One night last week a man riding through Haley, evidently imagining himself in Cripple Creek, drew his revolver and fired directly through the window of the Villard House. The bullet went near the stove, where the guests generally sit; but fortunately no one was in the office at the time. Who the offender was has not been learned.

J. B. Irvine, state organizer for the Knights of the Maecobees, stayed over Friday night in Lebanon, with relatives. Mr. Irvine had just organized a tent at Sweet Home and one at Sodaville. He succeeded in getting a nice charter membership at both places, and got both tents started off in fine order. Mr. Irvine went from here to Seio, at which place he intended to organize a tent.

Ruff Hiatt has perfected an invention to run a bicycle by compressed air. This does away with the chain on bicycles, and runs the wheel by an air engine. Mr. Hiatt has been working on this about six months. Jos. Harnard has also invented a steel rim for bicycles, which is overlaid with sheet steel springs. Mr. Hiatt and Mr. Harnard have gone into partnership and had a model made which they sent on to Washington, D. C., about two weeks ago to have patented. The application is for a patent on each, the rim and the air appliance.

A. W. Marks stoked a letter this week from C. W. Stokes, now at Berry, in which Mr. Stokes says: "We arrived here all right, and went to work the next day. Snow is about a foot deep now, but it is not cold here. We like it better than we expected to. There will be lots of work here as soon as the snow goes off. We are getting out tees and mud sills to set the mill on. It will be 54x200 feet. The first story will all be hewed timber, and they have to build three-quarters of a mile of railroad before they bring the machinery in. We are all well and doing finely."

A telegraphic dispatch to the Oregonian, dated at Roseburg, Jan. 25, reads as follows: "News was received here to-day of the death, on the 23d inst., of Frank, the 19-year-old son of Jesse Clayton, an old and respected pioneer of Douglas county, living on the Umpqua river, 25 miles from Oakland. Frank, while hunting on the opposite side of the river from home, met his sister, who wished to be across the river. He rode her across, and, on returning for his companion, in the hunt, caught his rifle by the muzzle to take it from the boat, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball striking him in the right arm, bringing up the arm and penetrating the right breast near the nipple. His sister heard the report of the rifle, and saw her brother fall face downward in the boat. She says she remained there half an hour before assistance came, and when found he was dead."

Public school will open Monday.

WILL HANG ON FRIDAY.

No Stay of Execution Granted Lloyd Montgomery.

From Albany Herald, Jan. 29.

N. M. Newport, one of Lloyd Montgomery's attorneys, returned last night from Salem, where he has been trying to secure a stay of execution and a new trial for the condemned murderer, but he has been unsuccessful.

Mr. Newport and his colleague, Judge Whitney, had prepared a bill of exceptions upon which they wish to take an appeal and Mr. Newport presented them to Judge Burnett, who was the trial judge in the case. The latter signed the bill of exceptions, but did not recognize them as good ground for a probable successful appeal, and declined to order a stay of proceedings or sign a certificate of probable cause. Mr. Newport then presented the bill of exceptions to the supreme court and failing to obtain a stay of execution, appealed to the governor to grant a respite until the appeal could be perfected, but he was unsuccessful. Mr. Newport considers now that as attorneys for the condemned murderer he and Judge Whitney have done their full duty. Being appointed by the court to defend the accused, they have performed that duty faithfully and can only let the sentence take its course.

Montgomery will undoubtedly be hanged on Friday. The exact hour will not be known until Sheriff McFeron fixes it, which will probably not be done until late Thursday night.

Montgomery is losing much of his bravado, and the lively strains of his fiddle are not heard so often in his cell. He begins to realize that he is about to face the most miserable death that could fall to the lot of man, and is growing very nervous, with frequent fits of weeping. Last night he had a violent and prolonged spell of this kind. He told the sheriff that he did not believe he could live until Friday and said he felt as if he were going to die. He said he could see his father and mother, and they were begging the officers not to hang him. After he became quiet, he asked the sheriff to send for his little brothers, as he wished to see them once more. Sheriff McFeron has notified them of his request.

Two men are kept constantly with the doomed man, to prevent any attempt at suicide.

The preparations for the execution are nearly completed. The scaffold is all framed at the Santiam Lumber company's yard, and is ready to be put in place. Workmen will commence to-day to erect the enclosure in the jail yard. It will be 16 feet high and about 46 feet square. Sheriff McFeron has issued part of the invitations to those who will be present, and will issue the others to-day and to-morrow.

