Scholl's Ferry Items.

Harvest is about finished. The threshers finished their last job in this vicinity the 27th ult. Every one bespeaks an average crop, but price of grain low.

Scholl's Ferry was well represented at the county fair at Newberg this week.

There is considerable improvement going on in town.

Mr. J. Sutherland is building an addition to his dwelling.

We also have a blacksmith shop just completed, J. Sutherland proprietor.

L. E. LaRue has just finished a cow-stable, and has a carriage shed under construction.

The "Church of God" have about completed their church, which will be dedicated Oct. 20. Its situation is on the corner of Main and 3rd streets, opposite the business place of LaRue & Grimes.

Hop growers have finished picking their hops, and report a good yield and also a good out-look for their sale. Some have been offered from 17 to 20 cents, but think to get more.

Mr. Spidel has just finished hauling lumber, preparatory to building himself a dwelling on his farm near town.

There are also several large barns under construction or just completed, which looks very much as if farmers were preparing to live notwithstanding the cry of "Hard times."

J. D. Rowell tore down the old drug store and moved it to Hillsboro.

Horses in this vicinity are afflicted with distemper.

Dr. Patterson is Scholl's Ferry's resident M. D., but there is no sickness in town at present.

Onion growers had to rush to get their crop in the dry before the recent damp weather caused a second growth.

How is This?

Something unique even in these days of mammoth premium offers. It is the latest effort of Stafford's Magazine, a New York monthly of home and general reading.

The proposition is to send the Magazine one year for one dollar the regular subscription price; and in addition to send each subscriber fifty-two complete novels during the twelve months—one each week.

Think of it. You receive a new and complete novel by mail, post paid, every week for fifty-two weeks, and in addition you get the magazine once a month, for twelve months, all for one dollar. It is an offer which the publisher can only afford to make in the confident expectation of getting a hundred thousand new subscribers.

Among the authors of the coming series are, Wilkie Colling, Walter Besant, Mrs. Oliphant, Mary Cecil Hay, Florence Marryat, Anthouey Trollope, A. Conan Doyle, Miss Braddon, Captain Marryat, Miss Thackeray and Julie Verne. If you wish to take advantage of this unusual opportunity, send one dollar for Stafford's Magazine one year. Your first copy of the magazine and your first number of the fifty-two novels (one each week) which you are to receive during the year will be sent you by return mail. Remit by P. O. order, registered letter or express.

The Deed of a Lunatic.

[From Albany Herald.]

Yesterday (Monday) morning a man named Perry McQueen, who lives near Crawfordsville, came to town and wanted to see some of the attorneys who have in charge the legal business connected with the settlement of the estate of his deceased father-in-law, Frank Malone. He first went to the court house and began talking with Recorder E. E. Davis. He flourished a big sixshooter and said he wanted to see Mr. J. K. Weatherford. Mr. Davis told him that Mr. Weatherford had gone East, and said to him that they were all peaceable men about the court house, and particularly opposed to any display of firearms.

McQueen then went down on First street, and by mistake entered the office of Dr. Mackey in search of Mr. H. H. Hewitt, whom he said he wanted to consult about the settlement of the estate. The doctor told him that Mr. Hewitt was not there, but McQueen, who was as crazy as a March hare, imagined he was in an adjoining room, the door of which he tried and found locked. He drew his revolver and told the doctor he had better produce Mr. Hewitt, and the doctor prudently left with alacrity in search of him.

McQueen next stopped in at Wells Fargo & Co.'s office, and flourished the pistol, threatening vengeance upon the men who he imagined were trying to "cheat him out of his birthright." When the agent, Mr. Winn, came in from the rear he saw J. W. Brasfield hiding behind the safe and Peter Abbey in an humble position behind the counter, while the lunatic with the pistol was departing at the front door.

By the time McQueen reached Mr. Hewitt's office Sheriff Jackson was awaiting him and disarmed him.

His mental trouble seems to be over his father-in-law's estate, and he is determined to have it settled up quickly so he can secure his share of the funds immediately, or to slay off the attorneys engaged in the case and attend to himself.

He was afterwards arrested on a charge of insanity, and when arraigned appeared to have collected his scattered wits together and promised to refrain from such disturbing actions in the future and go home and attend to his own affairs, and was thereupon discharged. His relatives claimed that he was harmless and of sound mind.

Notice to Debtors.

The undersigned, being greatly in need of money, is very anxious to have all parties indebted to him to settle up. Parties who are unable to pay would do well to call and make their excuses known and further time will be given, and those failing to report by letter or in person within the next 15 days may expect a visit to the sheriff.

Fatal Shooting at Grant's Pass.

The following was a telegraphic dispatch to the Oregonian:

GRANT'S PASS, Or. Oct. 3.—A shooting scrape occurred in this city this morning, with the result that J. D. Rice lies in the city morgue, shot through the head and heart, and his slayer, Sam Black, is safely lodged in the city jail. The woman in the case, who is a dissolute character, is Black's wife, well known as Jet Black, but the two have not been living together for a year or more. Black has been working at whatever he could get. He warned Rice to leave his wife alone, but the warning was unheeded, and matters culminated this morning about 8 o'clock. Black went to his wife's house, and, upon entering, found Rice there with his wife. He opened fire, killing Rice instantly. In 20 minutes Marshal Keenan had Black safely locked up in the city jail. Public sympathy here is with Black, who is said to be a fair kind of man, while Rice was a bully and a hard drinker, but it is said he is of very good parents, having always been considered the black sheep in the family. Relatives of the dead man will arrive from Lebanon tomorrow and take charge of the remains. The preliminary examination of Black will take place here tomorrow.

T. L. Rice, of Waterloo, a brother of the deceased, left Tuesday for Grant's Pass, and returned home today. He states that the above does his brother an injustice—that the woman came to his brother's house for protection, and Black is a drunken sot and good-for-nothing fellow. At the preliminary examination Black was held in $3500 bonds, which amount he was unable to furnish.
