PURELY VEGETABLE.

The Cheapest, Purest and Best Family Medicine in the World!

AN EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

Regulate the Liver and prevent CHILLS AND FEVER, MALARIAL FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH! Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.

PILES! How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to nature.

CONSTIPATION SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand passes the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a coactive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE! This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as Sick Headache; for the relief of which TAKE SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.

STATE AND COAST.

Clipped from our Exchanges Throughout the West.

The distillery at Grant's Pass has closed down for two months.

Yaquina people are expecting to have a salmon cannery erected on the bay this season by a Columbia river packer.

The body of Frank Larsen was found in a small creek near Stella Monday. It is supposed he fell in a fit while crossing the stream.

There are two companies engaged in egg gathering near Port Orford, and the rocks are being hunted very closely over 1,000 dozen having already been gathered.

Millions of young grasshoppers have made their appearance on Tygh ridge, and farmers in that section fear they will do considerable damage to growing crops before the "critters'" wings are sufficiently large to carry them out of the country.

Joseph Adams, a son of John Adams an Indian living on the Siletz, was one of the graduates of the Carlisle Indian school this spring. Mr. Adams has graduated as a full-fledged doctor of medicine, and will practice his profession in the East.

The wool clip of Eagle valley this year will amount to about 100,000 pounds, and the product is now arriving at the warehouses in Baker City. The top price asked is 65 cents, much lower than last year, and it is probable the wool will be held for an advance.

Henderson & Kalfus, lessees of the plant and placer mines of the Siskiyou Gold Mining Company, on Elliott creek, commonly called the "Joe Bar Diggings," have fully completed the opening and equipment of them, and are piping day and night with assurance of an uninterrupted water supply.

The sales of cattle from the Eagle valley range have been quite active recently, and upwards of 1,300 head will be delivered in Baker City during the next few days for shipment to Montana and Wyoming. The sales amount to about $15,000, a very neat sum in the hands of the stockraisers of one locality.

A matter that is exciting considerable interest up the Santiam is a project to have all of the section of country in Marion county west of the Little North Fork of the Santiam cut off from that county and put in Linn county, says the Albany Democrat.

This would place in Linn county Gates Mill City and Detroit, and the adjoining country. It is claimed that under the present arrangement, in order to get to their county seat, residents are obliged to come to Albany and thence go to Salem, making a long and expensive trip.

A Very Live Bear Story.

The Toledo Leader tells it: There is one Indian on the Siletz that had an experience with a bear last week that he does not care to repeat. It was "old Dr. Johnson," one of the old tyces.

The other night he caught a bear. When he discovered the bear in the trap he had no gun, and so secured a good-sized club and started in to beat the life out of poor old bruin. But the bear had not figured that way, and at the second blow from the club it wrenched itself free from the trap and took a hand, or paw, in the fracas itself.

Rearing up on its hind legs it started in on "Dr. Johnson" in regular Marquis of Queensberry style. The first swipe split the scalp on the trapper's head from the back of his head to his forehead; the second took out a new swath of scalp; the third made a kind of weather map on his face; the fourth tore all the clothes and a good share of the meat off the Indian's breast, and the fifth split his pants leg from the waist to the knee, and incidentally tore up a lot of meat with it.

By this time the bear had got excited and it landed a full body-blow, and when Dr. Johnson lit he was in the creek and the bear had clatawased. Johnson crawled out and made his way to the Agency where Dr. Meriwether dressed his wounds, none of which were so very serious.

Serious Accident.

Tuesday afternoon about 4:30 as Mrs. W. P. Elmore, Miss Effie Brown and the two small children of Mat Caroline returning from the north side to their homes on the south side, in a covered buggy, the horse became frightened and jumped down the embankment near the planing mill, turning the buggy over twice, bruising the occupants very badly, especially Mrs. Elmore, who was a mass of bruises.

The next day she was unable to turn herself in bed, and is not now much better. The wonder is that no one was killed, as the embankment is five or six feet high.—Brownsville Times.

WM. M'KINLEY NOMINATED.

For President on the First Ballot—Hobart for Vice-President.

The Republican National Convention met in St. Louis last Thursday, June 18, and adopted a national platform and nominated a president and vice-president.

