Dobkins interest in their adjustable platform and ladder, in which fact we were in error, Mr. Hammeck having only traded for a part interest in the patent. On Christmas day Ralph Fisher's son, of Sodaville, received a Christmas present of a toy air gun. Young Fisher pointed the gun at Mr. West in sport, and when the latter ordered him to put it down the boy said it was not loaded, and to prove his statement pulled the trigger. West was hit by a double B shot in the left cheek, the shot passing in about a half inch when its force was stopped against a tooth, inflicting a painful wound. Dr. Prill cut the shot out. It is understood that Governor Penney is considering the matter of pardoning Morgan Wasson from the penitentiary. A petition of about 1,500 names of citizens of Linn county, especially from the vicinity of Lebanon where he resided, has been presented. A good many more names have been pardoned recently and in this case, where the convict is a young man who has excellent parents and relatives the chances are much greater that if liberated he would mend his ways and become a good citizen. It is understood with such a petition of names, and the fact the present attorney has recommended that the governor should pardon Wasson.

They will get their money's worth in hearing him sing and play, besides feeling that they have done a humane and kindly act in leading this aid in a case of urgent necessity of a lovely child who has no friends, only such as the angels have, disinterested and true.

SANDERS IN SPOKANE.

Captain W. W. Saunders, says the Sunday Oregonian, recently pardoned from the penitentiary, is at Spokane, where he contemplates locating, instead of going to Texas. After leaving the Oregon penitentiary, Saunders went to Spokane, and immediately hunted up George W. Belt, formerly prosecuting attorney of the Third district of Oregon, and now of that city. The Spokane Chronicle gives a long story of the arrival of the pardoned convict, and narrates the story of the crime. The story concludes: "I am not at all ashamed to have people know I have served a term of imprisonment for killing a man in defense of a woman's honor," said Saunders yesterday, drawing himself proudly up to his full majestic height. "I am still a young man and hope to again become a useful and respected citizen." Saunders is only 37 years of age. His imprisonment precluded the possibility of his marrying the girl of his choice, who is now said to be a resident of Boise, Idaho. Police Sergeant Charles Barlow knows Saunders well, having been a guard at the Oregon penitentiary when Saunders was admitted. The Chronicle gives to Mr. E. P. Hogan, of Spokane, formerly of Roseburg, the entire credit of the capture of Saunders after he had escaped from jail. This is incorrect. Saunders' captors were D. B. Monteith, of Albany, and Mr. Hogan. Mr. Monteith had quite as much, if not more to do with it as Mr. Hogan.

In speaking of the pardoned murderer, Captain Saunders, the Oregonian says: There were rumors in circulation at the time of the trial that he had a wife in Texas, and this appears to have been the case; but whether divorced or not is not known here. A short time before Saunders was pardoned, Judge Bellinger received a letter from a lawyer in Bonham, Texas, who had once resided here, asking for information in regard to Saunders' prospects for securing a pardon, and expressing a hope that Judge Bellinger would use any influence he might possess toward securing Saunders' pardon. It was added that Saunders had a wife, a very worthy lady, and a daughter sixteen years old. As to whether there has been any legal separation between Saunders and his wife is probably known to Saunders.

Nights of Enchantment.

The above entertainment which has been creating quite a favor in adjoining towns will appear here on Friday and Saturday evenings at the Opera house in this city. The performance represents a rare combination of refined sensations. Cards of admission 25 cents, children 10 cents, reserved seats at Smith's drug store 35 cents. The Dallas Itemizer says: Prof. C. A. Lewis has been here, and although our people patronized him quite liberally, we believe they feel better for they have had a chance to get a good laugh and have been highly entertained in witnessing many feats that it looks as if a man must possess supernatural powers to perform. He puts up a good show. As a mesmerist he proved his powers to be of high order; as a mystical performer he stands at the head of the profession, and as a juggler none can outdo him, and as an elocutionist he is the peer of many leading tragedians. His daughter Ida lends him assistance, and her part of the program is of itself worth the price of admission. Saturday evening the attendance was good and on Monday evening he had a packed house. We all take off our hats to Prof. Lewis and his daughter Ida, and will kindly remember them in days to come, should they return.

A Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Millican and others had a narrow escape a few days ago while driving to Hale. There were in the party Oscar Buecy and wife, Mrs. Millican and Lula Bradley. They had a team, one horse of which had not been driven but little, and was not shod. In going up a grade where was an embankment about fifty feet high this horse slipped and plunged over the grade. The other horse braced himself and held this horse up until Mr. Buecy got around and cut the harness, and the horse rolled down the embankment into the creek and after working down the creek some distance got out uninjured. The one horse bracing himself and holding the other after he went over the embankment is all that saved the occupants from a tumble down the embankment, which would undoubtedly have proved serious.—Eugene Register.

A COUNTERFEIER.

"Doc" Davenport Arrested for Counterfeiting and is Now in the Portland Jail. Last Friday Deputy U. S. Marshal George Humphrey, arrived in this city and soon after his arrival employed Joe Smith and D. D. Shaw to go out in the county and arrest William ("Doc") Davenport on a charge of counterfeiting one dollar silver coins. Shaw and Smith arrived at Davenport's home which is about eight miles from this place, and made the arrest. They also made a search of his house, secured a lot of counterfeit dollars, plaster moulds, solder, scraps of lead, pieces of an old belt and some brass; also a ladle used for melting the mixture in for the coins. They then brought Davenport to Lebanon and turned him over to Deputy U. S. Marshal Humphrey on Saturday. Davenport was arranged before Justice Lovelee of this place as Deputy U. S. Commissioner, waived examination and was bound over in the sum of $2,000 to appear before the United States grand jury. Being unable to furnish the bonds he was taken to the Portland jail. Mr. Humphrey left here on the six o'clock train Saturday with the prisoner. Davenport has served a term of ten years in the penitentiary already for the same offence. After his term was out he returned to this county and married the Widow Mills, after which he started a drug store at Taugent, but not making a success out of it, he moved back on to his wife's farm which is located about eight miles from this place where he was arrested. Davenport is a man of education. He served a term in the army and was assistant surgeon at Fort Klamath during the Modoc war. It is reported that there was several others implicated with Davenport and that other arrests will soon follow. N. R. Harris, of the secret service division, of the treasury department of San Francisco, laid the plan that led to the arrest of Davenport and it is said that the evidence is sufficient to convict him.

More Charged With Counterfeiting.

Last Tuesday Joe Smith and D. D. Shaw went to Waterloo and arrested Lute and Andy Jennings on a charge of counterfeiting $5 and $10 gold pieces. They also had a warrant for the arrest of Frank Jennings, but Frank heard of it and came to Lebanon and gave himself up. Shaw and Smith report having had some trouble in arresting Andy, as he drew a pistol and was determined not to be arrested, but after a little struggle they overpowered him and brought him in. Upon arriving at Lebanon they telegraphed the United States marshal of the arrest they had made, so on Wednesday George Humphrey, deputy U. S. Marshal and David B. Murphy, U. S. district attorney arrived in Lebanon. The Jennings boys have asked for a preliminary here so they are out now summoning witnesses and their trial will probably be today before Justice Lovelee with D. R. Murphy assisted by A. F. Stowe, representing the U. S., while J. K. Weatherford will appear for the defence. It is said that there is strong evidence against them. Reports are, that there are other counterfeiters around here and that other arrests are sure to follow.

Walter Bass Bound Over.

Last Saturday at 10:30 o'clock a. m., an anxious crowd of men and boys looked into Justice Lovelee's court, on Main street, eager to see and hear the developments in the case of the State of Oregon, against Walter Bass, charged with having stolen a gold scarf pin from the vest of Charles O'Neill on the 28th of December 1894. The justice's court room was almost packed to suffocation, before the hearing began, whereupon the court decided to move its quarters to the Band hall in order to secure more room. The hearing consumed the remainder of the day. The prosecuting witness Charles O'Neill claimed the pin that was stolen to be valued at $40. After hearing all the evidence, Justice Lovelee thought there was sufficient cause to hold young Bass over to appear before the grand jury and fixed his bonds at $300 in default of which he was confined in the county jail. S. M. Garland appeared for the state and Stowe and Brown appeared for the defendant.

Died.

Densmore.—Near Happy Home, Linn county, Oregon, on Thursday evening January 3, 1895, Johnny, the little infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Densmore. Aged two months.

One more loved one sweetly sleeping.

Bear little Johnny gone before, And, if faithful we will meet him Safely on the other shore.

Yes we know he's gone forever With the best redeemer to dwell, But how sad it is to sever Hearts that we have loved so well.

Open in the eye, we'll gather Round the friends, dear and true, Thinking as we're gathered together Of the loved one now gone home,

One more loved one sweetly sleeping, Or sing baby gone before, Or thought of meeting part no more.
