Mountain Climbers.

The height of Mount Adams, as stated in Professor Lyman's article in last Sunday's Oregonian, is a genuine surprise to most people, as he asserts that Mount Adams is at least 1000 feet higher than Mount Hood. In order to more thoroughly determine the truth of this, Prof. Edgar McClure, of the University of Oregon, is about to undertake the difficult task of conveying a mercurial barometer to the top of Mount Adams. It may not be generally known that the aneroid barometer usually carried in the mountain climbing is not reliable, while the mercurial barometer is absolutely accurate. The latter, however, is extremely awkward to carry, on account of its length, and the fact that it must be always kept upright. The jar caused by a single mis-step is apt to break it. Every attempt made to take a mercurial barometer to the summit of Rainier has failed, and triangulation heretofore has been unsatisfactory and unreliable, as the summit is a rounded dome, with no monument on which to focus the angles. Had a party been stationed there with a heliograph this difficulty would have been obviated.

Secretary T. Brook White of the Mazamas, says that he carried four aneroid barometers up Rainier, but that when he found out how unreliable they were he did not care to make public the results of his observations. He says that through the efforts of the Mazamas, the height of Mount Adams will doubtless be determined beyond all question, for, in addition to the use of barometers, accurate triangulation will be effected by means of a heliograph at the summit for a focus. The matter of securing accurate photographs of glaciers, will be taken care of by the mountain climbers this year, at the suggestion of Prof. H. F. Reid, of the Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, and a general scientific research instituted during the annual climb.

Circuit Court.

Messrs. John Isom and J. E. Stockman, on the charges of removing wheat from the warehouse without leave of owners, yesterday pleaded not guilty and the cases were continued to the next term of court.

J. G. Boulin the Lyons hotel man was tried on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and found guilty. On one charge of selling liquor without a license he was found not guilty and on the other charge he will be put on trial today.

Department No. 1 of the circuit court adjourned yesterday, the cases on the docket having all been disposed of.

In the case of the state vs J R Stockman the motion for a change of venue was argued. Affidavits were presented and it was alleged a fair and impartial trial could not be had in Linn county on account of existing prejudice, the chief grounds being the threats and demonstrations at a public meeting at the court house, and caricatures exhibited upon the street at the time. The court granted the motion and ordered the change of venue to Marion county.

J G Boulin plead guilty to carrying a concealed weapon and was fined $50 and was ordered committed until paid. The case against him for selling liquor unlawfully was continued, as were also similar cases against U L Reed.

Farmers & Merchants Ins. Co vs Henry Gerhart et al, as Admr., recovery of money; continued.

Berrigan & Humphrey vs Evangelical church of Waterloo. Motion of Dalgleish & Everett for execution on decree allowed.

Department No. 2 of the circuit court before Judge Hewitt, will convene on Monday, July 15.

Two at a Time.

The fifth stage robbery within the past three months occurred Tuesday night near the Topsy grade on the Ager-Klamath route. Both the Klamath Falls bound and the Ager bound stages were stopped. The driver of the stage going to Klamath Falls was held two hours, awaiting the arrival of the one going to Ager. The lone robber rifled the mail pouches, only taking the registered matter. H. V. Gates, of Hillsboro, Or., the only passenger, was relieved of $2.

His Leg Pulled Off.

One of A. J. Anderson's legs was caught in a pully one day last week near Tillamook, and pulled off at the knee. The remaining part of the leg was amputated at the thigh, but Mr. Anderson was so badly injured that he died shortly afterward. Mr. Anderson owned a saw mill near that place, in which he was working at the time of the accident.

Eternally Blowing About Salem.

D. E. Swank, of Aumsville, has been paying sixty cents for wheat for some time. At the same time only forty-four cents was paid in Salem. The Post candidly says: We have a paper published in this city which is eternally and incessantly blowing about what Salem is doing. To read it one would suppose that Salem was the most progressive town in the United States. Salem is going to build factories—Salem will soon have additional railroads—Salem is extending her electric car lines—Salem is about extending her motor lines to Silverton, Independence and other places—Salem wants this and Salem wants that, and Salem is going to have the devil and all—but those boasts amount to nothing. The people have got tired reading them, and now they want to see some of these things accomplished. The fact that the Salem mill is paying sixteen cents a bushel less for wheat than a little town out in the country, will do the city more harm than all the puffing and blowing of a dozen newspapers can do her good. Indeed Salem will never amount to any more than she is until better prices are paid here for agricultural products than are paid in the outside towns.

Grand Jury Report.

In the circuit court of the state of Oregon for Linn county. To the Hon. district court above named we, the grand jury of Linn county for the June term 1895, would respectfully report that we have disposed of all business brought before us, that we have made an examination of the court house buildings and county jail, we have observed no evidences of extravagance in the furnishing of the buildings named.

We would respectfully recommend that the janitor look after the water closets a little more careful.

We have made a hasty examination of the books of records, kept in the sheriff's and clerk's offices, and have found nothing to criticize, we have been kindly assisted and courteously treated by the officers in charge of the different county offices named. For the kind and courteous treatment extended us by the officers of the court and county we extend our thanks and respectfully ask to be discharged. Signed by W. O. Smith, R. Alley, O. C. Ferguson, J. Smallmon, M. S. Titus J. N. Campbell and J. Craft.

Excellent Fodder.

