Say—if you want your watch, clock, or jewelry repaired and haven't the cash, bring us farm produce. "Any thing goes" except pole cats or badgers, at Hardy's.

Work is progressing nicely on the new addition to the St. Charles Hotel. The new part will be 25x50 feet, and as high as the main part of the hotel, which will add greatly to the building when completed.

The Express made an error last week, in saying that Rev. Beattie would move into the house occupied by M. A. Miller. He has moved into the house opposite to Mr. Miller's, which is Mr. Blodgett's.

E. N. Lee, druggist, of Junction City, who has been visiting relatives at this place and spending a good part of his time in Sodaville for the past three weeks, left on Monday for home, much improved in health since his arrival here.

Married, at Detroit, on Tuesday morning, Sept. 12, 1893, at 5 o'clock a. m., at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. E. R. Pritchard, of Albany, Mr. S. P. Kerr and Miss Ella Danforth, two of the popular young people of the upper Santiam.

Judge F. M. Miller returned home Tuesday from a visit to his parents in Iowa, and also to the world's fair. The Judge was well pleased with the many strange sights and wonderful things that he saw at the fair. He says times are as hard back where he has been as they are here.

For a lame back or for a pain in the side or chest, try saturating a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and binding it onto the affected parts. This treatment will cure any ordinary case in one or two days. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist.

Go to Zahn's for milk shakes.
Rev. Wooley, of Eugene, was on our streets yesterday.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me will please come in and pay up, as I need my money.
MISS GEO. RICE.

The Lebanon hop crop is good as to quality, but the crop is not up to last year, the dry weather having caused the crop to be light.

Rev. Ezra Maurer, pastor of Sweet Home mission, Evan. Association, will preach in Waterloo Sunday, Sept. 17, at 11 a. m., and in Plainview at 4 p. m.

Send your name and address to Read Pencock & Co., Albany, Oregon, and mention the Express, they will mail you a fashion sheet free each month.

The Jacksonville Times announces the marriage of Hugh Thompson, chief clerk of the Oregon penitentiary, and Miss Emma Dorris, daughter of Hon. Geo. B. Dorris, of Eugene.

Miss Ola Smith left on our desk a box of fine prunes, one day this week, with the compliments of Mrs. F. M. Smith, who lives across the river. The whole Express force returns thanks.

The Ladies' Bazaar of Albany has again added a millinery department, and has secured the services of a first-class trimmer from San Francisco. Call around and see them when in Albany.

A band of horses was recently brought in from Mr. Abe Hackleman's ranch east of the mountains, by Harry Hackleman and others. Mr. Hackleman intends shipping his beef cattle east for sale.

G. W. Cruson and family, and A. H. Cruson, returned home this week from their visit to Southern Oregon. They report having had a delightful time. The only incident that happened, to mar the pleasure of their trip, was the misfortune of having fifty dollars worth of harness stolen from them.

J. E. Adeox has returned to Lebanon to again make it his home. He has bought A. D. Hansell's jewelry business, and is again found at the bench. Mr. Adeox is a fine workman, and we are glad to welcome him back to Lebanon. He will keep his jewelry shop in Smith's drug store, where it now is.

The following is an extract from a letter received by Dr. Lamberson from Geo. Pope & Co. "The hop market is decidedly off, and there is no sign of renewing it in the near future, although by the time hops are in the bale some new development may bring the market back to its normal condition.

Yesterday a fire alarm was given, to which the department answered promptly. The fire was in Dr. Courtney's house, started by a spark from a burning flue. A few buckets of water extinguished it by the time the company got in readiness, but as the firemen were out they tried the pressure and the hose, which was found in first-class shape.

A young Buffalo lady who returned from the world's fair last week, tells this story of Miss Love's crèche which is located on the fair grounds. It seems that early in the day a lady had left her baby in charge of the day nursery, and called for it again about seven o'clock in the evening. The attendant handed out a little colored baby. "But that is not my baby," said the woman. "Can't help it, ma'am," replied the nurse. "It is all that is left."—Ex.

