SO FAR WRONG.

desperate times, with all of universal depression shadowing the land, with notices of sales of property and taxes filling column upon column in our county papers, taxes that the poor owners cannot meet, with our wives and children insufficiently clad, the little savings of the community and of many communities besides Lebanon absorbed by dishonest and reckless bankers, it is absolutely refreshing to read the proceedings of the various so-called boards of trade and chambers of commerce throughout the country, notably the adjourned meeting of the chamber of commerce of Portland held on last Saturday, Jan. 6, 1894, at their palatial rooms in that city. These dainty kid gloved gentry who seem to know as little of the destitution of the wage earning masses and the small property holders as they do of fairness of discussion, whereas and resolved Governor Pennoyer's Christmas letter to the president into eternal oblivion. The industrial view with righteous indignation the squelching by the chamber of commerce of Portland the attempt by Ex-Mayor Van DeLashmutt to set before that august(?) body the facts and figures of the actual destitution existing in and around Portland. By that very suppression of facts, or attempted suppression, the industrial classes are now asking what does it all mean? The consensus of opinion in this vicinity seems to be strongly against the chamber of commerce of Portland and most decidedly in favor of Governor Pennoyer.

Lebanon county is exceptionally a fine one. Many of our farmers are in opulent circumstances, while great many of the new comers are comparatively poor. The general depression of prices of farm products affects the latter to an absolutely pitiable degree. Their crops have not paid the cost of cultivation, harvesting and threshing. Their store bills are necessarily unpaid. Merchants cannot extend credit to them. No labor for money can be had by them. Their taxes become delinquent, their property perhaps already levied on by the sheriff. Their wives and children are insufficiently clad. While it is true they can work on their little farms so long as the sheriff allows them to remain in possession, yet if their pitiful condition is not actual destitution, it approximates it very nearly.

Our little city of Lebanon is beautifully situated, surrounded by a fertile country as God's sun ever shines on. Its 1500 inhabitants are as happy and prosperous under ordinary conditions as any people in Oregon, but the bulk of its trade and prosperity depends very largely on the prosperity of the farming community. Anything that depresses them militates against the wage earners and the general business of the town, and instead of the busy hum of industry in all the trades in this place so noticeable two years ago, we find everything in a measure paralyzed, with the exception perhaps of the magnificent paper mill of Messrs. Ross & Callaghan, the extensive saw mill owned by Myers & Co. and one or two others, in payment to perhaps a few of these. The wages of Lebanon are remunerative, but the miserably mismanaged and overworked laborer in the

It will never be good times for merchants while laborers are idle.

If a man drops a piece of bread on the floor, he throws it away. If he drops a piece of tobacco in the mud, he wipes it on his pants and puts it in his mouth.

Genuine principle should be respected wherever found, even though mistaken. The demagogue who rides the masses whom he pretends to lead is the man who makes us tired.

The Salem Statesman issued a magnificent 24-page New Year's issue which is a credit to the capital city, as well as to the editors. The Statesman is one of the best papers that reaches our desk, and well deserves the support it receives.

In the house Wednesday Maguire introduced a bill to reimburse Oregon, California and Nevada for money expended by them in the suppression of the rebellion. Under the bill these states will receive: Oregon, $335,182; California, $50,951,915; Nevada, $404,040.

Do not take the advice of those who crows against the prosperity of their own city and its institutions. If they were in the Garden of Eden, surrounded by all the luxuries of that famous land, with angels to do their bidding, they would be the same restless, discontented, unhappy, dyspeptic, hypochondriacal, incorrigible creatures that they now are. Nothing can be done with such individuals. Their disease is chronic, their case is hopeless, and the best that can be done is to shed the sympathetic tear over them and abandon them to their mournful fate as being beyond the reach of human skill.
