

Lebanon Express.

H. Y. KIRKPATRICK,

Editor - and - Proprietor.

The administration seems bent on repealing the democratic party, says one of our exchanges.

The yellow fever not only rages at Brunswick, Georgia, but in Lombard and Wall streets.—Roeburg Review.

"Mr. Cleveland is wrecking his party," says the Evening Telegram. What party actually is Cleveland's party, anyhow?

Fortunately for Oregon, the hop crop has made a good yield this season and has commended a good price. Probably there has been more money realized in Oregon on hops this year than from all other sources combined. It has been the one refreshing stream of money supply in the great Sahara of industrial depression.

The forty bespangled damsels in the Plaisance "beauty" show can soon return to Paris, [Ky.], Egypt, [Ill.], Swedenborg, [Minn.], and other foreign ports.—Salem Democrat.

The visitors to the Mid-winter fair are to have the pleasure of beholding these beauties, and can use their own judgment in guessing as to how many of them are from foreign countries.

The Astorian expresses the right idea when it says: "Prisoners should not be pardoned out of the Oregon penitentiary or any other penitentiary on the condition that they leave the state. If they are likely to be dangerous to society in this state, they will be the same elsewhere; and it is an imposition on other states to send them there. If they are worthy of executive clemency at all, they are worthy of a residence in our own state, and should be allowed to live here if they so desire."

More cranks are showing up since Carter Harrison's assassination. On Monday one shot Supt. Matthews, of the new Postal telegraph building, in New York city. Another called on Edwin Gould, at Gould's office in New York, Monday afternoon, and demanded $5000 or a straight tip on the market. Gould was prepared for him and asked him to sit down while he got the money from a safe. The crank did as requested, and Gould stepped to a side door and summoned Detective Clark, who took the visitor in charge. Rev. Dr. Parkhurst declares that his life has been threatened, and says he has even been informed as to the way in which he is to die. A crank in Oregon has been arrested, who has been writing letters of advice to Governor Penoyer and the "Government of Portland and of Oregon." He expressed an opinion that Senator Mitchell ought to be killed. He also thinks he would make a good president. It is to be hoped that no more assassinations will occur.

We saw a letter to-day from a well-known Umatilla county farmer, says the Evening Telegram, which gives a deplorable picture of affairs among the farmers of Eastern Oregon. The wheat has been harvested and is piled up at all the stations, but there are very few buyers and the offers are at prices which do not compensate for the cost of raising the grain. This particular farmer was lucky in harvesting his crop without damage by rain. He stored it in the warehouse, and has sold 1000 bushels at 33 cents, which represents an actual loss. But he says he was compelled to sell in order to realize some money with which to pay his harvest hands. There is absolutely no sale for the damaged grain, and many of the farmers are without means of paying the cost of harvesting the crop. With no market for either wheat or wool the farmers are absolutely without resources. And yet our wise men at Washington, under the leadership of the president, think we have too much money and propose to cut of the supply. There isn't a farmer in Oregon but would be glad to take silver dollars in exchange for every pound of his wheat or wool.

The official life of the world's fair has ended. The total paid attendance from the opening to the close was 21,458,910.

That perfectly fossilized specimen, at Lebanon that there is a call for an ordinance providing punishment of fungous growth: "The Statesman could dispose of a large quantity of moss from its back, of the best quality, too, if density was the quality desired." From "its back of the best quality" is good and shows that the scissors of the Express knows a good thing when it sees it. Not only is the back of the Statesman of the best quality, but the backbone as well. In fact, the Statesman is of a superior quality clear through.—Salem Statesman.

The above article from the Statesman is quoted verbatim, including all mistakes (typographical and otherwise), and speaks for itself. Brother editor of the Statesman, when you quote from this paper we would be pleased to have you do us more justice than you did in the second quotation in the above article; please do as much as quote whole phrases, and also do not change punctuation.
