

Expressions.

Additional locals on first page.
Come in for job work.
Fresh bread at Zahn's.
There will be a ball at the St. Charles to-night.
Buy boots and shoes of Read, Peacock & Co.
Parker & Matthews' new saloon is fitted up nicely.
Jas. Munsey has rented John Burkhardt's residence.
Fresh pies, cakes and bread at Peebler's grocery store.
H. Baker is now agent for the celebrated Douglas shoe.
Atty. Garland was attending to business in Albany this week.
Brown Hansard is having his saloon remodeled for Mr. Munsey.
M. A. Miller now has a complete line of drugs and stationery.
Mrs. H. Y. Kirkpatrick is visiting her parents in Portland, this week.
Today and tomorrow is opening day at Mrs. Geo. Rice's millinery store.
J. S. Courtney M. D. Physician, Surgeon and Accoucheur, Lebanon, Or.
Elson & Tivey moved their office this week to the old Exchange hotel building.
All persons knowing themselves indebted to M. A. Miller will please call and settle at once.
Miss Iva Smith left Wednesday for a visit to her sister, and to attend the exposition, at Portland.
The confectioner's art, making cream candies and other confectionery, is taught at Zahn's store.
C. E. Ranous is in Lebanon Tuesday, visiting old friends. He was on his way from Portland to California.
When in Albany don't fail to call on the Ladies' Bazaar in their new quarters, and see their elegant fall stock.
Isaac Benjamin returned home last Saturday from Portland. Rumor has it that it is something more than business that attracts him down there.
Grant Morris returned home Monday from a trip in Eastern Oregon. He reports a good deal of grain not harvested in some parts of that country.
If you want to get value received for your hard-earned money, call at Baker's and buy your boots and shoes.
The Express is under obligations to Messrs. P. E. Nelson and Wm. Klepper, for efficient assistance rendered last "press day" in the absence of the editor.
Send your name and address to Read Peacock & Co., Albany, Oregon, and mention the EXPRESS, they will mail you a fashion sheet free each month.
Say—if you want your watch, clock, or jewelry repaired and haven't the cash, bring us farm produce. "Any thing goes" except pole cats or badgers, at Hardy's.
Mr. Frank Davey, Grand Organizer of the A. O. U. W. will give a free lecture next Tuesday evening, in Union Hall, illustrating the advantages of being a member of that order.
Preaching at the Baptist church every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sundry school at 10 a. m. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.
C. R. LAMAR, Pastor.
The Ladies' Bazaar of Albany has again added a millinery department, and has secured the services of a first-class trimmer from San Francisco. Call around and see them when in Albany.
N. S. Dalgleish will start Monday for Moosomin, Canada, where he will remain awhile. He will then go on to visit his parents, who live in Ontario. He also intends visiting the big fair at Chicago.
Having resumed business in Lebanon, I will say to my old customers as well as new, that my prices for watch, clock and jewelry repairing will be as before, at eastern prices, and owing to dull times in many cases a reduction will be made.
J. E. ADCOX, The Watch-maker.
This morning Wm. Retherford's team ran across the street from where they were standing, in front of Brown Hansard's saloon building, and ran into the opposite sidewalk, throwing one of the horses, but no damage of any consequence resulted.

J. C. Bilyeu is visiting in Seio this week.
Be sure and read Hiram Baker's new "ad" in this issue.
The Champion Mill flour is the best in the market. Try it.
Atty. Somers was in Corvallis this week, on legal business.
Call at F. L. Carman's, and see the fine line of stoves and ranges.
Cash paid for produce at Peebler's grocery store; highest market price.
Pumps and pipe down to Albany prices.
F. C. AYERS & Co.
When in need of hardware, tin, copper or granite ware, go to F. L. Carman & Co.
C. H. Ralston, new of Portland, was in Lebanon the first of the week, on business.
J. E. Adcox, the watch-maker, carries a fine line of spectacles and eyeglasses.
We will take wheat, oats or hay in payment for subscription for the EXPRESS.
Mrs. Stubblefield left yesterday for California, where she will visit with Rev. Eccleston and wife.
The members of the First Presbyterian church gave their pastor a donation party last Tuesday evening.