George W. Davis, at his beautiful hillside home in South Salem, says the Statesman, has a small patch of ground from which he is king a crop this year that is full of suggestion to the farmer who has stock and wants good feed for them. It is a two acre piece of vetches and wheat mixed, sown last fall with fifty pounds of vetches and one bushel of wheat to the acre, the yield of which is simply immense. It is really interesting to see it. The vetches have grown to an average height of six feet and have branched out so as to make a solid mass that will turn off perhaps four tons to the acre. It makes Mr. Davis puff to get the scythe through it. And the best feature is that cattle thrive on it; another good quality is it grows two good crops per year. A few acres of such growth would be profitable on most any farm.

Drowned at Roseburg.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Roseburg says that "A. G. Osburn, a young business man of this city, formerly of Eugene, was bathing along with several other young men. They had a rope attached to a pole with which they swung out into the river. Mr. Osburn swung out and started to come ashore, when of a sudden he threw up his hands and sank, not rising to the surface. Several bathers dived after him but could not find him. They then dragged the river and recovered the body at the expiration of half an hour." Mr. Osburn had been married but a few weeks, his bride being Miss Grace Abrams, of Eugene.

It Won't Do It.

From Prof. F. L. Washburn it is learned that the scheme of boring a hole in a tree, inserting sulphur, and then plugging up the hole as a sure method of killing tent caterpillars will not work. The sulphur is not dissolvable in the sap of the tree, and will not, as stated, rise in the sap to the leaves and kill the caterpillars by the thousands. There are about fifty newspapers in Oregon that ought to do what the Times here does, correct the statement all of them have published.—Corvallis Times.

SEATTLE WANTS IT

DELEGATES WORKING FOR

The Next International Epworth League Conference. Some of the Inducements Offered by the Sound City, Toronto Tries.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 29.

—The next International Epworth League conference will not have to go begging for a place to meet. Toronto people expect to get the convention, but will hardly have a walk-over. The Pacific coast has sent a strong delegation in the interests of Seattle, Washington. They come with an invitation from the city council, to guarantee a round-trip ticket west of the Missouri river for $40 and convention expenses to the amount of $10,000. The committee is headed by E. L. Blaine, a prominent young lawyer. His efforts are ably seconded by J. H. Mendenhall, of Spokane; Rev. Dr. Few of Tacoma, and Rev. Archer H. Briggs, of San Antonio, California. "Methodism; Its Doctrines and Spirit," was the topic of the conference today.

Fourth of July Parade Boycotted.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Most of the labor unions of the city have declared a boycott on the Fourth of July procession to be held here, and today San Francisco typographical union notified its members that any printer who marched in the procession would be fined $25.

A Denver Bank Fails.

DENVER, June 29.—The People's Savings bank, which successfully battled hard times in the Rocky mountain region for the past two years, was obliged to make an assignment today. It is understood the depositors are fully protected.

Tennessee.

C. N. McKnight returned unexpectedly last week from Knox Butte.

Allie Wallace is staying at Spicer for the past few weeks.

Bert Blacklaw was at Knox Butte last Sunday.

Few attended Sunday school last Sunday.

C. D. McKnight and Miss Nellie Hamon visited this vicinity last Sunday.

The ending of Miss Blacklaw's school here last Friday, was made memorable by a "Grand Picnic." People from all around was present. In the morning, there was songs, speeches, Dialogues, etc. The dinner was immense. The stand of C. N. McKnight was well attended. In the afternoon there was racing and base ball; The Spicer nine competing against the Tennessee nine. Spicer had the upper hand till the fifth inning—which was agreed to be the game—then Tennessee played them a tie. The tie was played out, ending in twenty-one to fourteen, in favor of Tennessee. Walter Davis was the winner of the sack race, out of seven. W. Blacklaw won the potato race. The ladies race was won by Laura Baltimore. Young men 100 yard race; P. Scott. All being satisfied with the day's sport, went home, thus ended the fourth annual picnic of Tennessee.

It is supposed that Tennessee will be a lonesome place on the Fourth of July.

To Fight for Their Lands.

A peculiar case is in the United States land office at Spokane, wherein the Northern Pacific in attempting to oust two Indians, Cho-ho-sin-wah and Camille from their homesteads. The land is near the town of Valley, a short distance south of Chewelah. Both Indians made homestead entries for different pieces of land something over ten years ago. It was afterward learned that through a mistake, or the ignorance of the Indian agent, the two parcels of land intended to have been selected by the Indians were one and the same piece. This matter was afterward adjusted to the satisfaction of the Indians, Camille taking an adjoining piece of land. The present trouble is owing to the fact that the Northern Pacific Railroad company claims the land as indemnity land. The evidence in the case points out the fact, however, that the railroad company never received their indemnity charter until years after the land had been selected by the Indians, and it is probable that the red men will win the case.—Sun.

An $8000 Fire at Oregon City.

PORTLAND, June 29.—Oregon City was visited by a destructive fire at an early hour this morning, and in a very short time about $8000 worth of property was swept away. William Fairchild, a fireman, fell from the roof of the burning building, fracturing two ribs and receiving other serious internal injuries. The fire was first discovered in the restaurant of Lawrence Ruonic, which was totally destroyed. The confectionery establishment of W. A. Wheeler and the office of Dr. J. W. Norris were destroyed. The buildings were owned by G. W. Harding.

The Colma Alright.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The local inspectors of steamers, who have been investigating the loss of the Colima, today made a report on the loss of the steamer, whitewashing every body. The report states that nothing was wrong with the ship or cargo, and everything possible was done to prevent the disaster by the captain and officers.
