STATE AND COAST.

Taken From Our Exchanges Throughout the Northwest.

A bonus of $25,000 is asked at Pendleton for a distillery. They will try to raise it.

There is some talk of having a state militia encampment at Salem during the fair next month.

The Pendleton scouring mill is threatened with an injunction and damage suit concerning the disposal of its waste water.

Including Salem has just recovered $4,314.38 from Marion county, by a supreme court decision on a long-standing controversy.

According to the reports of the Yamhill County Horticultural Association, the number of acres in fruit in that county is 2,797.

Extensive preparations are being made for the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans assembly at Mehama on August 21, 22 and 23.

Cottage Grove has let a contract for a water system to cost $5,000. A reservoir will be constructed and the system will combine gravity and pumping.

Steps were taken Wednesday night by the Odd Fellows at Woodburn to form a stock company for the building of a hall in a brick building now being erected.

The Gilmore Water & Electric Light Company has been organized, with a capital of $30,000, to supply water, light and power to Independence and Mouth.

The Klamath Falls Express says that Arthur Langell has the best wild hay crop on his extensive hay ranch at Langell valley he has had for years.

Re says: "I will have at least 1000 tons more than I can put up."

The hop growers of Lane county met in Eugene Saturday and among other things decided to pay for picking 35 cents a box for 8-bushel boxes. Yard men will get $1 a day and board of $1.50 and board themselves.

Trespass notices are not necessary in order to create a trespass. If you on a man's property it is trespass and he can make it typical for you if he desires, and doesn't have to go to the trouble of putting up a notice to that effect.

Since July 1, 1894, the several county officers have been receiving fixed salaries instead of fees. The people who foot the bills will soon see which is the more economical plan.

A rich strike has been made in the California mine, formerly the "City Ledge," in the Behemia district, belonging to the Behemia Gold Mill & Mining Company. This company has run a 400-foot tunnel 350 feet, and will soon tap a large vein of free-milling gold quartz.

Three young sea gulls were captured on the Willamette, far up the valley, a few days ago. These birds followed up both Willamette and Columbia and have been seen in Eastern Oregon on the latter stream. They are good scavengers and should never be destroyed.

Two tons of coal from the Roxy Ann mine, the recent discovery in Rogue river valley, have been taken to Medford and the coal is being retailed at 50 cents a hundred pounds. A tunnel has been run 20 feet on the vein which is six feet thick. The coal is said to be bituminous.

Mahlon Jackson and Charles Herman, two inmates of the Curry county infirmary, had a duel with knives last week over a dispute about work. One was cut in five places. He had the other arrested, but as he himself appeared to have been the instigator, no punishment was administered to either.

It is said that George Ellis, who works a placer mine on Starveout, according to the Roseburg review, picked up a nugget a few weeks ago valued at $338, that him and his partner washed out $400 in one week. It is also reported that Pat O'Shea, who owns the old Dwelley claim near Green Mountain, is taking out $100 a day.

The Governor has issued a proclamation warning people about setting fires. "In accordance with the provisions of an act of the legislative assembly of the state of Oregon, passed at its 17th regular session, entitled: 'An act to protect timber and other property from fire, I do hereby make proclamation, calling the attention of the people of the state to its provisions and warning all persons against violating the same.'"

Last year, in many parts of the state, farmers finding that the price for wheat did not pay, concluded to feed their crops to hogs, and sell the pork in the market. The experiment proved a success, and it was found that wheat fed pork was as good as any raised in the corn districts of the western states. Why not try the same experiment this year if we have forty-cent wheat.

One prominent farmer here is talking about striking. He says it takes his work and three good horses a year's hard work to raise a thousand bushels of wheat and after seed is taken out and fifty dollars for the thrashing he has less than three hundred dollars for the year's hard work to feed himself and team, and it won't do it. This is as bad as the Pullman men kicked about and is time the farmers went out on a strike too.—Journal.

Mr. Corbett, assistant cashier of the First National bank, of Portland, passed through Prineville Tuesday morning. Mr. Corbett is attended by a number of boys, sons of prominent citizens of Portland, out for recreation and for the purpose of learning by experience some of the hardships and privations of camp life. The ages of the boys range from 7 to 18 years. They travel on horseback, attended by a mess wagon and cook. They have been out six weeks all are sunburnt and enjoying their outing finely.—Prineville News.

The insurance adjusters who have been out at Klamath Falls looking after the losses from the recent fires, will recommend that the companies cancel all policies issued by them on property in that place, says the Express: "Within the past two years this town has had three big fires, with losses aggregating $50,000; and it is pretty generally understood that in some cases incendiaries have been at work. Should insurance be withdrawn, the town will take steps to procure fire protection."

