The Woman's Era.

Within Her Sphere She Reigns Supreme.

Woman claims her own. Her field widens constantly. Every day brightens her prospects. Her progress foreshadows the greater triumph at hand. Emancipation and equality will be hers in the years to come. Prophetic of final victory were her achievements at the World's Fair. At her shrine there erected the nations bowed. The lesson taught at the "Woman's Building" will last "till time shall be no more." Their enlightening influence will be felt around the globe throughout the dawning century.

STORMS IN THE EAST

THE RIVERS RAPIDLY RISING.

Several Railroad Bridges Washed Away and Much Damage is Threatened.—Excessive Rains.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 7.—There is a possibility of a flood if the river continues to rise any length of time at the present rate. A large amount of ice is coming out of the Youghiogheny, and at McKeesport the little steamer Tillie, was sunk. The ice is all coming down the Allegheny and coffer-dam at Harris is in danger. A twenty-five foot stage in the Ohio river is expected here, and river men fear it will reach thirty feet. Twenty-five feet will flood the mills along the river and cause damage to property. Thirty feet is considered the danger line. It has been raining all night.

BELLAIRE, O., Jan. 7.—The indications today are the great flood of 1894 will be repeated. The river is rising rapidly. The ice in the Ohio river and tributaries broke up and ran out last night. Several barges were lost. Two bridges on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railway were washed away. Traffic on the road is completely blocked. All the snow has melted and is gone. The lowland will be flooded by tomorrow morning. The people are moving to higher ground.

THE ADMINISTRATION SCORED.

Bland Says the Democratic Party Met Defeat Through Fraud and Treachery.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Debate on the currency bill in the house today was begun by Boatner, democrat, of Louisiana, who expressed surprise at the opposition to the measure on the democratic side of the house. He paid a tribute to the abilities of Secretary Carlisle, and dwelt upon the duty of supporting him, which he said rested upon the democrats.

In the course of Boatner's speech, Bland put several questions to show that the administration had adopted a gold policy, and finally declared its financial platform was a fraud if there was no intention to carry it out, asserting that a platform should mean something.

Boatner asked if Bland had not been a supporter of President Cleveland in the last campaign, whereupon Bland responded that he had supported the platform and had voted for the candidate, and the party had gone down in an ignominious defeat for its treachery and fraud.

Pence brought up Secretary Carlisle's advocacy of silver while a member of the house in supporting Matthews' revolution, and asked if soon after accepting the treasury portfolio he had not announced his intention of paying some of the government's obligations in silver, and if he had not been "called down." Boatner replied that it was useless to revive free silver as a factor of the currency question. Bland retorted: "You can't run the democratic party on republican lines, and no mugwump can change its policy."

Nebraska's Governor Sent.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 4.—Silas A. Holcomb was formally inducted into the office of chief executive of the state of Nebraska yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The inauguration ceremonies were of the simplest and most informal character. The gubernatorial party went to the capitol and remained in the executive apartments until notified by the committee from the joint convention that the legislature was prepared to listen to the message of the outgoing governor. The galleries and lobbies of representative hall were packed with the throngs of people long before 3 o'clock. Governor Crouse's message was of more than usual length and occupied more than an hour in its delivery. After he had finished, a committee escorted Chief Justice Norval to the hall and the oath of office was administered to Governor Holcomb and the other state officers. Governor Holcomb then proceeded with his inaugural message.

Sold Under the Hammer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The Morning Call, one of the oldest newspapers on the Pacific coast, was sold at auction yesterday afternoon by United States Commissioner Hancock, acting under a decree, to Charles M. Shortridge, editor of the San Jose Mercury for $400,000. The sale of the Bulletin was postponed until next Wednesday.

Salvation Army's Drums.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—The supreme court has decided that the Salvation Army may not beat drums indiscriminately. The celebrated case of John H. Flaherty, the Salvation Army drummer, who some time ago came in contact with the authorities of Redlands for violating an ordinance prohibiting the beating of drums, was yesterday determined in favor of the city by the supreme court. There was dissenting opinion by Judges Harrison, De Haven and Fitzgerald. Flaherty was convicted of beating his drum on the traveled streets without a permit, which had been refused him. The contention of Flaherty's attorneys was that the ordinance was unconstitutional. The decision orders the dismissal of the writ of habeas corpus and the return of Flaherty to the custody of the town marshal.

The Train Dispatcher Censured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—The inquest on the three victims of yesterday's trainwreck in the Alamo tunnel, was held in Oakland last night. The evidence in the case was short. It took the jury, however, nearly two hours to agree upon a verdict. At 11 o'clock it found that Engineer Hubbard came to his death from injuries received as the result of a collision between two trains, caused by a mistake in giving orders by C. R. Sims, train dispatcher for the Southern company. The same verdict was rendered in the cases of Schramm and Cooper. The jury at first could not agree on a moderate verdict. Some of the jurors wanted to find Sims guilty of criminal carelessness. The majority was against this, however.

School Clerk's Suicide.

PENDLETON, Or., Jan. 5.—Reports were brought to town this afternoon that W. O. Warren, living six miles from Pendleton, shot himself as officers were arresting him for embezzlement. Warren was the clerk of the school district at Warren station, and was short $50. He had been sued to recover the money, and then criminal action was instituted. The showing on his books left no hope for acquittal. He was a wheat buyer, a wealthy farmer and a delegate to the late state republican convention. This is the third suicide here in the last ten days.

