Daigleish intends to leave in a few days for British Columbia on a visit to his sister. Born to the wife of Fred Wheeler, on May 1, a daughter. Mother and baby are both doing well. County School Superintendent A. R. Rutherford spent Wednesday in Lebanon visiting our public school. The ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church promise a fine social tomorrow evening at Miller's hall. Frank Miller was badly hurt by falling down the stair steps last Wednesday evening, but is now resting easy. Mr. Allen has W. A. Marks, Charlie Stocks, Doll Bosler and Lewis Crandal at work this week on the water tower. Quite a number of the Maccabers of this city attended the funeral of Conductor Campbell in Corvallis yesterday. Mr. W. E. Chandler has opened his stove and tin store in Mr. Cruson's building that Mr. W. F. Ayers formerly occupied. The U. S. grand jury in the case of J. L. Cowan, president of the Linn County National bank, did not find an indictment. The social and supper give by the Pearl Bebekah lodge last Friday evening was a big success. The program was especially good. Messrs. Joseph Smith and Dan Shaw who arrested Davenport, had nothing to do with putting up the job on him. They acted only as deputy marshals under orders from the government. The social given by the Ladies Aid society last Tuesday evening at the Academy was much enjoyed by all who were fortunate to be present. It was hard to tell which was the most appreciated, the ice cream and cake, or the program. Mr. Richard Fry, a printer who has been working in Albany for sometime was visiting his parents in Lebanon the first of the week but left Wednesday for Medford where he goes to take his brother, David Fry's, position on the mail. David goes to California. The ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church will give an ice cream social in this city tomorrow evening. An excellent program will be rendered. A male quartet from Albany will be present and sing several selections. Died, at the family residence in this city on Sunday, April 23, Mrs. Samuel Conn, after a lingering illness. After a patient suffering for a number of months the end came at last. The family have the earnest sympathy of all in their deep affliction. The burial took place yesterday.—Herald.

Pugh & Munsey have just received a large invoice of ladies' children's and men's shoes. See them and you will buy them. These hard times we want to save all we can, but of course we have to eat, still you will save some by getting your groceries at S. P. Bach's. Hiram Baker received another large invoice of spring goods this week direct from the east. He invites the public to call and inspect these goods and get prices. Ladies if you are thinking of getting a pair of shoes or a new dress next week, you will want to know where to get the best for the least money. Mr. Baker always carries the best. Died, April 20, 1895, in Lyons, Linn county, Oregon, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Zimwalt, Mrs. Martha A. Bounds, aged seventy-six years, eleven months and fifteen days. Mrs. Bounds was one of the pioneers, coming to Oregon in 1847 with her first husband, Thomas McBride. They removed from Missouri and crossed the plains with oxen, enduring the hardship incident to such a journey. Her first husband was drowned at Oregon City 1848, leaving her with two sons and four daughters. Her second husband, John B. Bounds, died in 1878. She was a devoted member of the Christian church and died with a hope of a blessed immortality. Mr. S. M. Garland was employed by Mrs. Davenport and some friends of "Doc." to represent him. Mr. Garland went to Portland and asked Judge Bellinger to permit Davenport to withdraw his plea of guilty and to enter a plea of not guilty. This was readily granted, Judge Bellinger making as given in the Telegram, that he had called the foreman of the grand jury, Mr. E. W. Cornell, before him to state the character of the evidence given in the investigation. From it he had decided that Davenport was unjustified to manufacture his counterfeiting molds and dollars by Charles Fluh, who was employed by Special Treasury Agent Harris, of San Francisco, who had been detailed to investigate the source of the counterfeit dollars, with which Linn county was flooded last fall. He said that the case would be set for trial in its regular order, and that he would instruct the jury to find 5 cents of per guilty.

