Ben Dodge left yesterday for Corvallis. Dry goods are arriving almost daily at Baker's. Gents' shoes. A full line of Read, Peacock & Co. Read the ad of Klein, Dubrulle & Co., of Albany. Remember we print calling cards at the EXPRESS office. Mrs. A. E. Davis is visiting friends in Albany this week. Dr. G. W. Chondie, dentist. Office over City Drug store. The time for re-opening the schools has not yet been fixed. If you want the news you should subscribe for the EXPRESS. H. Baker carries the largest line of boots and shoes in Lebanon. Call and examine Miller's immense stock of goods without delay. Ben Dodge has sold his buggy and harness to Postmaster Smith. W. E. Chandler returned Tuesday from a business trip to Portland. Complete line of pocket books, blank books, etc., just received at Miller's. George Rice represents some of the best insurance companies in the world. Gentlemen, call and see the new fall and winter clothing at Bach & Buhl's. Mrs. B. F. Kirk returned home Saturday from a visit to her sister in Albany. Klein, Dubrulle & Co., of Albany, are closing out their boot and shoe business. J. N. Tuttle, who has been working in Eugene for some time, has returned to Lebanon. Go to Miss Damond's for millinery. She is selling at cost, and wants no goods left over. When you want to buy a suit of clothing you will save money by getting it at Bach & Buhl. Mayor R. B. Montague drove down to Albany Sunday, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Peacock. Mrs. L. Eldridge left Monday for Eugene, where she expects to remain for two or three months. I have several hundred dollars to loan for farms, on good first mortgages. Saul M. Garland. The Presbyterians of Medford are organizing the erection of a new church edifice in that town. M. A. Miller was in Albany on Tuesday of this week, attending the democratic central committee meeting. Wather Lovell, who has been stopping for the past few years on a claim on the coast, has returned to Lebanon. Mrs. W. E. Chandler spent last Sunday in Albany with her parents, returning to Lebanon Monday evening. Dr. N. L. Lee and wife, of Junction City, were in the city a couple of days the first of the week, visiting relatives. A thirty years' franchise has been granted to Robert Clow and associates, at Junction, for an electric light plant. Wheat has advanced considerably within the past week. They are now paying 46 cents at the Lebanon warehouse. Seventy-four coyote and wild-cat scalps were received at the county clerk's office in The Dalles one day last week. The very latest in walking hats, softies and dress hats, cheaper than ever before. Call and be convinced. Miss Damond. S. P. Bach spent last Sunday in Portland with his family and in visiting old friends, returning to Lebanon Monday evening. We were in error last week in regard to "Doc" South's illness. It was pneumonia instead of typhoid fever. "Doc" is able to be around now. Go to W. E. Chandler if you want plumbing or plumbing work done. He works at hardtime prices, and guarantees all work to be firstclass. R. McCally returned to his home in Portland Tuesday, after spending two weeks in this city visiting his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Miller. Money to loan. A limited amount of money to loan on good farm security. Call upon or write to S. N. Steele & Co., Albany, Oregon. Rev. J. H. Cornwall requested us to announce that there will be preaching services in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath with morning and evening.