Baker is yet in the lead in low prices and good goods. Prices must correspond with what farmers have to sell.
The Ladies' Bazaar of Albany have received their fall stock of Cloaks, Capes, Wraps, etc., all of the latest styles and fashions, which they propose to sell at hard times prices. Call and see the latest styles.
Thanking my many friends and customers for past favors I beg a continuance of the same, and in future as in the past I guarantee perfect satisfaction in every instance. J. E. ADCOX, The Watch-maker, At Smith's Drug Store.
All parties indebted to Cruson & Menzies for twine, will take notice that one cent per lb. and interest will be added after Oct. 1. These are the conditions we will have to comply with and we don't wish to slight our customers.
We are informed that the warehouse in which the crop of hops from M. Alexander's yard, near Seio, was stored, has burned down. It is said that there was no insurance on the building or contents. It was a heavy loss if it contained all of Mr. Alexander's crop, as it was estimated to be worth at least $5,000.
"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. J. LaGrange, druggist, Avoca, Neb. 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist.
The hop market has fairly broken, as there have been within the last ten days some 10,000 bales bought and shipped from the valley, at an average price of 16 1/2 cents. Lamberson & Wilkes have purchased for Geo. Pope & Co. some 550 bales of choice hops in Brownsville, Seio and Halsey. The Lebanon hop growers are holding for 20 cents. It is to be hoped that they get it, but in the light of past experience when the market breaks and buyers are in the field, is the time to sell. The tendency is downward instead of upward.
Last Saturday a man arrived in Lebanon who stated that there were twenty-six teams in the mountains, that had come from Colorado. He expected them to arrive that evening or the next day, but as they did not arrive he went back to meet them. Yesterday he showed up again and stated that they were snowed in and in destitute circumstances. Councilman Cruson went up to see if they were really in need. He returned last night and reports that there are only five teams, that they have got through all right and will arrive here in a day or two.
The celebrated hobo of the canine species passed through the city on the train this morning, going west. He has tramped through every state of the Union in charge of express messengers, and each one has attached a tag to him. These are hung around the dog's neck, and it was very interesting to read a record of his travels. He is a dog of ordinary size, and easily makes friends with any stranger. No one knows where he first started his career of wandering from town to town, forgetting the scenes of his nativity, and becoming the pet of express messengers.—The Ladies T. M.

Buy your groceries at Peebler's, and save money.
Fred Doud, of Portland, is visiting in the city this week.
A great reduction in prices of goods at Read, Peacock & Co's.
F. L. Carman & Co have just received a large shipment of Gold Coin stoves and ranges.
M. D. Vaughan has opened a shoe shop in Dr. Courtney's brick. Mr. Vaughan is a fine workman, and we gladly welcome him to our midst.
L. L. Burtenshaw was out deer hunting this week in company with his wife, which resulted in proving Mrs. Burtenshaw to be a good shot. On reaching a favorable place Burtenshaw handed the gun to his wife while he went out with the dogs to run the deer around toward her. A deer ran by and Mrs. B. shot it and broke its neck. The animal proved to be a fine buck.—West Oregonian. The lady is a daughter-in-law of B. Burtenshaw of this place.
The Albany Democrat is at pains to say that the Oregonian "lied" when it stated that the democratic editor of the Cleveland Plaindealer appeared before the ways and means committee to ask for retention of duties on lead ores. Then the Democrat adds a quotation from the Plaindealer which shows that the editor of that paper stated that he "was not willing to have lead ores put on the free list." "It easy to lie," the Albany paper sentimentally remarks. It is, it is, indeed.—Oregonian.
A case of isolation and need has just come to the authorities. A lady with two children arrived here this morning from their home in the northwestern part of Lane county. One of the children, her youngest, is only a baby, while the eldest, who is also with her, is not much more than ten years of age. The father and four remaining children were left at their homestead, which is several miles from any neighborhood. Last winter the woman was seriously ill with inflammatory rheumatism and the husband, who is consumptive, managed to get to this place and procure a little assistance from the county court. His disease has been gradually growing worse since, but the mother and little children have worked what little land they have cleared and raised enough vegetables to last through the winter. They have no stock, no wheat, and no means with which to purchase flour and other necessities. The husband is too weak to travel, so the woman took the two children and started for the county seat to see what she could do. The first five miles they were obliged to travel over a mountain trail, that being their only outlet to a road this way. From there she caught chance rides until they arrived here. The county court will undoubtedly do something for the family.—Eugene Guard.