The jawbones of the great 90 foot whale which was cast upon the beach at Newport last winter are now being bled in the sand, and are to be used to form an archway to the hotel Monterey near Big Creek. It will be one of the most unique entrances to a hotel that has ever been. Everybody who goes to Newport now has a great curiosity to see the bones of the monster that was found there. It will be remembered that this animal produced some 500-gallons of oil when it was worked up. Each of the whale's jawbones is 20 feet long.

According to the report sent to a daily paper, people up in Goldendale who didn't like an "exhibition" given in that town wanted to kill the exhibition, and were with difficulty prevented from doing so. This might be a good example to set if the law would approve of it, as it would thin out an annoying class of peripathetic persons, yet the fiercer anger of the Goldendale people is scarcely justifiable. When people go to see a fakir's performance, and don't get their money's worth, they should simply smile and say nothing.

An exchange has the following as the remarks of a preacher just prior to the passing of the last: "Before the steward takes up collection, I would like to make a few remarks. There are 200 persons in this house, counting sinners and saints, crooked and straight. If each person here thinks my sermon worth the price of a glass of beer or a stogie cigar, let them pay that amount. If each pays a nickel, it will make a total of ten dollars this evening. This repeated every day in the year would pay my salary. A sermon that isn't worth a nickel, isn't worth coming to hear, and a person that will beat the Lord, the preacher or the printer, is a goat of older the most odoriferous."

WATERLOO NOTES.

Many men and women of note were here last Sunday.

Rev. Holman, of Lebanon, held services in the L. E. Church last Sabbath.

Elder Holt, of the Latter Day Saints is holding services nightly in a tent on the public square. Much interest is being manifest in his meetings. In fact this is the only religion that could have any effect in a community as fanatical as this. Another feature seldom found in the churches of the day, is the absence of the contribution box. This may be the most attractive feature; we know it is a weighty one with the writer. Few represent Paul and labor with their own hands in these degenerate days.

Where all the campers come from still remains a mystery. Bill Nye could find food for years of writing in viewing for one day the different conveniences that are used by the summer outer on his outing.

Mrs. Norace Kern has been engaged to teach the ensuing term of school in the Waterloo College. The board have made a wise selection and one that gives entire satisfaction. Only one room will be used for school purposes. We suppose one will be given to the literary society and Tad Kern says the upper rooms have been leased to a gentleman from Portland to run a shooting gallery in. Where are the men today who planned the magnificent lumber heap? One is sunning on a squirrel ranche, one is running a saw-mill, one has gone to Portland to swindle honest men again, one comes to town once a week just to see, we suppose, how fast the town is being depopulated. Who will pay for the unblushing (it is not painted) thing that was reared for educational purposes, and echo answers, "who?"

The old Waterloo hotel has been moved from the street and it begins to look like we were having broader views.

A stock company is being formed with G. P. Stiers at the helm, to place a bath house over the new spring. We expect more developments next week.

Our writings may be somewhat disjointed this week, but what can you expect? With the Mormons upon us and three dances per week, skating intermediate and vacant gaps filled in with council wars and dissensions, it is enough to rattle a far more stable mind than your poor scribe. Then we have received a card from the anarchist "Pat" who threatens to make us a good Frenchman like Carnot if we lade in his broth again. Next week we purpose beginning a serial story, entitled "Life in Waterloo" or "Letters from Hell." Don't fail to subscribe and get the first and last chapters of this thrilling story.

OBITUARY.

Died, of consumption, at his father's home, near Cottage Grove, August 10, 1894, Mr. A. V. Garutte, aged 41 years, 10 months and 27 days. Deceased formerly resided near Lebanon. Thinking his health might be benefited by a change, he went to spend the summer at his father's, where he died. He leaves three little children and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. His body was brought here for burial on Monday.

Oh, death! Another one from us has fled. Another dear one is numbered with the dead.

Four long, lonely years this earth he has trod since he was from this life departed To make her home with God!

A little of our three years in the tomb she lay. Until a loving daughter was taken from his way.

Now he, too, has gone to join them in their home above. For he gave his heart to Jesus And it seemed that all was love.

Yes, he gave his heart to Jesus; Oh, how he sang and prayed! Oh, may we live and love most them Oh, may we love and love most them And be with our dear ones above.

Definitions of a Baby.

A London paper offered a prize for the best definition of a baby. The last one of the following took the prize:

The bachelor's horror, the mother's treasure and the despotic tyrant of the republican household.

The morning-crawler, noonday-crawler and midnight bawler.

The only precious possession that never excites envy.

The latest edition of humanity, of which every couple think they possess the finest copy.

A native of all countries who speaks the language of none.

A quaint little craft called Innocence and laden with simplicity and love.

A thing we are expected to kiss and look at if we enjoyed it.

A little stranger with a free pass to the heart's best affection.

That which makes home happier, lovelier.