off tomorrow. Peace and quiet now reigns sublime in Lebanon. The reception that an Albany demi monde received in Lebanon last week will not tempt her to repeat her visits to this place. It would be well for her class to remain away in the future. Klein, Dubrulle & Co., shoe dealers in Albany, have an ad in this issue advertising their closing out sale. They have an immense stock, and advertise that they will sell at factory prices. Licenses have been issued for the marriage of John E. Cartwright, editor Review, and Ella V. Whitbeck, of Harrisburg, and O. H. Rickens and Miss B. F. Gaylord, of Sweet Home. James Warmouth, aged 29, son of Wm. P. Warmouth, living two miles south of Brownville, was assisting in felling a tree Monday when a limb fell and struck him to the ground. The young man died within a few hours. E. W. Achison, the marble and monument dealer of Albany, was in Lebanon Monday, setting up a monument, of which mention is made in another column. We acknowledge a pleasant call from Mr. Achison while in the city. An other attempt has been made to kill Miss Ethel Riddle, of Harrisburg. This time an envelope was sent to her filled with powder, the sender, thinking she would burn it without looking inside, but it was opened and the powder discovered. C. M. Clark, who has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Coleman, of this city, for the past six months while he was looking around over the valley and coast in general, left Wednesday for his home at Baxter Springs, Kansas. Mr. Clark made many friends while in our city. Except 8000 pounds of hops owned by Frantz Bros., together with the product of the Wilson Bump yard, at the hops in Kings valley, Benton county, have been sold, and they went at the uniform price of 87 cents, about the highest figure reached during the season, says the Corvallis Times. The paper mill shut down one week ago yesterday. The principal cause of the shut down was on account of the quarantine and sickness of several of their hands, but there was some needed repairs which has also been done during the shut down. They will resume work Monday. The Democratic Central Committee met at Albany Monday. Much interest was taken in the approaching canvass and strong hopes are entertained for the success of the party. Nothing definite was done about fixing the date of the convention. Another meeting will be held shortly at which time all necessary arrangements will be made. The farm residence of Edward Chambers, near Knox Butte, caught fire Tuesday and was entirely destroyed, together with all the contents. The barn was saved by hard work. Mrs. Chambers was away from home when the fire started. It is supposed to have originated from a fire in the parlor stove. There was a small amount of insurance. Some one was hawking gold spectacles about Corvallis last week for a dollar a pair. Mr. Pomeroy bought a pair, which were pronounced by a jeweler to be genuine gold-rimmed glasses, worth $7. From Corvallis the hawker went to Albany, and there was arrested for peddling without a license, and sentenced to five days in the city jail. Seven pairs of glasses were found on his person, and there is a suspicion that they may have been a part of the booty of the late Dallas robbery, in which $150 worth of jewelry was stolen by burglars.--Ex.

A. F. Stowe's Lecture at Salem. A. F. Stowe, formerly of this city, delivered a lecture in Salem last Sunday afternoon, on the subject, "From Bondage to Freedom." Mr. Stowe was recently a patient of the Keeley cure for the second time. His record is well known in this community as a drunkard who has reformed many times, only to go back again. This last reformation may be genuine, but he will have to stay with it a long time before the people of Lebanon will believe it. In reference to his lecture the Salem Post says: "The address was an argumentative one from beginning to end, and at its conclusion the speaker received a shower of compliments from his many listeners. The hall was packed on the occasion, and the young attorney presented his subject in a new as well as attractive manner. He argued that drunkenness was a disease, and said 'If there is a disease, what a national shame and sin! What a travesty upon national honor and justice to license thousands of low grogeries and gilded palaces to spread the germs of the disease broadcast throughout the land! And, what was infinitely worse, to imprison the poor, unfortunate man who happened to contract the disease! That if it was a disease we have no right to hit the poor drunkard over the head with a policeman's club and lock him up, unless we lock up a physician with him to attend to him.' He said drunkards were without the pale of the church and that the Keeley Cure placed him where the church could reach him. He also stated that there were so many troubles in this life, we needed all the help we could get, both human and divine. We needed the grace of God, the church, the W. C. T. U. and the Good Templars, but then we also needed medicine, surgery and the Keeley Cure. His position was that you must first get whiskey out of a man before you can get grace in, and you must keep whiskey out if you keep grace in. That whiskey and the grace of God will not both stay in the same hide at the same time. He paid an earnest tribute to the W. C. T. U. and proved by many illustrations that noble women had always been equal to the emergency when men had proven powerless to defend themselves and their country against moral or physical foes." Lloyd Montgomery's Case. Action has been taken by Lloyd Montgomery's attorney, which will, no doubt, prevent his execution the 31st inst. The time had expired in which a