Shot Himself.
Last Monday evening our usually quiet little city was thrown into somewhat of an excitement, by the announcement that Andy Vall had shot himself. Mr. Vall, who lives in the west part of the city in Mr. Weeks' residence, got his rifle, which is a Colt's 44 calibre, and went out in the yard to the fence, which is a rail fence, about twenty steps from the door, and shot himself. The ball passed through the body, going through the left lung, barely grazing the heart, and coming out at the back, about an inch below the angle of the shoulder-blade. The ball shattered one rib as it passed through him, making an ugly as well as a dangerous wound. Mr. Vall says that the gun was accidentally discharged as he started to cross the fence, but a great many think it was a case of premeditated suicide. Dr. Courtney was called, and after examining the wound pronounced it fatal, but has done all in his power to save the wounded man. Dr. Lee, of Junction City, who is Mr. Vall's uncle, was called in consultation the next day, and also Dr. Lamberson. Mr. Vall is still living and rests reasonably well, but the doctor says his recovery is barely possible while he may live ten days.
Mr. Vall is a man about 30 years old, is an honest industrious man, and is generally thought well of by all who know him. He was born and raised near this place, and his parents are old pioneers. He has a wife and four children. Mr. Vall and family have the sympathy of the whole community.
Later.—Mr. Vall requested us to state that the shooting was purely accidental and all reports to the contrary were false.
As we go to press the doctor tells us that Mr. Vall is in a dying condition, and probably will not live till sundown.

With The Editors.
Last Thursday morning, accompanied by our better half, we stole away from our dreary duties for a few days-out and to enjoy the happy privilege of again meeting with the editors, who held their annual session in Portland. We arrived too late for the first day's session but were on hand the second day, which was Friday, Sept. 29th.
The association was called to order at 10:30 a. m., with about forty members present.
A resolution was passed that we invite the National Editorial Association to meet in Portland in 1895.
A resolution urging upon our representatives in congress the necessity of enacting a law requiring that land notices be published in some paper of general circulation which has been established not less than one year, was offered and adopted.
A resolution of thanks was tendered the railroads for transportation.
A resolution was passed, declaring it to be the sense of the association that a visit to the Midwinter fair should be made in January.
A resolution that all newspapers in the state in referring to Chinese or Mongolian pheasants hereafter designate them as Denny pheasants, in honor of O. N. Denny, to whom the honor of importing them is due, was unanimously passed.
The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with.
A committee left in the morning for Kalama, to meet the Washington association, which visited the Oregon association in a body.
At 3:30 the association adjourned subject to a call of the president.
After the meeting had been declared adjourned, Major Maguire, who walked from Canyon City to Chicago and back, came into the hall. President Eddy, in honor of the old man, called the meeting to order again, and introduced the major, who briefly stated that he wished to thank the press for the kindness it had shown him.
The Washington Press Association arrived at 5 p. m.
In the evening at the Marquam Grand, the Washington association was formally welcomed to Portland and Oregon by Captain George H. Moffet, on behalf of the city of Portland, and Pres. Eddy for the Oregon association. Mr. J. R. Buxton, of Winlock, responded in a happy vein, after which the vaudeville entertainment specially arranged for the editors and their families was given.
At 8 o'clock the next morning the U. P. placed a special train at our disposal to go to Hood River, where an excursion had been planned by the citizens of that thriving little city. In addition to the Oregon and Washington editors the party included General Passenger Agent Hurlburt, George F. Sergeant, sec. of state horticultural board, and F. T. Smith, horticultural commissioner for the South Australian Agricultural Society and correspondent for several Australian papers—in all about 125 persons. The train was in charge of Conductor Bennett, whose instructions were to proceed at the will of the guests.
