

We Need Our Money.

The editor of the EXPRESS wishes to impress the fact upon the minds of those who are behind on subscription and otherwise, that he needs every cent due him. We have borrowed money from year to year in order to continue our business, before we would insist upon it from those who owe us, but pay day is now near at hand, and we shall be compelled to either collect, or sacrifice what we have worked for these many years. The amounts due us are small, taking them severally, and you would not miss the money, but put these amounts together and they make several thousand dollars. Will or will not our friends help us out by paying up?

He chartered a flat car to bring the fixtures out on. J. C. Bilyeu's father is very sick, at his residence near Scio. Mr. Bilyeu and wife were over to see him the first of the week. The Electric Light Co. has several men at work putting in the new arc lights at the Baptist church and near Mr. Wasson's. If Grover had known how "my congress" was going to pan out he would have stuck to his fishing industry. —Corvallis Gazette. Johnny West returned to Lebanon the first of the week, from Lower Soda. His health is not as good as when he left, and he is now very low. The Port Townsend, Wash., nail works has secured the contract for furnishing the nails for the Mid-winter fair at San Francisco, at $8,500. Mr. Dell, the immigrant lately from Colorado who was accidentally injured while at Mr. Bland's, has rented W. J. Turnidge's residence. Send your name and address to Read Peacock & Co., Albany, Oregon, and mention the EXPRESS, they will mail you a fashion sheet free each month. A young couple from Waukegan, Ill., were married Tuesday afternoon over 250 feet in the air, at the top of the Ferris wheel, on the world's fair grounds. Miss McMeekin, a compositor on the Harrisburg Courier, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Swanck, near this place. The EXPRESS acknowledges a pleasant call from her. All of the hop dealers around Lebanon sold their hops this week at 17 and 17 1/2 cents. We hope this will make money more plentiful for awhile in this vicinity. Mr. I. Benjamin informed us that he was secretly married a few weeks ago, in Portland. He also says he is expecting a visit from a wrathful father-in-law most any time. An Alliance man of this town was heard to say that the only difference between Cleveland and Harrison was their different fishing places. It does look that way, just at present. Tuesday G. W. Spurling's nine-months old baby was tied into a chair and being rocked by its little sister, and was rocked over against the stove, burning its little face and hands badly. Dr. Booth was called and dressed the burns, and says they are not serious. More hops will be set out around Lebanon during this coming winter than ever before. Hop land is strictly in demand now when any land is. It seems as if people are determined to have beer, whether bread is in demand or not, judging from the comparative prices of hops and wheat. J. A. Lamberson bought this week for Geo. Pope & Co. a number of bales of hops, at an average price of 17 1/2 cts. per lb., amounting to $7,891. This will be quite a help to this vicinity. Verily the hop business is a good one, as they command a good price when wheat, oats and wool are lower than ever before known.

