Ninety in the shade yesterday. J.B. Thompson was in Scio this week. Ed Umphrey returned from Portland last Saturday. G.M. Westfall and Joe Kelso left Tuesday for Fish Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Settle enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. S. Gentry last Sunday. Miss Lela Westfall and Minnie Thompson attended the picnic at Brownsville last week. A divorce has been granted in Portland to Ida E. Dorris from her husband Sid G. Dorris, of Albany. The friends of Miss Lizette Thompson at this place will be sorry to hear she is dangerously ill at her home in Albany. Miss Walker and Elbert Thompson went to Elk creek last Saturday evening on their wheels, returning Sunday afternoon. W.J. Guy returned this week from a visit to his people at Dallas, where he had a pleasant stay among his family and friends. A.M. Baltimore finished hauling the lumber for the new bridge across the ditch north of town and expects to complete the work Saturday. Regular preaching service and Sunday school at Cumberland Presbyterian church, Sunday morning. No C.E. or preaching in the evening. Rev. N. J. Bryans and wife are still holding meetings in their tabernacle across the canal near Mr. Harden's place. Much interest is manifested and large crowds attend. The Southern Pacific Company will sell round trip tickets, good going on July 5, and morning of the 4th, and returning good until July 8, for single fare one way to all points in Oregon. F. U. Hickok, agent. We are pleased to acknowledge the present of a fine mess of lake trout from P. M. Smith, who has returned from Fish Lake, with several pounds of flesh taken off his portly figure. He reported a fine time, but very cold weather. Attorney Garland left for Portland yesterday, to conduct the defense of Davenport for counterfeiting, in the United States district court. Several persons went as witnesses from this city, and Davenport's neighborhood. Messrs. Joseph Stewart and E. Chandler drove to Salem the first of the week with the view to ascertain something of the design of the different kinds of dry, vs. which Mr. Stewart contemplates buying in the near future. George Smith found some money the first of the week that has been buried in their old home place many years ago. Our informant says George would not tell how much he found, but that he saw three $20 gold pieces that he knows were dug up. They were dated 1852, 1895 and 1897. Mr. Turner and wife came here Monday from Callanra on a visit to Mr. Turner's father, the Rev. L. Turner. He was surprised to find that changes incident upon the life of Methodist ministers had placed his father at Independence, to which place the son went. I. R. Borum has accepted a position in L. Viereck's barber shop at Albany, and commenced work last Wednesday. Mr. Borum is a first-class tonsorialist, and will give good satisfaction, besides is a congenial fellow. We think Mr. Viereck fortunate in securing Mr. Borum. At the meeting of the board of directors last Thursday, the following teachers were elected for the Lebanon public school the coming year: H. H. White, of Shedd, principal; W. W. Alingham, of Coburg, assistant principal, and Misses Fannie Griggs, Allie Temple, and Ida Elkins. The directors have decided to hire another room for one of the teachers, but as yet have not selected a one. Ruff Hiatt and Davenport Bros. sold 100 head of cattle; fifty one year olds and fifty two year olds, to W. Ellotte the first of the week, and they will be drove to eastern Oregon. Hiatt and Davenport delivered them at Lower Soda Wednesday. They are an extra lot, and Mr. Ellotte was well pleased with his bargain. Ruff informs us that Mr. Ellotte is a fine man to deal with and fulfilled his part of the trade to a letter. The Express received a letter from Prof. G. H. Wilkes this week. He is well and visiting an uncle in Hastings, Nebraska, but will return to Crainville, Kansas, in a few days. In his letter he says: "Our country here has been blessed with universal rains, and plenty too. The entire country is one almost unlimited garden. I am sure that the sun's rays in its daily rounds shines nowhere on a more promising spot than through all Kansas and Nebraska. The spirit of the people is high, and they have the greatest anticipations."