A. Bush, of Salem, has brought a suit for $22,000 against S. Z. Mitchell, O. F. Paxton, George B. Markie, J. L. Hartman, D. F. Sherman, D. S. Tutbill, A. P. Fuller, F. B. H. Paine, F. A. Carl, F. R. Anson, P. S. Knight, E. P. Whitmore and F. H. Page. The suit is to enforce the payment of a promissory note for $22,000 made Aug. 31, 1892, due in one year with interest at 8 per cent, and signed by all the defendants, given in consideration of the electric light plant.

C. A. Zahn is now making delicious ice cream.

We warrant all work done by us, at Hardy's.

J. M. Settle has been quite ill this week.

There are at present two steam wood saws running in the city.

J. E. Adeox has rented S. M. Garland's house, where he will move.

The ring of the old academy bell sounds familiar to many this week, as it calls for school again.

There will be services in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church on the second and fourth Sundays in each month, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

W. V. MCGEE, Pastor.

Dr. Lamberson received a check today for all cascara bark shipped. He will now pay the parties who consigned their bark to his house. This speaks well for the house of Geo. Pope & Co.

The Ladies' Bazaar of Albany have received their fall stock of Cloaks, Capes, Wraps, etc., all of the latest styles and fashions, which they propose to sell at hard times prices. Call and see the latest styles.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of her ailment, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist.

While at the Camp Compton range yesterday Captain Jones conducted some experiments to determine the penetrating force of the blank cartridges used in the recent sham battle. He found that a rifle, loaded with a blank charge such as was used, and fired at ten inches range at a board one inch in thickness would tear a ragged hole through the timber of much greater proportion than if the rifle were loaded with ball. Other tests proved that the blank charge was deadly at a much greater range.—Salem Democrat.

A movement is on foot to form a stock company in this city to build a river boat to ply the upper Willamette from Eugene as far down as Albany and Corvallis. W. R. Johnson, an experienced boat builder, is here and is willing to subscribe a large fraction of the capital stock necessary, and also to give bonds for the faithful performance of the work of construction. A stock subscription paper is being circulated. The proposition is to form a company with $7,500 capital, divided into 750 shares of $10 each; the boat to be built at or near Eugene and to be of sufficient capacity for the carrying trade at this point. Lumber, hardware, etc., necessary to be used in the work of construction may be subscribed at the actual market price.—Eugene Guard.

The announcement is made that Collector Black will soon dismiss Deputy Collector Pike. Mr. Pike was first appointed under Mr. Abraham and has served ever since and has been a most competent official.—Portland Dispatch.

The writer is glad to see this for a particular reason. The reason is that no man should be considered indispensable. In this case it will be shown that the government can get along without the services of a single individual, which has been heretofore doubted by many persons. Nobody is indispensable. The world will go on much the same after every reader of this is removed from earthly scenes. Of course there will be a sort of temporary suspension of things terrestrial when some of us let go, but very soon thereafter the needle-hole in the mill-pond will close up and the surface of things will appear the same as before we, the human needles in the great mill-pond, were withdrawn.—Statesman.

The above is the first intimation that we have ever had that the Statesman thought that way. Heretofore we have been of the opinion, judging from the general tone of its editorials, that this world would suspend when the editor of the Statesman passed away.

Bold Train Robbers.

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., Sept. 12.—Another daring and successful train robbery is on record. The New York express train on the Lake Shore road, which left Chicago at 7:45 last night, reached a siding at Keokuk, five miles west of here, at 1 o'clock this morning. Approaching it, engineer Knapp noticed a red danger-signal light at the switch, and stopped the train. As he did so, 20 men, armed with Winchester, sprang out of the woods, scattered along the train and covered the trainmen, while one fired at the engineer, inflicting a wound in the shoulder. With everything in hand, the robbers proceeded to blow open the forward express car with dynamite; then knocking the express messenger senseless, exploded five dynamite cartridges in succession against the safe before it yielded. They helped themselves to its contents, the whole performance occupying an hour, when without making any attempt on the other express car, or interfering with the passengers, who remained in the cars, panic-stricken, they fired a few warning shots and disappeared in the woods. It is rumored they secured $250,000 in transit from one of the Chicago banks to New York. The rumor is not yet verified. The train came on here and the alarm was given, and the sheriff at once summoned a posse and started in pursuit of the bandits.