A great reduction in prices of goods at Read, Peacock & Co.'s. Atty's Garland and Stone & Somers are all in Albany this week attending court. All persons knowing themselves indebted to M. A. Miller will please call and settle at once. The Midwinter fair grounds are already called the Palm city, owing to their tropical character. Bach and wife left Tuesday for Salem, to visit friends and relatives for a few days. It is like going back home for them to visit Salem. How to make the "mighty dollar" go a long ways—Go to Baker's and buy your boots and shoes, that have been cut down to hard times prices. C. W. Cobb now has charge of the New Era, in Groesbeck, Texas, a paper he published for five years before coming to this country. We wish him success. Rev. N. J. Bryans and wife are still continuing their meetings in the Methodist Church, South, and are having good success and a crowded house every night. The school clerk has posted notices announcing that there will be a meeting of the voters of this district, on Nov. 4, to elect a school clerk to fill the unexpired term of C. H. Ralston. F. L. Carman & Co. have quite a novelty in their window, in the way of a mouse tread-wheel, and have several mice on it. It has attracted considerable attention from both young and old. When the news of the surrender of the silver men in the senate was received in Wall street it found the market with a strong upward tendency, which became a rush, resulting in a decided advance. H. J. Boyd advertised that Tuesday of this week he would take pictures of babies free. On that day there were forty-eight babies brought to the gallery, and at one time there were twelve waiting. This shows the advantages of advertising. Secretary of Agriculture Morton is being "roasted" by the grangers and the populists because in a recent address he said: "Among the most dangerous and insidious foes that the American farmer had to contend with are the granges and the alliances. The professional farmer is always a menace to the practical farmer." Capt. N. B. Humphrey walks the streets of Pendleton glad to be again in a country where God's sunlight shines alike on the just and the unjust for the greater part of the time. The captain looks better than for years before. He prescribed to a cadaverous looking youth who talked with him, unlimited quantities of egg-nog, saying that it had saved his own life and brought him to robust health. Some of our young men who have not the cash to purchase their fall clothing ought to organize a militia company and the state will furnish them a brass-buttoned outfit for nothing. At Albany a company has just been organized in new attire from top to toe, including a nobby overcoat. In this manner pauperism is given an air of respectability and the boys can dress up at the state's expense without blushing.—Corvallis News. It is generally supposed that there is one editor in Heaven. How he got there is not positively known but it is conjectured that he passed himself off as a minister or rode in on the blind baggage. When the trick was discovered they searched the realms of felicity in all their length and breadth for a lawyer to draw up the ejectment papers, but not one could be found, and so the editor held the fort.—Channing Dispatch. One night recently fourteen tramps were lodged in the city jail at Eugene. When the city marshal turned them out the next morning he informed them that he could give one of them a permanent situation with a first-class farmer, at the rate of $1 per day and board. They all refused the employment offered, saying they wanted to go to California. There are probably few of the tramps that would work under any condition.

B. S. Roberts, agent for the Albany Steam Laundry, now sends clothing down on Mondays and Thursdays. We think the suggestion made by Mayor Miller, to divide the town into wards and elect six councilmen instead of four, a good proposition, and hope to see the council make the change before the coming election. All parties indebted to Ersson & Messias for wine, will take notice that one cent per lb. and interest will be added after Oct. 1. These are the conditions we will have to comply with and we don't wish to slight our customers. Ed Pendleton, editor of the West Side, published at Independence, has cut off the most of his exchange list, in order to reduce expenses. We have heard of editors doing a great many things to curtail expenses, but this is the first time we ever heard of cutting off exchanges to save money. Much regret will be felt at losing Mr. A. E. Pike and family from Albany. Mr. Pike has for a number of years held the position of head miller at the Red Crown mills to the satisfaction of everybody, and has made many warm friends in Albany. He goes to Spokane to accept a like position in the mills there.—Herald. Mr. John A. Crawford, Albany's millionaire citizen, was passing along near the postoffice yesterday morning when a heavy scuffling from an awning which was being removed by workmen from the Odd Fellows building, fell with a crash upon the pavement by his side, narrowly missing his head. It was a close call, and it was very fortunate that no harm was done.—Herald. Messrs. Chas. Beadle and E. G. Smith, of Eugene, have closed a contract with Dr. Davis, of Harrisburg, for a five years' lease of his hop yard near Harrisburg. The yard comprises 75 acres in good condition. They pay to Mr. Davis as rent one-fourth of the crop each year, which will amount to 25,000 pounds. They retain ten acres near Eugene, giving them 85 acres of hops to care for next year. "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. J. LaGrange, druggist, Avoca, Neb. 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist. Born, eight pigs one year ago, twelve pigs seven months ago, and eleven pigs two months ago, to the same white China sow, the property of Lee Henkle. After feeding them on 46-cent wheat only two weeks, the eight pigs were marketed Monday and brought $64.85. With $64.85 cash on hand, twenty-three pigs and the original stock, who can say that crops ever fail in Oregon, and that hog raising don't pay.—Times. "During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Bending, of Halsey, Oregon. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. For sale by M. A. Miller, Druggist. We received an interesting communication from Foster last week, too late for publication, but owing to the writer not having signed his name it would not have been published any way. We would very much like to have a correspondent from Foster, Sweet Home and several other places, and will send the correspondent the EXPRESS, paper and envelopes. The real name of the writer must accompany all communications, as well as the nom de plume, not for publication but that we may know who is the writer and to show good faith. On Tuesday several of the mill firm, including Ed. Goins, were repairing the dam, and Mr. Goins was engaged in trying to push some drift out of the way. By some means he lost his balance, and took a leap into the water. He knew it was going to be a cold reception, and the boys say he grunted before he struck the water. He didn't remain in any longer than necessary. We were under the impression that the Salvation Army did not consider immersion necessary as a religious rite, but our good natured friend Goins had to take his dip, he couldn't help it.—Scio Press.