A Baker City Robbery.

BAKER CITY, Or., Jan. 4.—Mr. P. Campbell's store, at the depot, was last evening, visited by three masked men, who with drawn revolvers, ordered the proprietor to open the safe and deliver over the money. The command was obeyed and the contents amounting to $5, were handed over. Two of them being Mexican pieces, were returned. Mr. Campbell had sent a large sum of money on the evening train to Union, in payment for a shipment of flour, which accounted for the small haul.

He Was Probably Murdered.

SPOKANE, Wa., Jan. 5.—There is now a strong presumption that John Wall, the Wardner miner, whose death in a lodginghouse here was first thought to be suicidal, was murdered. The autopsy showed that one of the bullets passed through both ventricles of the heart, tearing that organ to pieces. The other shattered the skull and sent pieces into the brain. It is not believed that Wall could have fired either shot after the other. Wall was a union miner and had made some bitter antagonists.

His Body Thrown Thirty Feet.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Today while carrying over his shoulder a gunnysack containing ten cartridges filled dynamite and weighing 35 pounds, James George, an employe at a stone quarry in the western suburbs of this city, stumbled and fell. A frightful explosion followed, the shock of which was felt a half mile away in either direction, and the unfortunate man mangled and torn, was thrown 30 feet through the air. Only fragments of his body were recovered.

A Woman Mangled by a Train.

ASHLAND, Or., Jan. 5.—North-bound passenger train No. 15 arrived here about 8:20 A. M. 11 hours late. When the train was about nine miles from here, a lady, Mary J. Jackson, was mangled from one of the cars. She was supposed to have walked on the train while delirious. She was with the lead search light and was killed by the train.

Kidnappers.

LEBANON, Ind., Jan. 6.—The kidnaping of the 6-year-old son of Wickham, of Thornton, and is still intense. His captors are believed to be an organized band of bandits, in number, who have been a terror to this community for many months. These officers who were in pursuit of the fleeing outlaws, came upon them in a thicket two miles north of their rendezvous. The bandits at once took to their heels and a running fight ensued, but no one was hit.

Bold Robbery.

ELLENSBURG, Wa., Jan. 5.—The most daring robbery since the Beslyn affair took place here last night between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The office of Henry McGrath, of the Good Templars for this state, was entered, the safe blown open and $638 taken. It was all lodge money but $60. He returned to his office at 9:30 and found the safe open and rifled, the combination having been blown off. The position is that nitro-glycerine was pumped into the safe and exploded.

Killed by Electricity.

TACOMA, Wa., Jan. 5.—Two thousand volts of electricity passed through Peter Peterson, day electrician at the city light station, this morning. It killed him like a lightning stroke. In making changes on the switchboard he grasped two plugs at the same time, his thumbs touching them too far up, and on the uninsulated portion. There was a flash and he fell back dead. He had been in the employ of the company six years. It was his own carelessness.

Big Baltimore Blaze.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6.—The explosion of an oil tank in a warehouse of the Standard Oil Company, at Canton, tonight, caused a loss by fire of $400,000. The explosion occurred at 7:30 o'clock. The burning oil ran in streams down the gutters, communicating the fire to the adjoining property, and in a few minutes a whole block of buildings was a mass of flames.

Was Rich.

TACOMA, Wa., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Marie Jansen, who was killed by walking off a train near Ashland, Or., yesterday, was the possessor of a romance, a handsome home in the North End and other property estimated to be worth nearly $250,000. Five years ago her first husband, Mr. Berubardy, died. Her home adjoined the Interstate fair she was a frequent visitor there.

Malicious Snowballing.

OREGON CITY, Jan. 4.—Two boys were arrested here today for malicious snowballing. One was charged with putting a brick in his snowball and assaulting a Chinaman with it, but by a slip in making out the complaint, the offense was alleged to have been committed in 1894, and the jury acquitted the youngster. On the other boy, sentence was suspended during good behavior.

Steves Guilty of Manslaughter.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 5.—After being out 14 hours, the jury in the Steves murder trial brought in a verdict at 1:30 today of manslaughter for complicity in the murder of G. W. Sayers. The case will be appealed to the supreme court. Eight of the jury were at first in favor of a verdict of murder in the first degree, but finally compromised on manslaughter.

An Editor Assaulted.

LXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 4.—Yesterday Col. Shelby, law partner of Col. Breckinridge, assaulted Editor Charles C. Moore, of the Blue Grass Blade, with a cane, breaking it over his head. He then tore out a bunch of Moore's whiskers. George S. Shanklin, another lawyer and Breckinridge supporter, accompanied Shelby and looked on while he assaulted the editor.

Mount Hood as a Resort.

PORTLAND, Jan. 5.—The O. R. & N. Co.'s officials are considering plans for bringing into greater prominence the mountain position on their line as a summer resort. With this end in view it is not improbable the company will go to considerable expense in making the necessary improvements to fit up such a resort for use on Mount Hood.

Wife and Son Saw Him Drown.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—James P. Kieley, who was standing on the forward rail of the ferryboat Oakland, last night, was thrown overboard by a sudden lurch, and drowned in sight of his wife and son.