Mr. Thos. Kay, proprietor of the Salem Woolen Mills, passed through Lebanon yesterday on his way to Waterloo.

Rev. Walton Skipworth and family, who have been visiting his parents in this city, left Monday for their new home in Union, Eastern Oregon. Rev. Skipworth filled the pulpit in the M. E. Church at this place, last Sunday.

Hop-picking is in full blast this week, at all the yards around here. Every yard is using white pickers exclusively, and all of our citizens that can get off are at the yards. Most of the growers say that so far the rains have done very little, if any, damage. The growers say that the crop will be one-third lighter than last year, and in some places it will not go much over half the crop that was gathered last year.

Benefit for Walpole.

The following from the Hillsboro Independent refers to an individual who is not unknown in Lebanon:

"Walpole, alias 'Onhorn, was arrested on Saturday last at Corvallis on a warrant charging him with assault and battery committed some months since on the person of William Annens. In default of bail he has been laying in jail since. While in the cage he played the religious role, and wanted to enter into a combination with the Methodist clergyman, by which all the wickedness of the town, whether real or imaginary, may be laid before the public and punishment fixed. While in jail he sang and prayed. He shouted and he wept until Jailor Bradford chucked him in the street cage, whereupon he played the Myster act. He is a persecuted Christian gentleman, the same as John Bunyan of old. But when he is sized up he is a poor vagabond tramp—too lazy to work and thoroughly vicious. The Salem Democrat reports that he has been in jail at the capital, and in the poor house. He acted as his own attorney yesterday, and wandered all about, sometimes within the record' but oftener out. He admitted that he made the assault charged with intent to kill. That being in testimony the magistrate at once held him in bonds of $200 to await the action of the next grand jury. The complaining witness was held in bonds of $100 to appear and testify. Tinhorn is a dangerous man and while he is without doubt a coward, he knows how to handle matches. In open court he declared if he was held that he should recognize no law or any of the peace officers. Of course such a man cannot furnish bonds, and when taken to jail he set up a vigorous howl till the jailer turned the hose on him until he was thoroughly drenched."

It will be remembered this individual was the principal witness for the defendant in the Williams vs. Banta case at this place a few years ago. It will also be remembered that he was run out of town by a crowd of citizens, making his escape by jumping out of a window in the second story of the St. Charles Hotel.

Now He Has Seen Something.

The following article is from a footnote to a world's fair correspondent's letter to the Scientific American, in which reference was made to a Canada, backwoodsman who made a visit to the fair, travelling about a thousand miles in a crude dugout.

"The man's name is Antoine Brouseau. Although unable to read or write, he heard of the fair and made up his mind to visit it. He found an old leaky punt about 15 feet long which had been abandoned, patched it up, and decided to use it as his means of transportation. With the aid of favorable winds, a horse blanket and an old wooden paddle, he succeeded in reaching Chicago after traveling a distance of something like 1,000 miles. His only companion was his dog Pete. Before he left his northern home he had never seen a railroad or an electric light; had never heard a band of music or the whistle of a steamboat. At one of the points on his way a band of music was playing, and there also he first gazed upon the wonders of electricity. He was so carried away with what he saw and heard that he thought he had reached heaven. The region whence Brouseau comes is as wild to-day as it was when Chicago was only a trading post, the temporary stopping place of men like himself. He says that he has lived in the woods for months at a time without seeing a human face. He was born and raised in the wilderness, and until he started on this wonderful voyage of his life he was ignorant of the conditions of life in the great world beyond the 'clearings.'"

Regardless of Hard Times.

E. W. Achison set another neat little monument Tuesday, at the grave of Eugene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rice. Mr. Achison informs us that they are selling right along regardless of hard times, as they have cut prices to suit the times, and as the prices will not remain as low as they are now every one who can is buying now.
