SENATE BILL No. 213

OREGON'S NEW GAME LAWS

The Hunting and Fishing Season
Is on and It Is Well to Know What the Law Says.

Senate bill No. 213 which was passed last session of the legislature and is now a law, embraces practically all the legal restrictions surrounding the hunter and fisherman's amusement. Following is a synopsis of every section, except such portion as relates to the duties of the fish and game protectors.

Elk, moose or mountain sheep cannot be hunted or killed from December 1, to August 1, and must not be killed any time for skin, hide, horns, etc.

Spotted fawn must not be killed at any time.

Deer must not be killed from December 1, to August 1, nor at any time during the year in the night time—between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise.

Deer or elk must not be pursued with hounds.

No person shall take, kill, injure or destroy grouse, pheasants, Mongolian pheasant, quail, partridge from December 1 to September 1. Prairie chickens may be killed July, August and September. Mongolian pheasant must not be killed at any time east of the Cascade mountains.

Game birds must not be killed for sale except from October 15, to November 15. No person shall kill in one day more than twenty birds and no person shall sell or offer for sale, or have in cold storage more than five days after the open season closes any elk, deer, trout, grouse, pheasants, Mongolian pheasant, geese, duck or quail.

Common carriers are made liable for carrying out of the statute or having for shipment except for breeding or exhibition purposes any game birds.

No one shall trap, net or ensnare any quail or "bobwhite," prairie chicken, grouse or pheasant or have them in possession except for breeding purposes.

No person shall remove eggs from the nests of wild ducks of any kind, or other game birds or wild fowl, or have them in possession.

No person shall have in possession any male or female deer, fawn, elk, moose, or mountain sheep, or any mountain, brook or lake trout at any time when it is unlawful to kill the same.

No person shall from November 1, to April 1, catch, kill or have in possession any mountain, lake or brook trout. No person shall take wild fish at any time with seine, wire net or other device except hook and line.

No person shall use a sink box for shooting ducks, goose, swan, etc., or any battery or swivel gun.

Nobody shall build or use any blind or other structure in any public waters more than 100 feet from shore for the purpose of shooting water fowl.

No person, after night, shall fire off any gun or build any fire or flash any light or burn any illuminating substance on lake or river margins, by the aid of which to shoot water fowl. (Curry county exempt.)

No person shall kill or have in possession or offer for sale any wild swan or wild duck between March 15, and September 15.

No person shall use drugs, charms or powders or explosive material of any kind for the purpose of killing or destroying fish.

Dams on streams frequented by food fishes must be provided with fishways.

Sawmills and the like must not dump sawdust in streams or where high water will carry into fish streams.

No person shall kill or destroy or have in possession except for breeding purposes any nightingale, skylark, thrush, linnnet or other song bird; or remove from the nests or destroy the eggs of said birds.

The sea gull must not be molested.

No person shall enter growing grain not his own for hunting purposes, nor permit his dog to do so, without proper consent; no person shoot upon or from the public highway.

Violations of the foregoing provisions are declared to be misdemeanors and are punishable by fine of $25 to $100 and costs, or imprisonment in lieu thereof.

Honeyman, DeHart & Co, a corporation, vs Matthews & Washburn and S. W. Dodd, suit for injunction and receivership; decree and findings. Receiver was ordered to turn over money, notes and accounts in his hands to the defendant S. W. Dodd after deducting fees.

Court adjourned until September 9.

SHILOH'S CURE is sold on a guarantee. It cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure Only one cent a dose 25cts., 50cts., and $1.00. Sold by N. W. Smith.

Will Make a Case.

Speaking of the arrest of Doc Davenport, which took place on last Thursday, the Oregonian says: "Doc" Davenport, the counterfeiter, who on his last appearance in the United States court here told such a plausible story about having been enticed into making counterfeit dollars by a special agent, who was putting up a job on him, and who thereby secured his discharge, is now to have another examination on a charge of aiding the Jennings brothers in making several thousand dollars' "worth" of bogus gold coin.

The Jennings found they were being watched, and fled to Nevada, where they were arrested for a similar offense and they have confessed that Davenport planned the scheme and showed them how to make the bogus coin and to give it. When they left their cabin in the Cascades they left a big can full of this sort of coin, which has since disappeared, and the supposition is that confederates have stolen it and put it in circulation. Davenport served one term for counterfeiting, and so is liable to do wicked things, but it is not safe to hold him guilty because others have made a vicarious confession of his guilt.

SHILOH'S CURE, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five only 25c. Children love it. Sold by N. W. Smith.

One From Nickell.

Charley Nickell says in his paper, the Jacksonville Times: "When the breezy, blooming bloomers are universally the go, how will tailors press the creases in them, I should like to know? When the baby's head is nodding and it wants to take a nap, how can mamma lull her darling in a bifurcated lap? How can Bridget shoo the chickens with no skirt to flop and fling, when the creatures go to grubbing in the garden in the spring? But the question most annoying that our speculations hatch: Can she vie with men in action when she goes to strike a match?"

LACE, LACE, lace. Just received a new and large supply of dress laces—coarse and fine—linen lace. Ladies shoes, coarse and fine; also outing flannels and shirtings at such prices that competition is not in it, at the Racket store.

Ladies if you are thinking of getting a pair of shoes or a new dress next week, you will want to know where to get the best for the least money. Mr. Baker always carries the best.

R. S. STRAHAN IS DEAD

WELL KNOWN LAWYER AND

Jurist Falls Dead on His Office Steps
An Important Figure Removed From the History of the State.

