Mr. J. R. Smith informed us that he received a letter Wednesday from his daughter, Mrs. Bolton, nee Mrs. Funk, in which she stated that her health is better than it has been for a long time. Her many friends here will be glad to hear this good news.

"Doc" Davenport, who has been confined in the county jail awaiting an examination before Judge Bellenger for counterfeiting, has given bail and is now at liberty. He returned to Lebanon Tuesday afternoon and went to his home across the river.

Robert B. Montague, general manager of the Read, Peacock & Co.'s store at this place, left last Saturday on a vacation. He intends visiting Seattle, Tacoma, Steilacoom and probably Victoria, B. C. He will stop a while in Portland and Salem on his return.

An emigrant named J. Butler, with his family, passed through here Tuesday enroute for Salem. He left Morton county, Kansas, the 13th of last May; driving through in ninety-three days. His team were in good condition. He said his family had all enjoyed the trip.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Pearl Vance, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vance, of this city, to Mr. Walter B. Peacock, of the mercantile firm of Read, Peacock & Co., at the residence of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening, August 28. -Herald.

Messrs Bilyeu, Parker and Shaw returned last Sunday. They went as far as the Matolias. Besides catching several candy buckets full of fish, they packed a number of cans in regular salmon style; having prepared for it before going, with soldering irons, cans etc. Another fine trip reported as usual.

Mrs. J. Coyle died at her home near Soda-ville last Saturday morning from a stroke of paralysis on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Coyle was the only child of Mr. E. Kirkendall of this city, and was buried in the Sand Ridge cemetery on Sunday. She leaves a husband, father and a host of friends to mourn her departure.

J. V. Keebler, formerly of this place, but who is now attending his uncle's stock ranch near Oakland, Southern Oregon, was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Keebler tells us that he intends to move back to Lebanon in the near future. His many friends will be glad to welcome him and his family back in our midst again.

Last Friday evening while R. M. Caldwell was splitting kindling at the residence of J. W. Burkhart's in order to get an early breakfast the next morning the end of the axe handle struck the block causing the axe to fall on the thumb of his left hand—that he was holding the stick with—and cut it off just above the first joint. He came to town and had Dr. Caldwell call on him.

The Oregon Central & Eastern railroad company will give one of their popular seaside excursions on Sunday August 18, leaving Albany 7:00 a. m., Corvallis 7:30 a. m., and returning, leaves Newport 8:30 p. m. Fare from Albany or Corvallis to Newport and return, $1.50. Bicycles will be carried free. Weather permitting, the commodious steamship Farallon will make several excursions over the bar.

Messrs. Bach & Buhl received the largest stock of fall and winter clothing this week ever brought to Lebanon. Most of the goods were direct from New York, although there were some Salem and Oregon City Woolen Mills goods. They have marked these goods down to hard time prices and propose to sell at a close margin. Among their new stock are some elegant dress suits as well as the business suits. If you are thinking of buying a new suit, it will pay you to look through their stock.

Tuesday afternoon a foot race was matched between Elsworth Cameron of this place, and James Allen, of Lebanon, the race to take place in that city on Saturday afternoon August 17. The purse is $150 and the distance seventy-five yards. This Allen is a stranger in Oregon and may be a fast man, and no doubt is or, else he would not have matched Cameron. Our boys are confident however and expect to double the contents of their exchequer. -Times.

Allen, as referred to above, has only been here for a short time, and is known only by a few. The race will be run on Cotton's addition west of the depot, between 1:00 and 4:00, tomorrow afternoon.

Around the paper mill is a busy place at present. Besides the regular routine workers, there are sixty extra hands around the yard; the most of whom are on the mammoth stack, but a good number are on wagons and otherwise employed about the straw. There are from 110 to 135 loads of straw hauled in every day with an average of 3700 pounds to the load. The stack being put up this year, is much larger than usual; being near 5,000,000 pounds of straw in it when completed. Last Wednesday at 3:00 p. m., there had been 1330 loads hauled. The largest hauling this year was by G. O. Vernon; weighing ten pounds over three tons. Straw hauling will be finished the fore part of next week.

M. A. Miller, originator of the fish ladder at Oregon City, says that it is to be regretted that the board did not spend more of the appropriation in blasting out the fish way. The bill allowed $10,000, but only $1,000 was expended. As it is, the fish way is a great success, and will prove a great blessing to the people of the Willamette valley. The Albany Democrat says: "It is a fact not known by many that salmon have begun running quite lively in the Willamette at this city, and have been doing so for some time. Parties boat riding have noticed big fellows going along some two or three feet long. As this is the closed season they will have to be left alone, but it is an evidence that there will be plenty here in the future, and salmon catching may become quite an industry in Albany."

At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Roseburg Coos Bay stage was again held up near the last place and undoubtedly by the same man. Dan Cardwell and Barney Matthews, of Roseburg, were on the seat with the driver, and Major Pond, the light-house inspector and Miss Myrtle Bryan were inside. The men on the seat were discussing the previous robbery at the time. Cardwell said "would it not be a joke if a robber should appear from behind that tree on this side of the road," and immediately the robber appeared with two revolvers. Cardwell had over $200 but he only gave up $4, and Matthews with several hundred dollars gave up $2.50. Major Pond contributed $1.50, and the young lady with $134 in her pocket was not disturbed. The robber left saying he would see them again in a day or two.

