A plan is on foot to prevent counterfiting the Grand Army button and its THE REV. SAM DRIVER.

The Bee, of Sacramento, Cal., has the following to say about a man who is well known throughout this part of the country: "The sudden departure of a popular minister with about $1,000 of borrowed money in his pockets, the desertion of his wife and several children and the simultaneous disappearance of an attractive widow, form the scandal which is raging in the foothill town of Placerville. About eight months ago Rev. S. M. Driver arrived in Placerville to take the pastorate of the Methodist Episcopal church there. He was about 45 years of age, smoothe shaven and good looking. accompanied to his new field by his wife and four children. The pastor about a week ago expressed to his friends a desire to go to a Methodist conference which was soon to begin in another part of state. It was these representations which enabled him to borrow in sums ranging from $10 to $500, something in the neighborhood of $1000. Reports differ as to the aggregate. A week ago Monday the pastor left, presumably for the conference. It was soon discovered that the widow had flown after him. He has written from Lodi, San Josquin county, to the church officers, resigning the pastorate, and the office has been declared vacant. It is said he will be brought back and prosecuted. He leaves his family destitute and his 18year-old daughter is at death's door is a result of the scandal. He had low with cancrous affection. charge of a small church in stockton for a year up to last September, when he was transferred to Placerville, very much against his will. He is an able man, and in Eastern Oregon had a great reputation as a builder churches. He is a son of Rev. L. D. Driver, at present of Eugene. As a young man, Sam Driver was very lively and took an active part in demo cratic politics in Oregon, working with Bill Watkins, also a successful politician. His first wife left him with a small child. After a few years he went to a camp meeting in Benton county, was reformed and there met his present wife, who was then a handsome girl of 19 years. After their marriage she shaped his course and led him into the ministry. He was very successful and was a presiding elder in Eastern Oregon for a long

High Waters in Portland.

First and Front streets were points of great interest and attraction to hundreds of citizens this week. For a distance of several blocks, Front street was under the dominion of water and looked like a lagoon. For the time being, the Willamette asserted herself in an unmistakable manner, Since Sunday the volume of water has steadily increased, until the flood has encroached on the confines of Front street and then reached to embrace First street. The water at the foot of Stark street indicates a height of 25.8 feet and the river is steadily rising. To those doing business along the water front, this altitude is fraught with significance. It simply means that first floors must be abandoned. and all stocks must be removed, without delay, one story hight. All along Front street a very busy and exciting seene is being enacted. There crowds of men and many teams, and no end has brought an injunction suit to splashing and wading about. All the merchants on the east side of Front street are very busily engaged in the removal of all goods that can be damaged by water. No damage has

He is the friend of the people and I will also vote for that tall crooked-footed fellow they call "Wid" because unless Whitney has helped in the senate, he can do nothing. In fact, it is necessary that we have a full legislative ticket". There will be many republicans who will vote for Patterford county commissioner, and many democrats will vote for Morris for Treasurer but with few exceptions each party will poll strictly a party vote, and the people's party, republicans and democrats are very evenly divided; there will be about 230 votes cast and 80 will be about the strongest vote east. Save Your Ashes. The Medford Mail says wood ashes are worth from $22 to $40 per ton for use for fertilizers in the eastern states, yet you can find an ash pile in the rear of nearly every farmhouse in this country. They|are worth just as much to farmers here as they are in New York and Pennsylvania. If properly used they will return to you their value in crops. They are particularly rich in the elements that contribute to the growth of fruit. Many of these apparently trival matters are the leaks that take away the profits of the farm and cause the farmers to announce that "farming don't pays" Poor farming don't pay, nor ever will.

How to Keep Ice

A very simple but little known method of keeping ice is to draw a piece of thick flannel tightly over some deep yessle, like a bowl, for instance, and fasten it there. The ice is placed on top of this drumhead and covered loosely by another piece flannel. this condition the ice keeps cold and even freezes to the flannel. Thus a small piece of ice can be kept a long time. To break the ice a sharp needle or hat pin is the best thing. Force it in and you will be astonished to see how easily it will divide the ice.
