If business could only be measured by bicycling there would be no reason to complain of hard times.

Those who expect to get fine farms at little or no cost on the Siletz reservation are likely to be disappointed.

Morrow county has 241,680 sheep. Out of this number 43,500 has been driven out of the county by local and Eastern buyers. The lamb crop is estimated at 125,000.

S. DAKOTA is to abolish its militia. The people in these times find more use for pruning hooks and plows, than for swords, spears and pretty dudes in uniform, says an exchange.

It would appear that the Kickapoo reservation lost its reputation when it ceased being reserved. So far only some 440 farms have been staked off out of a possible 24,000. The other boomers are coming home by slow freight.

EASTERN Oregon and Washington has had sufficient rain to ensure good crops. Wheat took a jump to 40 cents at L.Grande last week, and 20,000 bushels changed hands at this figure. The seller had bought the greater part for 25 cents.

THE crop outlook was never brighter than at present. The fair amount of spring showers and sunshine has done wonders in bringing forth this assurance of every production. That another year will bring our country to a normal condition now seems certain.

While plowing on an island in Missouri a man recently unearthed a rusty tin box containing $2700, a diamond ring and a gold watch. The ground had just been cleared and the box was found under a log turned up by the plow. He says the paper currency is in good condition and is undoubtedly genuine and that the dates on the coins show that the box was buried over a quarter of a century ago.

HERE is something worth trying, says an exchange, should you have occasion: "There is no use walking the floor with a felon," says a gentleman who has had experience in that direction. "Wrap a cloth closely around the felon, leaving the end open. Pour gun powder in the end and shake it down until the felon is covered. Then keep it wet with camphor. In two hours the pain will be relieved and a perfect cure quickly follow."

The great iron industry of the United States is now looking up and the big manufactories are nearly all running on full time. This of itself is a propitious outlook. Following closely all periods of close financial times of our country it will be seen that this has been the first industry to move from its lethargy. And it is so now. A cheerful view of coming events is surely being imbued into the spirit of the times.

ONE of the most wonderful clocks in the world is being exhibited in St. Petersburg. It was originally manufactured for the late Duke Charles, of Brunswick, who bequeathed it to the Swiss confederation. There are no fewer than ninety-five faces to this colossal timepiece. It indicates simultaneously the time of day at thirty different spots of the earth's surface, beside the movement of the earth around the sun, the phases of the moon, the signs of the zodiac, the passage over the meridian of more than fifty stars of the Northern Hemisphere, and the date according to the Gregorian, Greek, Muslim and Hebrew calendars. So complicated are the works that it took two years to put them together after the clock had been sent in detached pieces from Switzerland to Russia.

OUR order could lead a very valuable lesson from the doctrine of the Quaker, or Friends' Church. That organization teaches, and early instills in its members the fact that there is no profit or gain in any of the courts, and they put it in this way: "The man who wins, loses, and the man who loses is robbed." It comes about as near the practical truth as it is possibly can; in fact, its truth itself. How many have learned that truth to their sorrow? Our organization has kept pretty clear of the courts, considering all things, and now it is entirely too late in the day to resort to a method where it is so publicly known and clearly understood that "he that wins loses, and he that loses is robbed." Brothers, whatever our differences may be in our order let us settle them out of court.

PETER H. BURNETT, ex-governor of California, who was a pioneer Oregonian, left an estate valued at about $67,000. His will, which has been filed for probate, is remarkable for the advice it gives rather than for the bequests. It was made four years ago when Burnett was eighty-four years old. The seven sentiments which the simple old governor desired to perpetuate in his will are: "Pay your honest debts; never disgrace the family; be just to all men, yourself included; assist your honest, sober and industrious relatives; property is only desirable for two purposes: To procure the necessities of life and to be more able to be charitable; be intimate only with good people; have faith in God and your country." Governor Burnett had $65,000 in government bonds to back up his first sentiment and the remaining six came easy.

The following from the Salem Post is of a very serious character, and puts a new phase on the character of some of the members of the last legislature, and it is no wonder they stood in with railroad commissions and jobbery generally. Some of the rooms in the state house are undergoing a few needy repairs in the way of kalsomining and frescoing the ceilings. The room occupied by some of the committees during the last legislature were left in a very filthy condition; the carpets were spoiled by tobacco juice and the ceilings ruined by smoke. It looks very much as though some of the members or the clerks might have been raised in a pig pen, if their quarters were to be judged. Many of the chairs and tables were also broken and rendered useless, all of which are of the most expensive quality, and when the next session is called these broken articles will have to be replaced by new ones.

THERE never was a time in the history of the nation when insurance was so cheap and when the necessity of it was so great as at the present. Every man who has a dependant should secure protection for such one by taking a policy in some responsible order. Almost any order is good enough for membership, and the man or woman seeking protection for those nearest and dearest to them, cannot miss it by uniting with any good fraternal beneficial order. Insurance in an old line insurance company is too expensive for a person of ordinary means to carry; but in a fraternal beneficiary order the cost is so reasonable that a poor man can easily meet the expense if he so desires. No one possessing a spark of love or affection for their dear ones would hesitate a moment to give the protection when assured of the small cost attached thereto. Now, to any men or women who have not secured insurance on their lives in favor of their dependants we say: Come, join our order and protect your loved ones.—Frater.

Salem proposes raising $1,000 for a 4th of July celebration; Corvallis will celebrate; likewise Eugene; Brownsville will do the business at home. There will be plenty of justification this year.

FLOWERS AND PLANTS.
Among flowers chrysanthemums live the longest after being cut.
An attempt is being made to export flowers from Australia, refrigerating them as beef and milk are treated.
THERE is a wild flower in Turkey that is the exact floral image of a humming bird; the breast is green, the wings are a deep rose color, the throat yellow, the head and beak almost black.
PLANTS often exhibit something very much like intelligence. If a bucket of water during a dry season be placed a few inches from a growing pumpkin or melon vine the latter will turn from its course and in a day or two will get one of its leaves in the water.