A report was recently circulated at Lebanon, undoubtedly to injure the manager of the celebrated mountain resort at Upper Soda, which we believe is without foundation. A few months ago the wife of Mr. Charles Foster, the proprietor of the Upper Soda resort, died and was buried by her request near her old home on Mr. Foster's property. Some person or persons circulated the report that she had been buried so close to the springs as to make it unhealthy to those using the water from the spring. The writer of this article has been over the ground in company with others and find that the remains were buried over on the slope toward Soda Fork and not on ground that even slopes toward the spring. One of the best physicians of Eastern Oregon and one who is well versed in sanitary matters, declares that it is a physical impossibility for water to run from where the grave is to the spring. In justice to Mr. Foster, who is an old friend of the writer, we cheerfully make this statement. A person who would willfully circulate such a report is not entitled to any credit or his speech any weight. All old patrons who have been there will uphold the writer in this opinion. -Albany Herald.

If any such report as the above has been in circulation around this city, we have failed to hear of it, and will say that the best people of Lebanon do not believe any such statement.

For pure linseed oil, call on M. A. Miller.

WATERLOO WARBLER.

EDITOR'S EXPRESS:-

We beg space in your valuable columns in which to correct a few errors that have been circulated throughout the country by the Albany Democrat, a paper we had thought above printing such rot. We refer to an item entitled "Outing No. 2," signed "Caleb," which appeared a few days since.

It seems from the reading the writer is a querulous, cranky, ungodly, quarrelsome kind of vagabond who don't know whether he, she or it remained here fifteen minutes or two months, who quarreled with a little boy and felt bad because the boy did not know how many camps were here—then after being taken through the mill and treated kindly where 'it' should have been kicked as to gall to attempt to do the town all the dirt possible in as long an article as 'it' could secure space to have published. Then this being who is all smiles when desiring favors and all Judas after receiving them does not like the moral status of this section, ('it' returns thanks that 'it' is not like other men.)

The racing affects this monument of goodness, and the liquor that is drunk and especially the amount taken in therefor is creating a wreck in the "things" think-tank.

The "devils club foot" also preys upon 'it's' colossal mind and none in Waterloo are supposed to have grace enough to cope with "him."

Now Caleb when next you take an "outing" go to Gehenna or down Oak creek or better still pray for yourself and not set up a justice office to judge your fellow man.

We as a community can live in some manner without your aid and if you keep Pigahs Mount between yourself and this place you will confer a boon upon the public in general and myself in particular.

Soda water here cannot be harmed in any way by your weak ravings, neither can the water at Soda-ville be made stronger. For the good people of Soda we feel truly sorry that you have inflicted yourself upon them unasked and truly hope you will have a safe voyage to your home—if you are fortunate enough to have one—and there remain.

Charity covers a multitude of sins and to make the citizens of this town responsible for the deeds committed here by such characters as Caleb is going too far.

This has been the most quiet, orderly pleasant summer hear within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

The camp meeting had better order than any previous one.

There has been no fighting no disorderly conduct, no scandals.

The denizens have tried to treat all in such a manner that they will not forget us but carry away pleasant memories and return again.

We may have done wrong in being kind to things like Caleb but trust to be forgiven and will not let it happen again if we have due notice of the approach of such a monster.

Now Mr. Caleb if you attempt to "do" me as you have the town, I have one request to make, sign your own name which we know, almost, you will not do.

We do not wish to draw the two towns into a wordy debate, but we will cheerfully swap personalities with you for a few weeks.

Do not forget to write also sign the name your parents gave you and you have so ignobly disgraced.

T. L. RICE.

A New Fraternal and Benevolent Order.

Mr. J. L. Mitchell and Mr. J. B. Woodford, state organizers for the Home Forum Benefit Order expects to arrive in Lebanon the latter part of this week for the purpose of organizing a local Forum of their order in this city. The Home Forum is said to be one of the best managed fraternal orders in the world and the highest number of assessments that has been made in any one year was seven, a remarkable small number. The order admits to membership either man or woman from ages eighteen to fifty-five and issues insurance policies from $500 to $2,000. A $2,000, on the life of a person aged eighteen to twenty-four, together with all lodges dues will not exceed $5.10. The order is somewhat new in this state but is old and well established east of the Rocky Mountains.

Mr. Mitchell is at Waterloo this week, where he has succeeded in getting up a lodge of twenty charter members, composed of the best citizens of that place. He expects to arrive in Lebanon today and will be pleased to explain the objects and aims of his order to anyone.

Obituary.

Emmanuel Goun, an old citizen of Linn county, and a man who was respected by all that knew him, died at his home in this city at 1 o'clock a. m., Thursday, August 8, 1895.

He was born June 8, 1835, in Somerset county, Pennsylvania; emigrated to Illinois in 1854 and from there to California in 1864.

Soon after his arrival in that state he professed his faith in Christ and became a member of the denomination known as "Christian Brethren." He came to this part of Oregon in 1878, where he lived until called away to his eternal home. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn the loss of a kind father and uncle.
