STATE AND COAST.

Clipped from our Exchange throughout the West.

When at least ten thousand people crowded into the new Crystal Palace in Philadelphia on Sunday, the occasion was said to be, according to the leading newspapers, the most babel ever heard in the city. Many scenes from the East were sent to us from the Palace, the scenes, and others were the result of the first halls of commerce, and they were in almost every way quite as interesting as the East had been in the Palace. The original buildings of the Crystal Palace, as well as the present ones, have been entirely destroyed by the fire that took place Sunday, and the whole city was in the greatest excitement from the time the fire was discovered until the time the fire was extinguished.

The winter season for farmers and mechanics in the north is now in full swing, although a few of the farmers have not yet been able to sell their crops. The farmers are now for the most part well supplied with provisions, and are in no danger of being hungry.
