YALE made nearly $20,000 at football last year and $1,500 at base-ball.

The students at Olivet College Mich. have been forbidden by the faculty to use tobacco.

The official count in Tennessee gives Evans, the republican candidate for governor, a plurality of 748.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has gone to South Carolina on a weeks hunting trip. Congress doesn't interrupt his pleasures.

There was an increase of 115 postoffices in Texas during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894. Kansas lost 39 postoffices. The total number of postoffices in the United States now being 69,895.

The members of the next legislature do not need to worry their brains in forming additional laws. There is too much law now. Let attention be given to strengthening the weak points in the present laws.—Eugene Register.

ESTEE, of California, isn't getting much comfort from the Republican press and politicians of the state, in his contest. Of course editors that are so narrow minded and prejudiced that they condone a wrong if done by a Republican are defending Estee.

If the lovers of football wish to preserve that sport they must modify the style of the game. Many of the most prominent educational institutions are taking steps to suppress the game among students unless it is divested of its extremely rough features.

Cos and Douglas counties are at war. The former county recently discharged from the county poor farm a refractory Grand Army veteran, who went over into Douglas and located on the poor farm there. The authorities there, to get rid of him, paid his way back to Cos county, and now the different authorities are quarreling as to who should take care of him.

There is serious complaint by farmers on the Heppner branch road because cars cannot be had to ship their grain. A complete deadlock has existed for sometime. The warehouses can receive no more and can't ship what they have. Farmers are being pressed for money and cannot get their wheat off. The people call on the Oregon Railway & Navigation company for assistance.

A new substance having the remarkable and unique property of solidifying when heated and remaining liquid at temperatures below zero has been discovered by a German chemist. It has been named cryostase and is obtained by mixing together equal parts of phenol, camphor and saponine, and adding a somewhat smaller proportion of essence of turpentine. Certain substances, like the albumens, harden on heating, but this is the only product that again liquifies on cooling.

Geo. Patrick of Grant's Pass, was at the Josephine caves this fall and explored as far into them as anybody, which is a distance of 1,600 feet, although Captain A. B. Smith claimed to have driven in twenty-two miles with a four-horse team, and the Examiner averred that seventy miles would not find the end. The utmost distance which any reliable person has been able to penetrate is 1,600 feet, and this is done by crawling on hands and knees, climbing over boulders and wading numerous cool pools of clear mountain water.

It is rumored that an effort will be made to have the legislature abolish the office of dairy and food commissioner this winter upon alleged grounds of incompetency.

Such action would be utterly stupid and would warn intelligent farmers everywhere to keep away from Oregon. When other states and nations have found their agricultural interests in the depressed condition in which those of Oregon now are, they have found it wise to foster and protect the dairy industry.—Rural North-west.

ONE of the satisfactory features of the work of the Interior Department during the last year has been the gathering of statistics regarding the public schools. The facts show a school attendance of 13,442,006, or about one-fifth of the population. The teachers included 121,717 men and 258,001 women, and the total expenditure on school account were $163,500,016. No account is made of the attendance upon private schools academies and colleges, which would add many thousands to the total students. These figures indicate a gratifying effort to make education general.

TOM W. WINDER, editor of the Wasp, and a bicycle enthusiast, will to decide, bet and "establish a record," endeavor to make a trip along the coast and border line of the United States, estimated—via circuitous county roads—at 21,600 miles, in 300 consecutive days, or a daily average of seventy-two miles, crossing thirty-three states and territories 230 counties; visiting 2,984 cities, towns and villages, and registering as seventy-six points en route. The start will be made from New Orleans on Feb. 4, 1895, going west so that the entire trip can be made in warm weather, enabling him, to cross the great plains of the Northwest during the early summer, the most favorable time of all the year. Winder only weighs 120 pounds.

If the new management of the Portland Industrial Exposition is seeking attractions. It should not overlook Hosea Brown, of Grant's Pass, to whom the attention of the house committee on pensions was yesterday called by Representative Herrmann, and with very satisfactory results. Mr. Brown is now in his 103d year, and is the second oldest survivor of the war of 1812. In view of his poverty and utter helplessness the committee allowed him $60 per month, and the exposition people could afford to give him that sum per week merely for exhibiting himself. Living men who fought for their country 82 years ago are scarce enough to be curiosities.—Telegram.

R. E. PATERSON, director of the mint, has submitted to the treasury his report of the mints and assays officers for the fiscal year 1894. The total coinage for the year is, gold $99,464,912; silver $6,741,817, the gold coinage for the year being the largest ever executed at the mints of the United States, in any one year. The highest price of silver during the year was $0.7645 and the lowest $0.5918. The estimated metallic stock of coin and bullion in the United States on July 1, 1894, was: Gold, $627,293,201; silver, $624,347,757; total, $1,251,640,958. The production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year was gold $35,955,000; silver 60,000,000 fine ounces, the commercial value of the same being $46,800,000 and the coining value $77,576,000. Revised estimates of the world's production of the precious metals for the calendar year 1893 shows the same to have been $158,228,100 in silver. The directors estimates the stock of gold in the world for money purposes $3,965,900,000, and silver $4,055,700,000.

A Cure for Rheumatism.
 For rheumatism I have found nothing equal to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It relieves the pain as soon as applied. J. W. Young, West Liberty, W. Va. The prompt relief it affords is alone worth many times the cost, 50 cents. Its continued use will effect a permanent cure. For sale by N. W. Smith Druggist.

THE CHAMPION LIAR!

Lebanon's poet has handed us another poem this week.
 Oh! the Liar, the Liar, the fiendish Liar!
 He lies by our door and lies by our fire.
 He lies by the light, and stark of the moon.
 He lies our customers out of the room,
 He lies of the good, and lies of the bad,
 And lies of the riches that once he might had.
 He lies of the soldier, and lies of the war,
 How the fight was delayed till he was sent for,
 How he fought, through platoon and brigade,
 Through, blood to his knees, this here did wade.
 Till, he came up to Grant, and stood by his side,
 Reported, for duty, and Grant, then replied,
 Here take 'this horse, go as fast as you can,
 And, ride to the front and tell every man,
 That I can't be with them, my cigars are gone,
 And I'll have to wait till more can be drawn.
 Then, tell them I said, to follow your wake,
 And those guns on the right, I want you to take.
 Away, speed the Hero, none braver than he,
 Through bullets as thick as leaves on a tree.
 He rode down the front and cheered up the men,
 And said he would lead them to victory again.
 And all that long day he fought with a vim,
 Till fourteen horses was shot under him.
 He charge then afoot, at last, won the day,
 While Grant was was smoking his cigar far away.
 This is only a sample of lies, that he'll spin,
 And we, barely challenge, the county of Linn.
 To produce a liar, young or old
 That half as many lies has told,
 We'll father go, and challenge the State,
 To bring a man that can relate,
 As many, fearful, wonderful, things,
 As to this liar's memory clings.
 From way back East, this liar did roam,
 And here he plays it all alone.
 Our local liars, threw up their hands,
 He took the pot, and thus it stands.
 When down below, he goes to dwell,
 He'll lie the devil out of hell.

The Boy Recovered.

Any one who has children will rejoice with L. B. Mulford, of Plainfield, New Jersey. His little boy five years of age, was sick with croup. For two days and nights he tried various remedies recommended by friends and neighbors. He says: "I thought sure I would lose him. I had seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised and thought I would try it as a last hope, and am happy to say that after two doses he slept until morning. I gave it to him next day and a cure was effected. I keep this remedy in the house now and as soon as any of my children show signs of croup I give it to them and that is the last of the croup." For sale by N. W. Smith, druggist.
