Mr. A. F. Stone Again. This widely known gentleman returned to Lebanon last Monday evening thoroughly ginned up and loaded for "bar," with blood in his eye. He landed at one of our saloons, demanded a drink on tick, but was very properly refused. He thereupon pulled a well-filled flask out of his pocket, and took a long drink. Having worn out his welcome at this respectable saloon, he made a zig-zag line for the street, breathing threats of vengeance on the town in general, but particularly against the kind friends who had gone his bonds some days previous, and against the constable. He brought up at the hotel, but found no congenial companionship there. He finally assaulted the constable and was arrested, but began his assault anew and was pretty badly bruised. He was lodged in the city jail—borrowed for his especial accommodation, by the constable from himself the marshal—the doubled named terror to evil doers. He was brought before Justice Lovelle, on Tuesday on a charge for assault, pleaded guilty and was fined $40 and sent to jail for not paying the same. The unanimous wish of the good people of Lebanon is that this unfortunate inebriate give this city a wide berth hereafter.

DIED. At Tallman, Lion county, Oregon, March 16, 1895, Mrs. Lillian May Smith, beloved wife of Jesse D. Smith and daughter of George E. and Zidana A. Hardy. Born in Woyauwa Wau-paca county, Wisconsin. In her short life of twenty-three years Mrs. Smith endeared herself to all with whom she was acquainted. Her life from childhood until her marriage was passed in Lebanon at the home of her parents. Her loveable and obliging disposition made her a great favorite among the young people of our city, who on the day of the funeral evinced their respect and tenderness for their young friend and former companion, by their tributes of beautiful flowers and their attendance in large numbers at the cemetery. Mrs. Smith was for some years before her marriage operator in the Pacific Postal Telegraph office in this city. The business men of Lebanon, among whom was the writer, remember well the bright winsome May Hardy, who so promptly and correctly handed the messages entrusted to her care. Their presence at her funeral was noticeable as a testimonial of the esteem in which she was held by them. Mrs. Smith leaves behind a sorrowing husband and one child, a daughter, aged two years; her father and mother, as also a brother and sister, survive her. The sympathy of the people of Tallman and Lebanon go out to these sorrowing ones. The funeral services were conducted at the family residence by Rev. Silas Williams of the old Baptist church, and at the Masonic cemetery, when she was buried on Monday, March 18, by Rev. D. T. Summerville of the M. E. church, whose words of tender christian love and sympathy were deeply affecting to the large concourse of people present. "Her life was beautiful, and the end thereof was peace."

TRY— JOHN PHELAN'S Shoes For Ladies. Price $2.50 EVERY PAIR WARRANTED. Read, Peacock & Co. LEBANON, OREGON.

President Young of the Albany College visited our city last Friday evening, in company with Dr. Chapman, of the State University. Mr. I. R. Borum returned home last Wednesday evening from Portland. He has visited Salem, Oregon City and Silverton while he has been gone. Rev. Estes, the Baptist minister at this place, will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday evening. He intends to move back to Oakland, Oregon, in the near future. Mrs. C. E. McClain had the misfortune to cut her right foot every severely last Friday while splitting some kindling, from which effects she will be confined to the house for some days. Last Friday night an alarm of fire was given which was quickly responded to by the fire company, which proved to be only a small blaze on the roof of Arnett's house which was soon extinguished with a few buckets of water. Dr. Lamberson showed us ten orders for Liverine that came in on Wednesday's mail, which was the work of his agents in two days. He has three men on the road now, and says the orders are coming in faster than the company can fill them. Mr. S. P. Bach has been rearranging his store on the inside this week and having all the wood work painted. He has had a number of new drawers added and ten new bins put in for sugar, coffee, salt, etc. all of which adds greatly to the appearance of his store. Ruff Hlatt and Ed Kellenberger drove fifteen head of cattle through Lebanon last Saturday. They were all as fine as any we ever looked at. All of them were thoroughbred short horn Durhams, and every one had been registered. Fine thoroughbred cattle is what is beginning to take in this country. A couple of women in the northeast part of the city gave a certain man from Tennessee a terrible beating and threw him out of the window one day this week, so it is reported, for lying about them. As this office has been threatened to be cleaned out and all of us thrown out of the window, if we mentioned the affair, we will not give the names.

