The Keeley Institute, the great and only panacea for drunkenness, the opium and morphine habits, has removed from Forest Grove, Oregon, into its commodious quarters at Salem, Oregon. This cure has a reputation that is world-wide in its renown. Many families have been made happy and prosperous under its curative effects and it is destined to eventually solve the much agitated question of temperance reform. There is no medicine so often needed in every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by N. W. Smith, druggist. Trine Again Victorious. Some Brownsville sports were taken in by a professional in a foot race recently to the tune of about $1200 or $1600. It took place near Eugene, and of it the Guard says: The distance was 75 yards and the contestants were J. B. Cooley of Brownsville and Trine, better known professionally as "Whiskers," of Springfield. Between $2,500 and $3000 must have changed on the result, which was that Trine won by three or four feet. The judges were Joe Blakeley of Brownsville and Mac Summer-ville of this city, and S. C. Overton was chosen as referee. With their usual loyalty local sports offered money profusely to Trine, and some bets of even $2 to 1 were made in this way. The Brownsville boys were game as long as their loose change lasted. They were somewhat disappointed at the results, as might be expected, but it was their own job.

To Keep the Peace.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Danta were married in 1876, and have lived together eighteen years, and have five children. They now reside in Third Ward. According to the story of Mrs. Danta, a pale, hardworking woman of about forty, Mr. Danta has drank for a good many years, often threatening her life as well as her children's. Mrs. Danta is tired of it, and this morning swore out a warrant for his arrest asking that he be held to keep the peace. Last night he went home intoxicated, afterwards admitting that he drank seventeen glasses of liquor during the day, and when mad rushed for a case knife he had hid, and which he had ground to a very sharp point, which he said he had made to kill a Lebanon man. Mrs. Danta went for the police and when Marshal Lee and Night watch McClain arrived he had hid under the sidewalk. He was taken to Justice Freerksen's care. Mrs. Danta works in the steam laundry.—Democrat.

A Long Tramp.

The Prineville Review says: E. H. Collis, of the firm of Corbett, Falling & Roberts, and W. S. Love, of Love & Bushong, druggists, of Portland, Or, arrived in Prineville Sunday evening. These gentlemen are enjoying a novel outing during their holiday from business. They are making a 500-mile walk from the city via Eugene, Prineville and The Dalles. While crossing the Cascade mountains they were caught in a storm which rendered one day of their journey very unpleasant, and defeated their intention of making the ascent of the higher peak of the Three Sisters. Their trip has placed a deep photo brown upon their cheeks, which corresponds very neatly with the whiskers they have with them. The young men carry a gun and fishing tackle, and are enjoying all the sport their route affords. They left Monday morning via Warm Springs Agency for The Dalles, and will return to Portland over the old emigrant road on the north side of the Columbia.

A Bad Accident.

Last Wednesday afternoon as Mrs. John Denny and daughter, Effie, started to go out for a drive the little flax maned pony they usually drive became unmanageable and ran away throwing both out of the buggy and breaking Miss Effie's arm just above the elbow and otherwise bruising her. Mrs. Denny was also considerably bruised, but no bones broken. The buggy was a complete wreck. Dr. Foley was called and reduced the fracture and at last accounts they were getting along as well as could be expected.

OBITUARY.

Passed to a higher life, Oct. 1, 1894, in Walls Walla, Wash., from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wilson, Mrs. J. M. Reed, of paralysis. Her husband preceded her to spirit life from the same place about a year ago. She was born in Ohio, March 26, 1819. She with her husband and family crossed the plains in 1852, settling four miles southeast of Albany, in Linn county, Oregon. In 1871 they moved to Washington, lived a few years near Waitsburg, also in Dayton, but for a number of years had made their home with their children, three of whom live in Washington, Geo. K. Reed and Mrs. M. Hardman in Spokane, and Mrs. J. B. Wilson in Walls Walla, M. J. Reed in Pomona, California, and three in Oregon, Mrs. J. B. Beam in Albany, and W. H. and J. G. Reed in Lebanon. Her gentle manners and amiable disposition won for her many loving friends.

"We'll keep for thee a place, And, when free from higher duty, Bring us, with thy angel grace, Glimpses of that holy beauty, Let us hear thy voice once more, Repeating all the sacred story; Enter at the open door, Whence you passed to scenes of glory. This same way we too shall go, Just a little farther only; And the waters' solemn flow, Will not seem one-half so lonely Since thy hand will reach across, Taking ours to aid the landing And teaching all the gains and loss, To our darkened understanding. Out beyond the reach of sorrow, There is no room to weep for thee, Our angel brother, higher risen, Into a glad eternity."

He Needs a Home.

John Garbade, an inmate of the Soldier's Home, at Roseburg, went to Albany on a furlough one day last week, and evidently went in for a big "tear" away from home. He became acquainted with a Swede named Vergoes, a cook travelling through the valley. Together they went in to do Albany, taking aboard a large cargo of liquor at stations along the street. Garbade became quite tipsy and was put in a room occupied the previous night by Vergoes. Vergoes was seen in his room while he was taking a sleep, and afterwards disappeared. Garbade on awakening claimed to have been robbed of $35, and it was surmised Vergoes did it, and an effort was made to find the Swede, but he has disappeared. The Home authorities were notified, and the inmate was returned yesterday. The state had better see that when old soaks are admitted to the Soldiers' Home they are kept there, and not allowed to go off on sprees and the state meet the expense of returning them.—Register.