Wanted For Hops. Brownsville has a genuine sensation, and the people of that usually quiet town are enraged and threaten summary vengeance if the object of their anger is arrested. From the Eugene Guardian we learn the following particulars: One Dr. J. D. Spongle is charged with having committed an outrageous crime of rape upon Mrs. M. F. Wyatt, in that city last Saturday morning while under the influence of chloroform, Spongle having given the same under the pretense of performing a surgical operation. The lady claims that she was only partially under the influence of the anesthetic and was aware of the heinous crime being committed but was unable to prevent it. She at once informed friends and they went into the country about four miles distant and summoned her husband, who was working on his farm. He armed himself with a shotgun and immediately went in search of the doctor, but that individual before the arrival of the maddened husband had placed his belongings into his buggy and left for this city. Spongle arrived about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and after placing his team in the livery stable, registered and engaged a room in the Hoffman House. Wyatt immediately left Brownsville in pursuit of the man who had so criminally wronged him, arriving here about 8 o'clock the same afternoon, and went to the hotel at once to search for the doctor, who caught a glimpse of Wyatt and decamped from the hotel. Since that hour no trace has been found of the individual, although Sheriff Noland and deputies have been searching for him. If the man Wyatt had used good judgment and informed the sheriff before proceeding to the hotel the wily doctor would have been easily captured. Mr. Wyatt left for his home this morning, but the officers here will continue the search. Parties acquainted in Brownsville inform us that Mrs. Wyatt has been an invalid for a number of years and bears an excellent reputation for virtue and chastity and is respected by all. Mr. Wyatt was security on a note given by the doctor for $50, and had every confidence in his probity. Spongle had been a resident of Brownsville for only a few months. The Hop Industry. The hop industry in this part of the country seems to be winning ground, says the Brownsville Times, especially near Brownsville. Notwithstanding the fact that this city for several miles around is a network of hop yards, during the week two tracts of five acres each have been leased for a term of five years, and will, next year, add figures to the number of bales of hops produced in this community. A number of our enterprising citizens are now contemplating the organization of a company to own and operate several large hop yards at this place. They have already priced about 100 acres of land, but as yet done nothing definite. Each day that goes by adds something that means dollars and cents to the future welfare of one of the most prosperous cities on the Pacific coast. It signifies something, and if there is a cry of hard times next year in this part of Lincoln county, we predict that there will be something "rotten in Denmark." Out of Debt. It has been reported that the city was in debt to a considerable amount. On investigating the matter we find that when the present council took charge the city was over $300 behind, and they have paid that off, paid for all the light and water, kept everything up and now only owe something less than $40, and by the time their term is out will probably have paid that off and also leave some money in the treasury. The best part of it is they will have done it all without having levied any tax. R. S. Applegate, an old pioneer who had been lost in the mountains for three days, was found dead about eight miles from Drain, in the mountains, last Thursday. He left Drain to go to Elkton to purchase some goats, and was returning home through the mountains when he met his death. Three days after he left Elkton his horse returned to the place where he started from, and parties started out at once to look for him, and found him dead. The cause is not as yet known. He was a son of Jesse Applegate, one of the first settlers in the Umpqua valley. A good light second-hand buggy and harness for sale at a bargain. Inquire at the EXPRESS office.