Pugh & Munsey have just received a large invoice of ladies' children's and men's shoes. See them and you will buy them. Those who have been worrying for fear Oregon was going to have a drought, probably have had their fears removed. Every cash purchaser of $10 worth of goods at S. P. Bach's store gets a crayon portrait of themselves or friend free. See sample of work in his window. Hiram Baker received another large invoice of spring goods this week direct from the east. He invites the public to call and inspect these goods and get prices. Meals at all hours at Rilea & Carr's restaurant in Kirkpatrick's building, also a lunch counter in connection where you can get a sandwich or a cup of coffee at any time. The students of the Academy are practicing the drama, "Broken Fetters" which will be played on April 4. This is a splendid play and will no doubt be rendered in good shape. The students of the Academy are preparing the popular drama "Broken Fetters," which will be presented on April 4. This is a splendid play of five acts, and every one will be well paid by hearing it. On April 13, the Choral society of this place will give a grand musical entertainment consisting of solos, duets, quartets, choruses, etc. Lovers of music will do well to bear this in mind as it promises to be the event of the season. Ladies if you are thinking of getting a pair of shoes or a new dress next week, you will want to know where to get the best for the least money. Mr. Baker always carries the best. The entertainment at the Academy on last Saturday evening, though not very largely attended, was a most enjoyable affair. Miss Vandarsal as an elocutionist is one of the best we have ever had the pleasure to listen to, and those who did not hear her missed a treat. The program throughout was good, as was shown by the hearty applause which greeted every performance, several being enthusiastically encored. The music department of the Academy is to be complimented for the good music, both vocal and instrumental, rendered on this occasion. We hope the time is not far distant when the people of Lebanon will more justly appreciate good talent be it "home" or from abroad. E. W. Ashbison & Co. have just placed in position for Mrs. Josie Simpson a handsome cottage monument over the grave of her late husband, Abner C. Simpson and son George, in the Masonic cemetery. It confers great credit on the marble dealers. The top is of dark Barrie granite, while the base is of California granite. The lettering is well done in gold leaf, sunken deep. Upon each side of the cap is the handsome Maccabee emblem, in gold outline, an attractive feature of the monument, the first use of the emblem in either cemetery. The workmanship is first class, with nothing left undone, and the monument has a solid, permanent appearance as well as being handsome in its architecture, that adds to its effect.—Albany Democrat.

Jumped to His Death. The remains of James Tucker, who died in the forks of the Santiam, were brought to Albany Sunday. He was killed on the railroad track near Barlow. He had been to Portland and was returning home. He had only a few dollars in his pocket, and had been riding on a freight train. He was knocked off of the Molalla bridge near Barlow. Another account says that Tucker and E. H. Osburne were beating their way on a freight train, and when the train stopped at Barlow, the car upon which they were riding, stood on the Molalla railroad bridge, about fifty feet above the ground. Fearing they would be detected by the train men and ordered off the car, they jumped off, unaware of the distance to the ground. Osburne was lucky enough to maintain his feet, but Tucker fell headlong to the ground, frightfully angling his body on the rocks below. Tucker was fifty-two years of age, and leaves a wife and five children, residing six miles east of Lebanon, where he has been employed as a farm hand. —Herald. The social given last Tuesday evening by the Ladies Aid Society, in Mrs. Miller's hall, though not largely attended, was a unique affair. The collection of pictures in that family album was the most enjoyable and laughable feature of the evening, but we have come to the conclusion that no picture of ours shall remain behind us in Lebanon. What would those good people have said if they were all present, and have heard those remarks? The whole program was well rendered and very entertaining. A nice lunch was served to all, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in an old fashioned spelling match. Prof. Wilkes and Marks were the captives, and chose up sides, taking anyone in the house who was willing to spell with them, while the Rev. Melley acted as the teacher. Prof. Mark's side came out victorious, with Miss Myrtle Carson spelling the opponent down. All went home feeling well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

