Mr. Garland's vote all over the county was large. In Lebanon, Waterloo, Sodaville and Sweet Home, his vote was very flattering to him, these being the places where he is best known. No democrat could have been elected this time, but Mr. Garland's vote was probably as large as would have been received by any member of his party. Mr. Garland feels very grateful to his friends for this handsome vote.

It is now conceded that Mr. Montague is elected clerk. The people of Lebanon, regardless of parties, join in congratulations to our fellow citizen. In other days Mr. Montague was the leading merchant of this neighborhood. He has always been one of our most respected citizens. His qualifications for the office are not inferior to any man's. Lebanon has honored herself in honoring her citizen. His large vote was the spontaneous offering of her people, regardless of party affiliation.

The Election.

It Was a Landslide for the Populists.

THE RETURNS ARE ALL IN.

Vanderburg Carries Linn County by Over 1,000.

HAYDEN BEATS CARSON 240.

The Republicans Elect Recorder, Assessor, Treasurer, Surveyor and One Representative.

The returns for the whole county are in. There may be a few minor corrections to make when the official vote is canvassed, but the returns are essentially correct as are given in the table elsewhere in this issue.

The populists elected the judge, clerk sheriff, superintendent and two representatives, Munkers and Smith. The republicans elected the remainder of the ticket with Somers on the legislative ticket. Vanderburg has a large majority, beating Tongue 1087. Hayden beat Carson by 240 in this county. Stock can run at large by a big vote.

Montague and Garland received very handsome votes at home. This vote saved Montague, but could not elect Garland.

The returns show pluralities for the following county officers: County judge, commissioner, clerk, sheriff and school superintendent, but the vote for clerk is close and will require the official count to decide it accurately. Needham being only a few votes behind Montague.

OUR RATIFICATION.

According to agreement, before the result of the election was known, all parties turned out last night and had a grand ratification in this city. Of course the populists saw more to rejoice over than any one else as this was their first victory. They had elected seven county officers and the congressman, but the republicans were rejoicing equally with them (if that were possible) because they had gotten six county officers and had beaten the democrats so badly. The democrats thought they saw reason for rejoicing because they were not beaten any worse than they were and because Tongue was beaten, Oregon had gone for free silver and Hayden was elected.

The procession was formed on the vacant lot near the opera house and marched up Main street to the public square headed by the Lebanon Firemen's Band, where a platform had been erected and a large bonfire built.

Speeches were made by Dr. J. L. Hill, Attorney Somers and Dalrymple of Albany, and Miller, Garland, Brown, Montague, Steen, Lovelee and Skipworth. Mayor R. B. Montague presided.

Several very appropriate cartoons were carried in the procession and one particularly laughable feature was a boat going up Salt river with the defeated candidates.

Everybody had a good time and the best of feeling prevailed. Peterson and Ridgway buttes were both illuminated.

Mr. A. Senders died at his home in Albany yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock, of a complication of diseases at the age of 61 years. He was born in Bosen, Germany, in 1835, and came to the United States in 1856, locating in Missouri. On Oct. 4, 1858, he was united in marriage at St. Louis, to Miss Lottie Elstein. They moved to Oregon in 1880, residing a number of years at Prineville, where Mrs. Senders in 1888. They finally came to Albany six or seven years ago, this being their home since then. The deceased leaves three children, Belle, Fred and Minnie and many relatives and friends to mourn his death.—Democrat.

IN MEMORY.

The following verses were written in memory of Leo Ridgway, who died at Buckley, Wash., May 22, 1896:

The reaper death has come again,
And with his sickle sharp and keen
Cut down one so young in life,
In the morning of his manhood's dream.
But God in his mercy knoweth best,
He that knoweth all things well,
Called the weary one home to rest,
And there with him to ever dwell.
The boatman from the other side,
Carried him from a life of pain,
To his loved one over the swelling tide,
Where we hope to meet with him again.
M. E. F.

A Prominent Citizen Dies.

On Sunday morning, May 24, Mr. J. M. Irving, of the furniture firm of Fortmiller & Irving, one of the most prominent and successful of Albany's business men, was stricken with paralysis on the left side. He had been suffering some days previous with neuralgia, but had recovered from its effects and was feeling much better when the sudden attack came which prostrated him. With varying hopes and fears he was watched by his family and anxious friends until the early morning of Tuesday, June 2, 1896 when release from his sufferings came and he passed quietly away. Mr. Irving was a genial, kindly hearted man, who attracted many warm friends and held the respect and entire confidence of all business associates and acquaintances. He was 55 years of age and a native of the state of New York, born in Genesee county in that state, coming to this coast over 30 years ago, lived in California a short time working in the mines there, and came to Albany in 1883.—Herald.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. The offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J.
