

Down in South Carolina political campaigns are red hot. They do not discuss tariff and silver, but they talk about each other. At present a campaign is on and the principals are General Butler, the present United States senator, and Governor Tillman. Here is the language used by the governor to one in the audience who had said he took Butler's insults: "I did and I will tell you why, you cowardly hound, and I will meet you whenever you want. I took them because I am governor of South Carolina and cannot afford to create a riot on the public platform." The man looked daggers at the governor and said he would not allow anybody to speak to him that way. A number of men caught hold of him and things began to look threatening, and the ladies rushed off. The governor called them back, saying that nobody would be hurt and that "the few little puppies barking around here can have their tails and necks both cut off if they want to." Later Mr. John Dunnivant, of Chester, crawled upon the stage from the rear and leaning over the railing, told the governor he wanted to ask him a question. The chairman and several marshals called on him to get down before he could ask his question. Dunnivant insisted on putting his question, but friends and foes gathered around him and prevented it. People began to run to the rear of the stage. Dunnivant declared that if Tillman told him to go he would not move. The governor replied that he did not know who the man was, but if there was any law in Chester he ought to be taken to jail. The Tillmanites clustered around Dunnivant and shouted "kill him." Serious trouble was now imminent. Dunnivant was icily cool, declaring that he just wanted to ask a question and that he was not going to be taken off by anybody. In this emergency General Butler showed his mettle. He had rushed down to where the squabbling was going on and succeeded in getting Dunnivant and his opponents to desist. Continuing his speech Governor Tillman said that General Butler may just as well understand that such unseemly and disgraceful conduct is not going to phase him one iota. "He is the best man. I am not. I am not going to be intimidated. They have talked so much about killing me that I think I am going to live as long as the Lord intends me to." These are mere incidents in the campaign. They occur at every meeting and are expected. Later on the cutting and shooting will come. A man must be a real man in South Carolina, for a coward is not likely to live long unless he is exceedingly quiet. Ben Tillman may not suit the boudoir, but he has the quality that answers for his other shortcomings—courage.—Ex.

We predict that the new salary law will prove a success as soon as the people become accustomed to it. The next session of the legislature should reduce the fees very materially, but no other change is needed. While it is sometimes a little unhandy to pay fees in advance, there is one good argument in favor of it. Many lawsuits that would be instituted under the old system, will not be brought since the litigants have to pay the court in advance. This feature of the law makes it unpopular with the lawyers, but it will keep many uncalled for suits from being brought. The salary law should be retained.—Roseburg Review.

There was a pathetic scene in a St. Paul courtroom the other day when the judge pronounced the death sentence on two beardless boys, one of them 19 and the other 20 years of age, who had been convicted of murder in the first degree. They had entered a saloon one night for the purpose of robbery and when the bartender refused to surrender the cash they shot him. There were no mitigating circumstances except the youthfulness of the criminals, and when this was pleaded in extenuation, Judge Kerr said: "It is pitiful that persons so young should have become so hardened in crime, but it is part of the history of crime in this age and country that among the most heartless, bloodthirsty and cruel murders of the day are young men no older than these defendants. The time has gone by, if it ever existed, when that can be called an exceptional circumstance." And thereupon the judge proceeded to pronounce sentence of death.

PULLMAN is filling his car shop with foreigners, after having cut the wages of the American workmen so low that they can no longer support their families upon the pittance he deigns to allow them. At the same time plutocratic newspapers like the Oregonian howl for the prohibition of foreign immigration in order to fool the public. The mine owners and manufacturers are mainly responsible for bringing the hordes of pauper laborers to this country in order to force down the standard of wages, and now, if they are reaping the whirlwind in the shape of riots and wanton destruction of property their harvest is perfectly legitimate. When the organs of the rich, like the Oregonian, call for the suspension of foreign immigration, it is only a hypocritical demand for a reform that it feels assured cannot be accomplished.—Roseburg Review.

The Ultimatum has gone forth that the railway shops on the Wyoming and Idaho divisions of the Union Pacific, which were closed July 2, will not be opened for general repair work until business revives and there is a demand for motive power. The decision is a great disappointment to hundreds of employees and will paralyze business in all division towns on the system between Cheyenne and Portland. The men fully realize the trouble which has been brought upon by Debs and his union. Hundreds of men will endeavor to secure employment elsewhere, many having already availed themselves of the free transportation offered by officials to enable them to reach terminal points.