Hiram Baker buys all kinds of furs. Mayer & Kimbrough wants you produce. Old papers for sale here at five cents per dozen. Chandler does his own work and works cheap. Miss Dumond is selling millinery at hard time prices. Smith has just added fifty new books to his circulating library. If you want to sell property list it with Peterson & Andrews. George Rice represents some of the best insurance companies in the world. Pugh & Munsey want your produce and will pay you the highest price paid. George Rice writes all kinds of insurance, and solicits a share of your patronage. Pugh & Munsey are always ahead on fresh groceries at prices as low as the lowest. Paul Smith, J. Keckler and Tom Parker returned Tuesday from the mountains. Wanted at the Lebanon art gallery, hay, oats or wheat, in exchange for photographs. After June 1, Miss Dumond will sell all millinery goods at cost. Stock perfectly new and the latest, call and be convinced. Mr. Z. T. Truelove, who has been engaged in business in Portland for some time, has sold out there and removed to Lebanon with his family. Grandma Bland had a paralytic stroke Tuesday morning and is in a critical condition. She is eighty-eight years old, and her recovery is very doubtful. Messrs. Dolgleish & Everett are taking the platform out of the back end of their store, and are enlarging their stock. They received a carload of twine last week. Dr. Foley, Dr. Dudley, Dan Shaw, P. W. Morgan, Joe Smith and Justice Lovelee went to Portland yesterday as witnesses in the Davenport case. Davenport's chances for getting clear are not as good as they looked some time ago. Miss Mary Stewart Cundiff, of Albany, well known throughout the valley as an eloquent of rare ability, will give a recital in Lebanon the second week in July under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. This promises to be a rare literary treat. We received a letter from B. F. Bodwell this week, in which he stated he had been sick with the la grippe, more or less ever since he had been in San Francisco, and that he intend to return to Lebanon about the first of July for a short lay-off, and see if this "beautiful web-footed weather" would not get him to feeling better. The third quarterly conference for Lebanon circuit of the South M. E. church, will be held at Crabtree chapel next Saturday and Sunday. Preaching Saturday morning and evening; also Sunday morning and evening. The chapel will be dedicated at 11:30 a. m., Sunday by Rev. I. L. Fritzel, of Dallas. A cordial invitation is extended to all. W. L. Molloy, Pastor. While J. F. Hyde and wife were in Oregon City, a sneak thief broke into, and ransacked their house. It was evident that the thief was after money only; for he broke open Mr. Hyde's desk, fished up his city book to see what he had on hand, found it was about $20, and then made a desperate effort to find it. Mr. Hyde is not only city treasurer, but financier for the A. O. U. W. and the K. O. T. M. The thief must have known this and also, that he had drawn some city money a few days before. The thief was mistaken about him leaving it at home—while he had only a small amount on hand—he had put it in the Albany bank before going. The thief got $1.45 which Mrs. Hyde had hid away and had been overlooked, for his trouble. Married in the Evangelical tabernacle at Waterloo, last Sunday, June 23, Mr. J. Bailey, of Waterloo, and Miss Ida Brown of Santiam, Rev. C. N. Plozman officiating. At 4:50 p. m., after a discourse, Rev. C. C. Poling offered a prayer in which he called God's blessing on the ceremony that was to follow, after which Rev. Kelley of Corvallis sang a solo; during which the bridal party appeared, Prof. W. J. Grimes, as groomsmen and his sister, Emma Powers, as bridesmaid. They marched up the aisle and took their places, Rev. Plozman soon bound them in the holy bonds of matrimony; after which a crown of white roses was placed on the bride's head. The minister in very impressive words reminded them that the crown was earthly and corruptible, but if true and faithful to the Savior, they would receive a crown "that fadeth not away." He then offered a prayer for the happy couple. Congratulations followed after which they repaired with a few friends to the home of the groom's parents, where a bountiful repast awaited them. We join with their many friends in wishing them a prosperous voyage over life's journey and together.
