Agent Hickok informed us that the S. P. railroad company have made a big reduction in freight rates, which will be a great saving to shippers over their lines. On first-class freight from here to Portland, there is a reduction of eleven cents. On second and third class freight seven cents. On sugar, salt, twine, iron etc., there is a special rate of eighteen cents per hundred from Portland to Lebanon; and on flour, feed and mill stuff in carload lots. From Lebanon to San Francisco where the rate has been $1.15 per hundred, is now fifty-eight cents; less than half. This reduction applies to all California points.

In the races at Sacramento, California, a week ago last Wednesday, Barrows Bros' Del Norte, a Linn county horse, won the special pace and a purse of $1000. The San Francisco Chronicle says: "The third race of the day was for pacers, 2:19 class Del Norte was the favorite, selling for $20 against $8 for the field, composed of Fresno Prince, Touchet, Belle and Hanford Medium. Del Norte did not disappoint his backers, but he won in three straights in 2:16, 2:16 and 2:16. At no time was he two lengths in advance of his competitors from the half-mile to the wire. This was pronounced the prettiest race of the meeting.

Last Tuesday evening about 9:30 o'clock the citizens was thrown into excitement by the sound of the fire bell. The fire boys quickly responded, and in short time was on the ground, hose laid ready for business. The fire was in the Carr restaurant, and was caused by a lamp being knocked off a stand, breaking, and the oil catching fire. It was close to a bed, which quickly caught, but owing to the coolness of mind of Mrs. Carr, who quickly got a couple of sheets, wet them and smothered it out. The brave fire boys were not needed, and only had the sport of turning the hose on Lou's bull dog. It is a bad range of buildings on that corner, and if once a fire gets a start, all will go.

Several Polk county people recently made the ascent of Mt. Jefferson. The Independence says of the experience: "The entire party successfully made the ascent after experiencing numerous hardships and overcoming many obstacles, among the number several ladies, said to be the first ladies who ever reached the summit of Mt. Jefferson. The view of the Willamette valley was obscured by a thick haze, but the view over into the Deschutes and Ochoona country was very fine. No attempt was made to scale the lofty pinnacles, which shoot up 250 feet from the summit of the mountain. Several of the party have made the ascent of Mt. Hood and other lofty peaks, but in their opinion Mt. Jefferson is the most difficult to ascend of any in their experience." The party passed through this city both going and coming.

Obituary.

Martha Bland, whose maiden name was Needham, was born in North Carolina, March 28, 1808, and in her youth moved with her parents to Indiana, where she matured, was married to Moses Bland and had her home until she left with her husband for Oregon, where they arrived in 1851, and at once settled near Lebanon, in the neighborhood of which has been her home until her decease, July 18, 1895.

Early in life she was converted to Christ and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, in whose communion she remained until admitted into the Church Triumphant. Membership in the church with her was not a mere nominal relation without action, sympathy or sacrifice for Christ her Master, but a connection with the church of God which she honored with a consecrated life, a faithful service and regular attendance upon the means of grace until the infirmities of age resulting in feebleness of body prevented her. Nearly all the old christians of Linn county and many of their children remember "Grandma" Bland as a faithful attendant and active worker at the campmeetings and quarterly lovefeasts of the Methodist church. Her experience was positive and clear, her life consistent, and as a result her departure was a glorious translation and not a reluctant death. As in the case of Elijah, may her mantle fall upon some worthy Elisha who shall encourage and help forward the armies of God's modern Israel.

Mrs. Bland was the mother of six children—five sons and one daughter—of whom G. H. and J. W. Blend and Mrs. H. J. Powell are living. Her husband died in 1873, since which time she has made her home with one or the other of the children, but mostly with G. H., from whose home she passed away from earth.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. church at 1:00 o'clock July 18, from which her body, followed by a large number of relatives and friends, was borne to the family lot in Lebanon cemetery, and committed to the ground according to the burial service of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Santiam Academy.

EDITOR EXPRESS—It is true, as you stated in your paper last week, that Miss Hattie Warner will not return to Lebanon next year, but in place of being engaged to teach at Medford, she has been employed as music director in the Drain Normal school. Her parents live at Medford where she is spending her vacation.

We have secured another teacher in the person of Miss Marie Waite, an esteemed friend of Miss Warner, and she very highly recommends her. Miss Waite is a graduate of the Portland High school, and has received her musical education from a gentleman who studied in Liepzig, Germany, and who taught six years in the New England Conservatory at Boston.

This lady will occupy the same position in the Academy that would have been held by Miss Warner had she remained. The fall term will commence September 23, and all the departments of music will go on just the same as last year.

We hope to make all the departments of the Academy reach the top mark of success in the near future, and we ask the good will and continued patronage of the people of Lebanon and vicinity. S. A. RANDLE, Principal.