The Closing of School. Our public schools will close their year's work next Friday. Closing day will be marked by a public exhibit of school work. It will be wholly the work of the pupils during the past year, and will be artistically arranged and displayed by them. The exhibit will open to the pupils at 1:00 o'clock, and to the patrons and friends at 2:00 o'clock. All patrons of the school and friends are cordially invited to attend. After the review of the exhibit, will be the assembly of pupils in rooms 3 and 4, and the work will close with selections of music, and invitations and opportunity for remarks by the patrons, and farewell remarks by the teachers. On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the pupils in a body will start from the school building for a picnic on the Ridgway Butte. The pupils of each room will be under the careful guidance of their teacher, and the whole affair will be conducted in an organized manner under the supervision of the principal. The party will move with the school flag at the head, and cross the river to the foot of the mountain. On arriving at the foot a short halt will be called, and the ascent arranged. Alpenstocks and ropes will be provided, and the smaller pupils move first to the ascent, aided and supported by the larger ones. On arriving at the summit a select literary program consisting of recitations songs and speeches will be delivered. The characteristic "box" will be at the top and each member of the party will deposit his card etc., in true Alpine style. Descriptions of the trip and original contributions by the pupils will be published in our issue following. Surprise Party. A merry May party from the G. A. R. post and corps went to Comrade Hickman's Wednesday afternoon with well filled May baskets to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday. Owing to the great number in the attacking party he surrendered gracefully to the enemy. Dr. and Mrs. Skirworth were honored guests of the party. A very happy time was enjoyed by all and especially by the "Boys" who lived over many hours of the past. There were twelve veterans present. Mr. Hickman was the oldest and his son the youngest. The average age of the "Boys" was fifty-seven and seven-twelfths years. Those present were; Messrs. and Madams. Hickman, Montague, Cruson, Boslar, T. Hickman, Crandall, Randle, Saltmarsh, Cochell, Reed, Brown and Skipworth. Messrs. Hyde, Whitta and Stokes. Mesdames Wilde and Miller. Misses Armstrong, Shaw and Saltmarsh. After enjoying the good things, they left wishing long life and happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Hickman, who pronounced this the happiest hour of their lives. A Curious Birth. On Monday morning last, near this city there was born to a most respectable couple a very interesting curiosity. The child was perfectly formed from the waist down. Above the waist, two bodies seem to have been pressed or wedged together, with two distinct, separate and natural heads; three arms and four hands. The right arm of one and the left arm of the other were in one limb, ending in two perfect hands. The other two arms and hands were perfectly formed. The heads were on separate necks, but the bodies were so closely knitted together that the distinct features of each could hardly be detected. The heads and faces were perfect and the expressions of the two faces were natural and pleasing. Each head had an abundant growth of hair. The child was born dead and its picture was taken at the Boyd Gallery. Dr. L. Foley was the attending physician and has one of the photographs. The remains were buried in the Masonic cemetery. Ice Cream. Following is the program that will be rendered by the ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church tomorrow evening at their ice cream social in the Miller hall. Vocal Solo—"Mr. J. F. Emmiett. Recitation—"We Were Crowded in the Cabin."—Alpha Donaca. Selection—"Quartet." Quartet. Recitation—"One Hundred Years to Come."—Gladys Andrews. Vocal Deet—"He, She."—Mrs. S. M. Garland. WRECK ON THE O. P. A Brakeman Was Instantly Killed and the Conductor Afterward Dies. The worst wreck in the history of Oregon Pacific railroad happened with a freight train last Monday afternoon at bridge 24, just west of tunnel No. 3, about one and a half miles east of Pioneer and twelve miles east of Toledo, the nearest telegraph office. The freight train was going west. It had just unloaded several cars of ties, passed through the tunnel and upon the bridge, when, as nearly as can be told, one of the cars jumped the track, the jar of the bumping causing the bridge to break and go down. It fell just as the engine had crossed. The Albany Herald gives the following account of the wreck: The accident happened at the bridge across Yaquina river which belogs about forty feet west of the west end of the tunnel. The engine was on the bridge when it is thought a car heavily loaded with stove bolts jumped the track, and striking the timbers caused the bridge to collapse. Fowler said he saw the cars going down and he jumped. He was hurled against the timbers in the edge of the tunnel and bruised considerably, but was not seriously hurt. The passenger train was about forty minutes behind the freight train, and unless they were flagged must have emerged from the tunnel to crash into the wreck. Fowler ran through the tunnel and flagged the passenger train, which proceeded at once to the scene of the wreck. This was about 3:30 p. m. When they arrived several farmers were already doing all in their power to help the victims of the disaster. Brakeman Wilcox was nowhere to be seen and Conductor Campbell was pinned down to a flat car by falling timbers and was crushed into insensibility. It was only after forty minutes of hard work that he was extricated, and in spite of prompt medical assistance from the relief train which arrived as soon as possible, with Dr. G. W. Maston, the company's surgeon, from this city, and a train from Yaquina with Dr. Rich on board, he never regained consciousness, and died at 1:45 yesterday. From W. M. Toner, who was on the passenger train, and Conductor Tway, who had charge of the relief train, it is learned that the bridge was one of the best on the road and undoubtedly the cause of the accident was a car jumping the track. The engine and tender remained upon the track, having crossed in safety, but the top of the cab was knocked off by falling timbers, one of which struck the fireman, Robert Perciful, and his hand was badly burned by grasping a hot steam pipe. The engineer, Arthur Casteel, escaped without injury. The remains of Brakeman Joseph Wilcox were found beneath the wreck in four feet of water, he having been instantly killed. The remains of Conductor John Campbell were taken to Corvallis. He is a brother of Mrs. E. U. Will, of this city, and was a bright, capable young man, liked by everybody. He was a member of the Conductors Union, the A. O. U. W. and Knights of Maccabees. The remains of Brakeman Joseph Wilcox were brought to this city, and will be taken to Philomath for burial. His wife will have the sympathy of all in her affliction. The deceased was a young man of excellent habits and was popular with all who knew him.

DIED. Mrs. Kime, who departed from this life April 23, 1895, at 2:00 p. m., was born in North Carolina, March 14, 1829. While quite young she moved with her parents to Indiana. At twelve years of age she made a profession of religion and joined the Methodist church. Her maiden name was Mary Margaret Smith. In the year 1843 she was married to James Kime, with whom she lived until her death. Shortly after her marriage, with her husband she united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church, where she lived a loyal and consistent christian the remainder of her life. In 1853 they moved to Oregon and located near Eugene, where they lived about ten years moving next to Springfield. They moved from there to Sodaville four years ago where they lived until her death. Wherever she has lived she has made a host of friends. Those who knew her best, loved her most. She leaves a husband and two daughters to mourn her loss. The funeral services took place from their home to the Dodge cemetery four miles west of Sodaville. We extend our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to all the kind friends and neighbors who greatly assisted us in the late sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother. JAMES KIME, MRS.