REPLY. SOBAVILLE, Or., Tuesday March 19. EDITOR EXPRESS:—Allow me space in your paper to reply to a few articles which have recently appeared in your paper, as items from this place, and signed Rex. In order to do so I must briefly review some of the incidents which have occurred during the past eight or nine months. We invite the attention of your readers to the social condition of our town and vicinity one year ago, and they would find peace and harmony prevailed and good will to all men. About that time there came to our town a so called minister of the gospel, (but whether this be true or not we will leave to the great judge of the world) and for a time occupied the pulpit at this place. It was about this time that an attempt was made against a poor old widow lady to — her out of her mortgage which she held against the C. P. Church at this place. This charge upon the rights of this old lady was made by a set of brave, courageous and daring set of chicken fed set of preachers, with this so called preacher and elders of this place as leaders, but were defeated in this attempt by the old lady and her friends who came to her assistance. Aroused to fury by this defeat, they next attached the bell belonging to said building, removed it from the same and conveyed it to the Seminary as property of their own. For which they paid a damage fee of $50 and part of the cost, and yet they say they are right, but if they were right why did they not stand a trial? "oh consistency thou art a jewel." We next find them pursuing their efforts, in an attack on the Public School, which caused the directors to open their eyes and when the deceivers closed their hands (as they supposed upon the $700) there was nothing left leaves. Aroused now to desperation by their former defeats their last and only chance lay in electing a director to serve with the one they now have then all would be well. But in this they were defeated worse than ever before. The wise men, as they call them, elected their cubs 57 to 11 only 46 majority. This was a death dealing blow and they saw at once that they could no longer hoodwink the people, they had had enough of such work. They now turn upon individuals to belch forth volumes of insults and slanderous allegations, which occurred in the different papers of the county. One which occurred in the Albany Herald of March 13 in which the proceedings of the school meeting is described in a slanderous way. The person who wrote that article was ashamed to sign even a fictitious name and well may be. We will pass over all of that, but the latter part in which he speaks of the ladies and their black catlike bottoms. Now to the best of my remembrance there was but one who wore a bonnet, and she an old lady standing upon the very brink of the grave waiting for God to call her to come up higher, and whose will she endeavors to obey and is a member of the C. P. Church. Now for a man claiming to be a gentleman and will ask to be recognized as such, is an imposition upon society. For such a man is lower than the brutes, and should take his first lessons from such a source. Now another article which occurred in the LEBANON EXPRESS and signed Rex in which he says: "A blacksmith wanted here, one who has capital enough to keep on hand at least three or four sets of shoes and honor enough to pay his debts." As there is but one blacksmith here it is easy to ascertain for whom it is meant. Now Mr. Rex if I owe you anything, ask for it like a man, but as you are now doing you are acting the part of a coward and a villain, hiding yourself behind a fictitious name you think you can abuse and insult as you choose, and you may for a while conceal your identity from the world, but your deeds (which emanate from the darker regions of perdition) will finally unveil you to the world in your true character; a villain of the darkest dye, whose very presence impregnates with evil, and you should be banished from society, and only allowed to run with the coyote, for your sneaking cowardly disposition well qualified you for that position. Now Mr. Rex I will leave you and should you still continue your evil work sign your name, you villain. But I prefer to meet you face to face and talk like a man. J. R. FOUXD.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Cedar Post. First-class codat posts for sale cheap. Call on or address Walter Brown, Albany office, at French's Jewelry store or see S. A. Nickerson at Lebanon.