The first stop was at the Multnomah falls, where about a quarter of an hour was spent in viewing this wonderful sight, as that magnificent body of water fell over 700 feet. Another brief stop was made at the Cascade locks, but as too much time had already been spent on the road, it was thought best to push on. The destination was reached at about 11:15, and the excursionists were given a warm greeting by the citizens. Hon. C. L. Smith, chairman of the reception committee, invited the party to the pavilion, a few blocks distant. At the pavilion a genuine surprise was in store for the editors. We had been given to understand that a kind of fair was being held there, but when we saw such a show of fine fruit and vegetables our delight was unbounded. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and in the center of the stage was the motto:
WELCOME.
There's a chiel among us takin' notes:
An' faith, he'll print them.
The exhibit of apples was simply wonderful. There were more than 100 varieties.
After viewing the pavilion for about an hour we were given a splendid dinner by the citizens, and after looking the city over we took our leave for Portland, arriving there about 5 o'clock.
At 7:30 we all assembled at the Marquam Grand, and marched in a body to the Exposition, where we were given a warm reception by the president of the exposition. After listening for a while to the fine music of Sig. Liberator's band, we then feasted our eyes on the grand sights of the fair until ten o'clock.

We then went to the Hotel Portland where a banquet had been arranged for the editors and their wives. Three long tables, fashioned into a big square-based capital U, were completely lined on either side with feasters when the orchestra struck up a tune of welcome, and the first course appeared. The Portland's chef had evidently expected a crowd of epicurean critics to discuss his handiwork, for he not only selected choice edibles, but cooked them in a most appetizing way. We remained there until two o'clock in the morning, eating and drinking good things, and listening to good music, and toasts.
At ten o'clock the next day—Sunday—the editors made an excursion to Oregon City. In the evening they attended church in a body.
Monday morning we departed for our homes, realizing in a great degree the advantage obtained by following the advice given in the Bible to forsake not the assembling of ourselves together.
Our Waterloo News.
Rainy weather and muddy roads are an earnest of what we may expect for the next few months.
The rains have had the effect of raising the river so as to cover the soda springs, and we are consequently obliged to drink plain water or beer.
The masquerade given here on the 29th of Sept. was well attended, and was a very enjoyable affair. Many of the costumes were elegant, and most of the characters well sustained. Taken altogether it was a decided success.
October opened with more than the regulation amount of excitement for our little town. There is reported an incipient law-suit which quashed itself for want of a foundation on which to stand, and a very meaty item in the shape of a forcible entry of the butcher shop on Monday night. Probably some one was unduly hungry.
Word reached here on Tuesday that a brother of Prof. T. L. Rice had shot himself, at or near Grant's Pass. The Professor left at once for that place. Your correspondent has no particulars.
Several of our citizens are in the mountains, enjoying the rainy days deer hunting. We hope they will be successful.
The Ministerial Convention of the Evangelical denomination will be held here this week, beginning on Thursday evening and lasting over Sunday. Several prominent clergymen are expected to be present.
Mr. Stiers has broken the ground, and will soon begin the erection of his new shop. It will be situated nearly opposite the post-office.
Atty. Stowe was seen on our streets the first of the week; but legal business does not last long in this burg, so he was not detained here long.
The grist-mill project is still an undecided question. It is understood that the required amount has been subscribed, and the arrival of Mr. Phillips is anxiously awaited to decide the matter and begin the work.
There are various rumors afloat as to what the W. D. Co. are going to do, but nothing more definite than rumors have been located as yet, and rumors are proverbially gaseous in their general make-up. X.
How to make the "mighty dollar" go a long ways—Go to Baker's and buy your boots and shoes, that have been cut down to hard times prices.
"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Bending, of Halsey, Oregon. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. For sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist.
Monday at about 10 a. m. Mr. J. A. Dean, the editor of the Populist newspaper of this city, died at his boarding place, the Pioneer House. He had been sick for several weeks, but it was thought was getting better, and his brother, who was with him last week, returned to his home in Coquille City. Mr. Dean had been in the newspaper business in Coos county for a number of years before coming here, and was in Portland for a few weeks. He leaves a son, 11 years old, who is said to be living in Yonella valley. He was highly esteemed by those who knew him, and was an industrious, hard working man. The funeral took place at two o'clock Tuesday.—Herald.