PORTLAND, July 21.—Judge R. S. Strahan died suddenly in this city this forenoon, of apoplexy. Judge Strahan left his home at 8 o'clock to meet the members of the supreme court on their way home from Pendleton, apparently in good health, in fact appeared more active than usual. After meeting the judges he went toward his office in the Abbington block. As the elevator was not down he started to walk up. On the second flight of stairs he fell and was dead when found by the janitor shortly afterward. A blood vessel had burst in his head.

Judge Strahan was one of the best known public men of Oregon, having been identified in a prominent manner with the state since 1864. His life was full of interest. It began in 1835 in Kentucky. In 1841 he moved with his parents to Missouri where he spent the most of his boyhood. In 1865 he began the study of law with his uncle, R. F. Canberry in Kentucky and was admitted to the bar in 1868. He returned to Missouri in 1869 and was appointed probate judge the same year, serving four years. In 1864 he left for Oregon, which he has made his home, until his death. He first resided at Corvallis. In 1868 he was elected district attorney, serving for two years, and represented Benton county in the senate from 1870 to 1872. In 1876 he moved to Albany, forming a partnership with L. Bilyeu. He was elected supreme judge in 1886 serving for six years, and displaying a legal erudition that made his position on the supreme bench an important one in Oregon history. Upon retiring from the bench he moved to this city and formed a partnership with Judge Whally and M. L. Pipes. He was married in 1861 to Sarah H. Wilson. Four children resulted, two of whom survive. They were separated by divorce a couple years ago, and Mrs. Strahan now resides in Atlanta, Ga.

He was a man of marked legal ability and built up a large practice reaching over the entire state. At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Dolph, Mallory, Simon & Strahan, having retired from the firm of Whally, Strahan & Pipes. He was a member of the Masons and A. O. U. W. Mrs. Strahan was telegraphed for and it is thought the burial will not take place till she arrives.

How Hart Escaped.

SEATTLE, July 20.—It has been learned that Frank J. Hart, a notorious bunco steerer, who broke jail last March with the desperado, Tom Blank, finally made good his escape by being sent in a box to Pasco, on the Northern Pacific. The day after the delivery there was shipped from the freight office here a 200 pound trunk, consigned by A. W. Boyle to himself at Pasco. From that time the box lay undisturbed in the freight house at Pasco until a few days ago, when, in checking up, Traveling Auditor Weir discovered how the scheme had been worked. There was nothing in the box but a few gunny sacks and a bottle of wine. When the box was delivered the hour was after midnight, and escape from the lonely freight house was easy. From Pasco the bunco steerer made for Spokane, where it is said he was met by John Bonsidine, the dance-hall man, who supplied him with money and sent him to Portland, Oregon. Hart was headed for Mexico, but fell sick at Salem, Oregon, where he was again supplied with funds. On recovering he went south, and at last crossed the line into his refuge. Hart was under seven years' sentence for flimflaming two Swede girls in this city.

Drowned in the Willamette.

EUGENE, July 20.—Bruce, the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Black, drowned in the Willamette near this city between one and two o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Black is employed in the sawmill, and the boy had carried his father's dinner to him, as he was in the habit of doing, but did not return home promptly. His hat was found floating among the logs in the boom, and, after a short search, the body was found.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney J. M. Williams was arrested and taken to Junction City last evening to answer to a charge of assault with intent to commit rape upon Mrs. G. O. Powell, who swore to the complaint herself. Williams demanded a hearing immediately, which was had last evening. The complaining witness was the only one examined, and the case was dismissed by the justice. It is said to have been a case of blackmail, and in this belief Williams is supported by many, among whom is the father of the woman.

Through Flames to Safety.

UTICA, N. Y., July 20.—The passengers on the Montreal express on the Adirondack & St. Louis railroad, due last evening at Utica, had a thrilling experience. As the train rounded a curve on a heavy down grade, seven miles above the chain of lakes, where ex-President Harrison is spending the summer, Engineer William Brassel, of Utica, saw, 500 feet in front of him, a trestle a quarter of a mile long enveloped in flames. The flames were shooting twenty feet above the track. It was impossible to stop the train before the trestle was reached. With lightning like decision the engineer threw the throttle wide open. The train rushed away through the flames and stopped on the other side. Before it came to a standstill the burning trestle fell in a heap of ruins on the rocks fifty feet below. There were seventy-six passengers on the train.

In Self-defense.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—C. B. Henderson, the commercial traveler of Rochester, New York, who murdered Clarence Barr last Saturday, has made a statement regarding the crime. He says that Barr struck him, and that he drew his pocketknife to frighten his antagonist with rather than to injure him. When Barr approached him the second time, Henderson said he flourished his knife without intending to injure Barr, and was surprised when he found that he had stabbed the man. Henderson still refuses to tell anything about his family or his business affairs in the East. His wife and three children he says, are at present with his mother-in-law at Buffalo. He refuses to tell the name of the firm for which he has traveled.

Suit Delayed.

SALEM, July 19.—Hon. J. H. Raley, member of the board of regents of the Weston normal school, and attorney for the board, arrived today to file a mandamus in the Marion county circuit court on Secretary Kincaid. The papers direct that the secretary turn over to Treasurer Jamieson, of the board of regents, $12,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the maintenance of the school, and $4000 for lands and improvements. After a consultation with the secretary, Attorney Raley stated that, by request of the secretary the filing of papers would be postponed a few days. The secretary wishes to consult with the attorney-general before another mandamus suit is begun.

Drowned Like Rats in a Hole.

GENOA, July 21.—The Italian steamers Ortega and Maria P were in collision off the Isla del Tinto at the entrance of Gulf of Genoa today. The latter sank, and 148 passengers were drowned.

A Watermelon Social.

The ladies of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in this city, have ordered 200 pounds of Watermelons from California, and will hold a social as soon as they arrive. Watch for these pages week.