This nation would be very unlike all others if it did not have its periods of woe. Such a period is now on. Beginning with a trade depression it was quickly followed by bank failures in every part of the land, these in turn were followed by merchantile failures and the locking up of capital. On the heels of this came the "Industrial armies" and train-stealing in California and the West, as a side issue. Then came the floods both local and general, and the nesty caterpillar invasion to liven up matters. Last but not least these wretched coal and railroad strikes to effect, in a more less extent, every business man in the land. There will be an end, and an amicable one it is hoped, even of this trouble, the quarrel between labor and capital. It is well to remember these lines:

"For Romans in Rome's quarrel, Spared neither land nor gold, Nor man nor wife, nor limb nor life In the brave days of old! These, none were for a party, But all were for the State, And the rich man helped the poor, And the poor man loved the great!" —The Tomahawk.

The house committee has agreed to an appropriation of $100,000 with which to pay the Indian depredation claims. The Western members wanted $500,000 and hope to induce the senate to raise it to that figure when the bill goes before that body.

The latest story is that Debs, of the A. R. U., took the Keeley cure and afterward became a hard drinker again, resulting in unsettling his mind. This is not a likely story, because the strike leader has shown himself a shrewd manager, despite his apparent defeat.

The flood has its compensations. There is more money in circulation in Portland today than there was a month ago, and it is circulating among people who can't hoard it. The flood brought many an old stocking out of its hiding place and emptied its contents into the laps of the people who needed it.—Telegram.

The strike at Sacramento has been declared off and the rush for places will begin. There, as here, it appears that the Southern Pacific will protect the men who came to its aid in an emergency, accepting strikers to fill vacancies only and refusing to discharge men to make room for them. This is the only just, fair and prudent course.—Oregonian.

The Baltimore Sun calls attention to the fact that wheat sold for one cent a pound in the Baltimore market last week, while oats sold for one and one-half cents a pound and oats selling for 50 per cent more than wheat, is something probably unprecedented.

The strikers have lost every point they could hope to gain. Debs and the other leaders have lost nothing, for they draw the same salary whether their subjects have employment or not.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for the diseases for which it is intended and he knows it. It is on sale by N. W. Smith, druggist.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freeman House, Middleburg, N. Y. on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by N. W. Diabetes Cured!

Wonderful Work.

A New Being Created!

Dear Sir: If you could see the writer of this letter and note the wonderful change that has been effected in his case by taking Dr. Grant's Kidney and Liver Cure, you would certainly be astonished. I was a most wretched sufferer for three years, trying all kinds of medicine and getting no relief. The flow of urine was very excessive. I was very constipated and also covered with carbuncles, and felt at war with myself and the world at large; but, thanks to your wonderful medicine, I felt as though I was a new being, and I consider a wonderful cure has been effected in my case. With my best wishes for your further success, I remain Yours respectfully, A. McDONALD, Ashland, Wis. For sale by M. A. Miller.

Last June, Crawford brought his twelve month old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and being sickly, everything ran through it like water through a sieve. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used, a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy. J. T. MARLOW, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. For sale by N. W. Smith, druggist.

Was Saved His Life!

Marvelous Cure!

HARNEY, OREGON, April 30, '96. Dear Sir: About a year ago I was laid up with rheumatism. I was in a terrible state. I could not turn over in bed without assistance. As there was no physician in Harney I tried various liniments, but they all failed. When my condition was very serious, as the pain seemed to be striking near the heart, your agent came along and had a bottle of Congo Oil. Hearing I was ill with rheumatism, he called upon me, and brought a bottle of Congo Oil. He commenced rubbing me with it, and in half an hour I was able to swing my feet out of bed, and one hour I was down stairs. He left the bottle with me and I applied it several times. From that day to this I have not been troubled with rheumatism. I feel that I owe my life to the wonderful oil. All this can be verified by Fred Haines, of Harney, also the landlord of the hotel and several others. I always carry a bottle of Congo Oil in my grip now. Yours very truly, C. H. NORTON, Assayer Burns, Harney Co., Oregon. Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle. For sale by M. A. Miller.

Scrofula Cured.

Twenty-seven Years.

Suffered all the time and sores constantly breaking out—Used Eleven Bottles of Dr. Grant's Sarsaparilla and Grape Root and Effectuated a Cure. Dear Sir: Ever since my eleventh year I have been sorely afflicted with Scrofula, sores breaking out on various parts of my body. The plans of my physicians, the most afflicted, I have done and tried many physicians, but their medicines did not seem to do me any good. About seven ago I commenced taking Dr. Grant's Sarsaparilla and Grape Root and in ten days the first sore was doing me no harm; and on until I had taken 25 bottles, and am now completely cured, and have never felt so well in the 27 years seven years. It certainly was a most marvelous cure, as the total cost of the medicine was only $5.50. I now cordially recommend Dr. Grant's Sarsaparilla as the King of Blood Purifiers. A. G. STEVENS, Rib Lake, Wis. 6 bottles $2.50. For sale by M. A. Miller.
