COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

The following are the provisions of the compulsory education law now in force in Oregon, which might be well for some of the parents around Lebanon to bear in mind:

Sec. 65. Every parent, guardian or other person in the state having control of a child or children between the ages of eight and fourteen years shall be required to send such child or children to a public school for a period of twelve weeks in every school year, of which at least eight weeks school (shall) be consecutive, unless the bodily or mental condition of such child or children has been such as to prevent his or her or their attendance at school or application to study for the period required, or unless such child or children are taught in a private school or at home in such branches as are usually taught in primary schools, or have already acquired the ordinary branches of learning taught in the public school; provided, in case a public school shall not be taught for a period of twelve weeks, or any part thereof, during the year, within two miles by the nearest traveled road of the residence of any person within the district, he or she shall not be liable to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 66. Any parent, guardian, or other person having control or charge of any child or children failing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be liable to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars for the first offense, nor less than twenty-five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for the second and each subsequent offense, besides the cost of the prosecution.

Sec. 67. It shall be the duty of the directors and clerk of each school district to make diligent effort to see that this law is enforced in their respective districts.

Sec. 68. Justices of the peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in all prosecutions under this act.

In the coming political campaign the tariff issue will be necessarily supreme; but all the indications are that in the great presidential contest two years hence, the silver question will demand as much attention as the tariff question. The two causes are one. The country produces 40 per cent of the world's silver produce; and it is the greatest of all producers of the staple commodities which are most positively and injuriously affected by persistent rise of gold. Free trade and gold monometallism are British policies. They belong together. Free trade threatens our manufactures. Gold monometallism has done incalculable harm to our farmers.—Philadelphia Textile Record.

Fruit raising will eventually be a leading industry of Lane county, and should be now. The profit on prunes at the ruling prices is better than could be realized from any kind of grain. Markets can be found for this fruit throughout the world. The shipment of apples East last fall proved conclusively that they can be raised and shipped with profit. In Iowa and other Eastern states, where a few years ago apples were raised in considerable quantities, comparatively few are now raised, and a market is open for just such sections as the Willamette valley. The man with a good fruit orchard will be independent and in good circumstances when others are struggling for an existence.—Register.

There is no likelihood of any better price being realized for hops this year, and very little likelihood of a better price next year. Consumers of hops will not neglect to lay in a good stock this year while prices are so remarkably low, and next year will not be pressed for hops sufficiently to advance good prices.—Register.

BEWARE.

A correspondent to the Statesman who signs himself "a victim" expresses himself quite plainly in regard to building and loan associations. He describes the "business" as loaning a sucker a few hundred dollars and taking his notes for two or three times the amount on condition that he buy a gravel lot on which to build a house with what money remained and what credit he could get of hardware stores, lumber companies and mechanics' labor and then after sweating under periodical payments upon the swelled note as long as he could earn, borrow or beg them, having the whole taken in by the association for the non-payment of the remainder." How long will the people permit these usurious corporations to live unrestricted by law? Do not be beguiled by them. Remember that nothing is honestly obtained without a just equivalent, and when you are offered something for nothing you want to see that it is absolutely free and without strings on it. Buy your home from a reliable man and if you have to borrow money to help pay for it borrow it in the old fashioned way from those who have honest money to loan. Then, if you would prosper, buy your groceries at a grocery store and not from a peddler. Buy your clothing from a reputable dealer whose word can be relied on and when you buy all wool don't expect to get it at the price of cotton. When you buy hardware or household goods use like prudence. When you buy rat poison or moth exterminator shun the stranger and patronize the home druggist. When you invest in crayon portraits know who you are dealing with. If you are sick, call in the home physician—don't be victimized by the "strictly confidential" correspondence frauds. Don't buy gold bricks, and don't dehorn your bull dog's tail in the dark of the moon; it's a bad sign, and besides, he is likely to sit on thy sore place.—Ex.

It goes without saying that prizefighting is a brutal profession, but the country editors who are denouncing Corbett and Jackson as "cowardly brutes" would turn tail and run if they had to face either of those brawny athletes, although armed with a double-barrelled shot-gun.—Ex.

It is reported that China has offered to acknowledge the independence of Corea and pay a war indemnity if Japan will cease hostilities, but Japan refuses to do so as China has not conceded enough.

Ex-President Harrison has been traveling through Indiana the past week, and one day made thirteen political speeches.—Ex.

AGAINST A CHANGE.

The Linn County Alliance has passed the following school book resolutions:

WHEREAS, There seems to be another movement working by the state school superintendent and school book trust to force another change of school books upon an overburdened laboring people. Therefore be it

Resolved, By the Linn County Alliance, assembled in regular meeting that we denounce the same as unjust, oppressive and uncalled for, and under the present financial condition, an outrage, as many of the school children could not procure the necessary books to attend school.

Resolved, That we ask the people of Linn county and all other counties in Oregon to protest the proposed change. Further that we urgently request the next legislature to so change the law in regard to school books to take out of the superintendent's power and put it into the hands of the people, to be voted for or against at the general election at stated periods fixed by law.

WHEREAS, Our present officers after election have shown the usual greed of trying to bleed the laboring classes by having proceedings begun in the courts to annul the salary law and restore the fee system, thereby largely increasing the salaries, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the officers and members of the Linn County Alliance, denounce the same as unjust and oppressive and should not be allowed, and that we request all county papers to copy these resolutions.

Mr and Mrs. W. C. Read, of Albany, are in the city visiting their daughter, Mrs. Chandler.

Mr. L. E. Warner and Miss Artie Smith, both of Gates, were married in Albany last Wednesday.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason of Chilton, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by N. W. Smith, Druggist.

The plans for the Chrysanthemum Fair are progressing slowly but surely. The Home Work Society and Christian Endeavor Society have decided to give six prizes. First and second prize for the most handsomely made design. First and second prize for the best specimen potted plant in bloom. First and second prize for the most beautiful bouquet. These prizes will all be worth trying for. The prizes will be on display in N. W. Smith's drug store in a short time.

Japs vs Chinese.

Thirty thousand Japanese are on their way to Peking and expect to capture the city. China is concentrating her forces in the capital to defend the Emperor. Great excitement prevails. Many believe the war to be about over. Another great war is to follow.

CANADA VS UNITED STATES.

Canada is swooping down on the United States and is capturing those great bargains in dry goods and shoes, never before heard of, that Read Pencock & Co. are offering. The Canadians know a good thing when they get it and are not likely to desist so long as they last.

A Cook Book Free.

"Table and Kitchen" is the title of a new cook book published by the Price Baking Powder Company, Chicago. Just at this time it will be sent free if you write a postal mentioning the EXPRESS. This book has been tried by ourselves and is one of the very best of its kind. Besides containing over 400 receipts for all kinds of pastry and home cookery, there are many hints for the table and kitchen, showing how to set a table, how to enter the dining room, etc., a hundred and one hints in every branch of the culinary art.