Brownsville's Mayor Asked to Resign

At a meeting of the city council of Brownsville, recently, a petition signed by four councilmen was presented, as follows:

"To the mayor of the city of Brownsville: In consequence of the gross misconduct, to-wit: Drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the part of the mayor, the highest official of the city, we, the undersigned councilmen of our respective wards, do hereby demand your resignation, to take effect forthwith."

A motion to lay the petition upon the table was lost, says the Times.

The mayor's resignation, to take effect on the second Monday in April was read, and a motion that the same be accepted was lost. The mayor called Councilman Brown to the chair, and taking the floor made a lengthy speech acknowledging that he had done wrong and telling how the terrible habit had followed him all through life; how he had striven to sever its clutches, but how at times he was forced to succumb. He said he did not ask leniency from the council, and only desired that the councilmen live up to a standard of morality that would be consistent with their action in this regard.

There is very little hope for the recovery of "Uncle Jacky" Settle, from his dangerous illness.

Services in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday, morning and evening, but no Sunday school.

J. H. CORNWALL, Pastor.

A. D. Barker, a very enthusiastic A. O. U. W. man of Albany, was in the city last Tuesday to attend the installation of officers of that lodge. He acted as installing officer of the evening in the absence of Past Grand Master Brennan.

Messrs. Ruff Hiatt, W. B. Donica, Albert Crandall, Toll Bashat, J. C. May and J. M. Sauters have been elected as delegates from this city to the regular state convention, which is to be held in Portland next week. The delegates expect to leave here Monday for that city.

Miss Mary Sheridan, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. S. P. Bech, returned to her home in Salem last Saturday.

Public school will open Monday.

A Democratic Judge and a Populist Commissioner.

WATERLOO, Or., Jan. 27, 1896.

Mr. Editor—I am not much on newspaper writing and am no hand at talking, but I have been doing right smart thinking about our June election: I can't say, Mr. Editor, what party I claim, but I am more of a populist than anything else, but I am not one of them kind that won't take four bits because I can't get a dollar. So I don't believe we had ought to fight forever for the whole cheese and then don't get none at all. We had ought to take what we can get and then keep a trying until we get all. Now, it don't look like that either the populists or democrats can elect their ticket this time, but both together can just take the whole cheese and then divide it. The county court is republican all over and they would not give the populist a fair shake. It will be the same thing the next time, if we don't change things some. Why can't the populists put up a commissioner and the democrats name the judge and then we can have all three parties in the court. We can elect a good square democrat, if we can find one, to be the judge, and we can elect an honest populist for commissioner.

I don't be so particular as I used to be, and I am willing to help the democrats if they will treat us fair, which the republicans won't do. That is what I am in for, Mr. Editor.

Yours for a square deal.

FAIR SHAKE.

An Ashland Man's Invention.

Joseph Lomas, of Ashland, has been issued a patent for an improved device for felling trees and log-sawing. The device is an ingenious one, and is worked by compressed air after the manner of the Burleigh drill. The air is compressed by an engine or other power and conveyed by a hose to the machine which may be carried about from tree to tree. It will weigh about 120 pounds. It may be quickly attached to a tree or log and runs a saw with ease and without choking. It is claimed that four men with this machine can cut from 75 to 100 cords of wood per day. They can also clear 10 acres of timber, sawing up every stick on it with one setting of the engine.

Mr. Lomas has received a letter from the Association of American Inventors of Philadelphia stating that "he had received a patent on an invention of unusual merit." Lomas, who has been a resident of Ashland for a number of years, is a blacksmith, following the trade now. From observation of the working of the machine and the correspondence he has received in regard to it, it would seem that he is author of an invention which may prove of great utility and will be very lucrative in the timbered districts of this country.

A Suggestion From Brownsville.

A letter published in the Albany Democrat reads as follows:

Brownsville, Or., Jan. 27, 1896.

Editor Democrat—Mr. B. F. Ramp's letter in the Seio Press reads a little like the gentleman was in favor of making concessions and doing something for suffering humanity.

Now we have a county court in this county that is so partisan in its makeup that it is not, in the appointment of clerks and judges of elections, recognize all of political parties.

Now what's the matter with democrats and populists agreeing upon a good man for county judge and commissioners. Besides this the county court has been very extravagant. It now costs the county about twice as much as it did during democratic rule.
