Ketchum and Mrs. C. E. Solomon will each receive about $100,000 to their share. The heirs are in possession of recent communications that encourage them to believe a speedy settlement will be made.

Yesterday morning Wm. Wyler was found dead in his bed in the Prineville Hotel. He had taken strychnine. Mr. Wyler had been in this vicinity several years, most of the time engaged in tending sheep. He owned a farm near Halsey, Linn county, and has some property here.

D. L. Fry arrived here Wednesday, and reports having had a very pleasant time, especially while at the world's fair.

Newspaper Advertising.

Isaac Cooper of Philadelphia, formerly a dry goods merchant in the city of Brotherly Love, having been the senior partner in the well-known firm of Cooper and Conrad for over thirty years, recently visited this city and upon being interviewed at Seattle said:

"I have a great liking for newspapers, for I consider what means I now possess came through them. While I was in business I believed in advertising, and our firm spent a large fortune in printer's ink. But it was well spent, and if I were again to resume business I should spend more in newspaper advertising than I did before. But there is a great deal in knowing how to advertise. It is not that the methods are difficult, or that the advertiser must be constantly on a strain for something sensational. The whole secret of advertising to advantage for a retail commercial house is to tell the truth. First, have something to say which is worth saying, and then say it plainly. You don't need to monopolize the newspaper; you don't need to claim that what you say is all that is worth listening to. Put the plain truth before the readers, in a place where they can see it. Live up to your advertisement; keep faith with the public and soon the public will come to put faith in your announcements. They will believe your advertisements, and crowd your store, when the extravagant statements of your rivals are quietly ignored by the public which has too often been tricked. I used to write my own advertisements at first, and I made it a rule to rather understate what I had to offer than to overstate it, lest people should be disappointed by their own misunderstanding. After our business grew too large for me to give the matter my personal attention I hired a newspaper man to write our ads, but I made it a rule that I should see every ad before it went into the newspaper. And many a time I had to order the advertisement changed, and sometimes entirely re-written, because it told a lie or would have led the people to expect something different from what we had to offer, and thus disappoint them when they should come to the store."

To Coins More Gold.

Secretary Carlisle has ordered that the United States mints at Philadelphia and San Francisco be fully manned and the full capacity of both mints utilized in coining gold bullion. The treasury department possesses from $85,000,000 to $90,000,000 in gold bullion, which is part of the gold reserve of $100,000,000. Gold bars cannot be used as currency, so it has been decided in the present need to coin the bullion on hand. The bullion will be coined into $10, $5, and $3 gold pieces, preference being given to the first two denominations. The coining capacity of the Philadelphia mint, it is stated, will be between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 per month. There are $20,000,000 of gold bullion in the Philadelphia mint, $15,000,000 of it being in one vault, where it has remained untouched for 15 years. Acting Director Preston visited Philadelphia Saturday and completed arrangements with Superintendent Rosby-hell to begin work at once. The treasury is now paying out gold coin all over the country, and as a consequence stands more in need of gold coin than heretofore.

Yesterday afternoon, says the Corvallis News, the government snagboat stopped on the rapids in the Willamette river just above Independence and set a blast in a huge snag in the stream. A farmer named Johnson came driving along the bank and when the charge exploded was about 300 feet away. A piece of timber a foot thick and 12 inches long struck his wagon, badly wrecking it and scattering his team so they ran away. The farmer had a narrow escape.