bill of exceptions could be filed, but Prosecuting Attorney McCain today signed stipulations extending the time until January 20 for perfecting an appeal. The case will then be appealed to the supreme court, and Montgomery's attorneys expect a stay of execution until the appeal for a new trial can be heard. The main point upon which the defense will rely in the appeal will be the claim that the court erred in admitting in evidence Montgomery's confession before the grand jury. No credence is placed in the conflicting stories of the murderer for his statement that he only killed McKereher and not his parents. The general impression is that the appeal, if allowed, will only postpone the day of execution. Cut This Out. It will count you 50 cts. on every $2.00 worth of work, if presented at the Lebanon Art Gallery any time between this date and March 1st, 1896. H. J. Boyd, Photographer. The second term of Santiam Academy will open next Monday, Jan. 20th. The primary grade will be excused until the public schools begin. S. A. Randle, Principal. Our citizens are still enthusiastic over the project of establishing a more direct route from here to the Quartzville mines. If this can be done we would be able to get a great deal of the travel this way, it being a much nearer route. About two inches of snow fell in this city Tuesday night but by morning a rain set in and on Wednesday night a sleet and freeze set in and the ground is now covered with about an inch of ice and sleet. The heavy sleet and ice broke down one of the electric light poles on main street last night but no wires broke and the lights were not molested. How's That? We got Our... IN MEMORIAM. Died, at the family residence in Lebanon, on Saturday, Jan. 11th, 1896, Rev. Martin Hickman, in the 78th year of his age. Rev. Martin Hickman was born in Harrison county, Virginia, on May 1, 1823, was married to Miss Phoebe Phillips, in Wood Co., Virginia on the 8th day of June, 1847, by Rev. John Goff of the M. E. church. One son, Theodore F., was born to them on the 7th day of June, 1848. The mother and son survive the beloved husband and father. Rev. Hickman joined the Protestant Methodist conference in 1853, and preached as a circuit rider or itinerant minister in the state of Iowa until the spring of 1860, when the family removed to Missouri, in which state he engaged in farming; preaching occasionally, until in the summer of 1862, when to testify his unswerving love of the Union and the old starry flag, he enlisted as a private in Company "E" of the 35th Regiment of Missouri Infantry; attracting marked attention by his conspicuous gallantry at the battle of Helena, Arkansas, he was promoted to be chaplain of his regiment with the rank of captain and placed in charge of the camp established for refugees at Little Rock, Arkansas, where he remained until ordered to St. Louis for "muster out" at the close of the war. His services during the war were recognized by his fellow-citizens in Missouri, who elected him to the state legislature, where he served for two years. In 1875 the family removed from the state of Missouri to Oregon, settling in Lebanon, Linn county, where for many years Rev. Martin Hickman was pastor of the C. P. church, as well as chaplain of John F. Miller Post No. 42, G. A. R., Dept. of Oregon, which post he was largely instrumental in organizing and carrying it forward to its present rank as one of the foremost posts in the state of Oregon. In every relation of life as husband, father, neighbor, friend, Christian minister, soldier or citizen, Martin Hickman was above reproach. His kindly, genial presence will be sadly missed by young and old of Lebanon and vicinity. He was a general favorite among our young people, and it seemed as though all the young men and maidens seeking to have the nuptial knot tied thought that no one could tie it so firmly and well as Parson Hickman. The old surviving veterans will fondly recall his words of loving sympathy and counsel when sorrow or sickness assailed them. Sinner and saint will remember with moistened eyes his fervent appeals for a better life, a higher morality, a generous and full surrender to that Divine Savior in whom he had found such grace and pardon that he was able to meet the stern arrest of the grim sergeant, Death, without a quiver, never doubting that the blessed Christ, the captain of his soul's salvation, would muster him into the ranks of the great army of the redeemed, to be mustered out nevermore. The Grand Army post buried him with their solemn and simple service, the pall bearers of honor being six stalwart Sons of Veterans. Rev. J. H. Cornwall of the Presbyterian church kindly assisted at the grave by offering the closing prayer and giving the benediction. "Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead. Dear as the blood you gave: No impious footstep here shall tread The herbage of your grave, Nor shall your glory be forgot While Fame her record keeps. Or Honor points the hallowed spot Where Valor proudly sleeps." C. B. M. A Pioneer's Monument. At the Lebanon cemetery to-day we noticed a beautiful double column monument, of fine workmanship and material, being of the finest grade of imported Italian marble. A closer inspection showed it to be at the graves of two of our old pioneers, Moses Bland and wife, and it is a fitting tribute of respect to that class of pioneers who braved the dangers and privations incident to the settlement of this country, but who are now fast passing away. Four prisoners escaped from the Oregon City jail last week. They were Tom Clarke, an ex-convict, Walter Wyland, horse thief, Wm. Orsterlee, held for rape, and Will Moore, a swindler.
