Every once in a while some Gilliam county rancher reports seeing somebody he thinks is Jack Hamblet, the murderer of Ben Ganway. The outlaw is pretty well ascertained to be in hiding in the hills, and sallies forth in quest of plunder. A reward is still standing for his capture, alive or dead.

The 3-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, of Umatilla, was lost in the hills near Ukiah for 26 hours last week. When the little one was found, her feet and legs were badly lacerated and bleeding.

A mammoth locomotive now pulls the overland between Roseburg and Junction, instead of two locomotives as heretofore. It is the first of the big engines to be used regularly north of Ashland.

The allotment of the reservation lands in severalty in Klamath county is proceeding rapidly. Major Worden has already made 81 allotments, whereas he had not expected to make 40 in the same time.

A sad accident occurred at a point four miles west of Pendleton last week, when a freight train ran over and killed a little girl baby of about 16 months of age. The little child was near the crossing and was not observed until the train was within five car-lengths. The body was cut in two and the entire train passed over it. Mumford was the name of the child's parents.

The little 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Amelia Cook, of Salem, slipped and fell through the barbed-wire fence along the bank of the mill race. In some way her hair caught on a barb, and there she hung, her feet touching the swift water, until her parents heard her cries and came to her relief.

C. Swanston, of Sacramento, has, within the last few days, purchased, in Klamath county, 175 head of beef cattle from the Indians, 300 head in the neighborhood of Bly, and 250 head in Langell valley, making in all 725 head, for which he paid for which he paid from 2 1/2 cents to 4 cents per pound.

A belligerent owl came to grief at Grant's Pass the first of the week. Mrs. G. N. Bolt opened the barn door in the morning and the owl drove her out. Then Bolt went after it with a revolver, and the owl showed spirited fight. It was finally killed with a stone, and measured 5 1/2 feet from tip to tip.

A. J. Pitner, of Halsey, who has been on a visit to his old home in Polk county, Missouri, has returned to his Oregon home. He reports times good in Missouri. He says they have a good corn crop and a fair wheat crop. Corn is cash at 32 cents a bushel. Fat hogs go like hot cakes at 5 cents on foot at the farmer's door, and altogether the outlook is bright.

Bob Ingersoll is going for the superintendent of an eastern reform school, and here is what he says: I do not believe that one brute by whipping, beating and lacerating the flesh of another can reform him. The lash will neither develop the brain nor cultivate the heart. There should be no bruising, no scarring of the body in families, in schools, in reformatories, or prisons. A cultivated man doesn't believe in the methods of savagery. Brutality has been tried for thousands of years and through all these years it has been a failure.

From people from Tebeuset, the railroad station nine miles south of Union the Scout learns that one night last week sixteen Chinamen employed by the railroad company on the section there were ordered to leave by about a dozen men who had congregated there for that purpose. The Chinamen left, but returned in the morning, but were afraid to go to work when told to do so by the foreman. It is not known who the men were who ordered them to leave. The Chinamen were very much excited, and lost no time in getting away, fearing for their lives. It is also learned that the Chinamen at North Powder were served in the same way.

HAPPY HOME ITEMS.

- Sunshine and showers.
Farmers are busy sowing fall grain.
Potato digging is the order of the day.
J. W. Gee contemplates building a new house this fall.
Mattie Gleason paid Spring Farm a flying visit last week.
W. H. Cummings was in Lebanon Monday on business.
Professor Brown, teacher of the Happy Home school, is a resident of Mountain View.
W. H. Cummings raised twenty-five bushels of onions on two rods square of ground. Who can beat it?
S. B. Westurn, a brother of Mrs. S. J. Cummings, who has been stopping with Mr. James Frady, near Peoria, for the past year, has returned to his old home with W. H. Cummings and wife.
Bedrock and wife have just returned from a three weeks' trip. They went to Siuslaw bay, and from there to the head of that river, and home by way of Cottage Grove, Creswell, Goshen, Springfield, Coburg, Harrisburg, Peoria, Shedd, Plainview and Waterloo. They report having had a grand good time.

Marriage No Foolishness.

A good many cases have occurred in Linn county where the witness swore in affidavits for marriage licenses that the young lady was over 18 years of age, when in fact she was younger, in some cases an unintentional perjury, in other malicious, one case happening recently. The Corvallis Times speaks out very emphatically on the subject. "It should not be forgotten that the scamp who made out before the county clerk that Hattie May Brothers was eighteen years of age when, in fact she was but fifteen, swore to a falsehood. If no other penalty is to overtake the act, it should at least be held up to public contempt. Because it was to secure a marriage license is no reason why the sin should be overlooked or condoned. Laxity in this in the past has led too many girls of fifteen into a relation that ruined their lives and ended only in unhappiness and shame. Marriage is not a plaything to be flung aside when tired of, but an enduring relation whose responsibilities no child of fifteen comprehends, or is prepared to assume, especially when the husband is a scamp whose measure of honor is his willingness to go to the altar with a fraudulent license in his pocket, and a lie on his lips.

Cross the Plains With a Team.

A father and family and married son and family, numbering in all thirteen souls, climbed out of three travel-stained covered wagons in this city yesterday afternoon, and for the last time unhitched their horses on a trip that began the second day of last May and has continued ever since. Their trip began at Sioux City, Iowa, and they came across the plains in the old fashioned way that our fathers and mothers made the journey. The father is O. M. Wheeler, a brother of Nelson Wheeler, of Corvallis, and they have come to stay. They came via the National park where they tarried eight days, and report a pleasant trip. Their camp equipage was about worn out, but their horses were fresh as when they started, tired animals having been traded for fresh ones along the route.—Corvallis Times.

The Stayton Bridge.

County Judge W. C. Hubbard and Commissioner J. M. Watson were at Stayton Tuesday, where they met Judge Duncan, of Linn county, and they together made an examination of the bridge across the Santiam there. Complaint had been made that the planks of the floor were so worn as to be dangerous to travel and that one of the piers was in danger of being undermined. A critical examination failed to substantiate the grounds for complaint and the whole structure was found to be in good condition, no flooring having been laid a few days ago.—Statesman.

Attacked by a Bull.

Uncle Jimmy McMahon met with a severe accident Thursday. While out in the pasture after cattle his horse was charged upon by a bull and Uncle Jimmy was thrown to the ground receiving a fracture of the ankle, which was reduced by Drs. Smith and Geary. After being thrown to the ground he defended himself from the attacks of the enraged animal by throwing dirt in the bull's eyes, thereby blinding it. It was a narrow escape for the old gentleman. appreciate the award to them of highest honors at the Exposition. The significance of the compliment, the splendid character of the indorsement, cannot be underrated. It stamps Dr. Price's as without a peer among the baking powders. The jury of awards, an exceptionally intelligent body, was headed by the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture. They found Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder strongest in leavening power, perfect in purity, and of uniform excellence.

"Purest Baking Powder in all the World."