The committee on resolutions submitted the platform which endorses the reciprocity policy and the administration of President Harrison; it favors the protection of American sugar manufacturing, endorses the Monroe doctrine; favors the extension of the civil service; opposes the appropriation of money for sectarian institutions; favors government control of the Nicaragua canal, restriction of foreign immigration to those who can read and write; favors the active interposition by the United States for the restoration of peace in Cuba, and denounces Cleveland's administration.

The financial plank is as follows: "The republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, except by international agreement, which we favor, and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard should be preserved. We favor the use of silver as a currency, but the extent only that its parity with gold can be maintained and we favor measures designed to maintain inviolable the money of the United States, whether coin or paper, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth."

Upon a motion to adopt the platform Teller arose and offered a substitute for the financial plank. His substitute was for the free coinage of silver. Teller made an urgent plea, and said he would be forced out of the party if the gold standard plank was adopted.

Foraker's motion to lay Teller's substitute on the table prevailed by a vote of 830 1/2 to 93 1/2. Foraker moved the previous question on the adoption of the platform. Idaho demanded a separate vote on the financial plank, and the roll call of states was ordered on the question. The financial plank was adopted and then the whole platform.

Cannon, of Utah, announced that the minority would not yield. Thirty or forty, led by Teller, marched out of the convention. Their alternates immediately took their places. One Montana delegate remained and made a statement of his views.

The chairman announced facetiously that there were enough left to transact business.

At 2 P. M. the roll of states was called for the presentation of candidates for president of the United States.

There was great cheering by the various delegates during the nominating speeches.

John H. Baldwin presented the name of Allison. Lodge placed Reed in nomination amid cheers, and it was seconded by Littlefield. Dewey presented the name of Morton (great applause). He said the delegates who had talked of withdrawing Morton's name were erring sisters, and that Morton would not accept the nomination for vice-president unless it came to him unanimously.

When Foraker arose to present the name of Wm. McKinley, there arose a storm of applause. Cheer after cheer resounded, plumes and handkerchiefs waved and ladies joined in the immense demonstration. Men were on their feet cheering, and the audience sang "Marching Through Georgia," and "Battle Cry of Freedom." A man wearing a Napoleon hat walked along the row of reporters' desks which created much enthusiasm and laughter.

When the demonstration had subsided somewhat, Thurston seconded the nomination of McKinley, which produced another scene of wild enthusiasm.

Governor Hastings presented the name of Quay.

The nominating speeches occupied most of the afternoon. A few minutes before 5 o'clock the ballot was taken. Only one was required. The vote stood: McKinley, 691; Reed 83; Morton, 55; Quay, 61; Allison, 55.

McKinley's nomination was made unanimous by a rising vote amid the greatest enthusiasm and wildest cheering.

The rollof of states was then ordered for nominations for vice-president. Speeches were limited to 5 minutes. Foraker presented the name of Buck-

STRIKE PRACTICALLY BROKEN.

Every Cannery in Operation on the Lower River.

With every cannery in operation on the lower river, some of them taxed to almost their full capacity, and 30 boats in sight drifting at one time in front of the city, it begins to look as if the great Columbia river fishermen's strike is about over.

Aside from a few mild interferences with nonunion men as they came in with their catches at an early hour, all has been peaceful and quiet in Astoria. Several details of troops with gatling guns are maintaining a rigid patrol of the river. The phenomenal catches of some of the green fishermen is one of the chief topics of discussion. Many young men, the sons of well-to-do parents, have been tempted by the large returns to go out on the river, and there beginning to spring up a large demand for fishing gear from men who never rowed a boat in their lives. But these novices, fortunately, are accompanied by experienced water front characters in the role of boat pullers.

A report comes from Cathlamet that one man there secured three tons of salmon in one drift in one night for which he was paid the sum of $270 cash by one of the canners. One new man here, who had never fished with a net before, was paid $132 by Mr. Kinney, as the proceeds of a few hours' work within sight of the city. There is little doubt that the strike is now effectually broken.

ABOUT THE MINES.

Mr. W. B. Lawler, while in Salem last week, gave the following information about the situation at the mines:

W. B. Lawler, general manager of the Lawler Mining Company's Quartzville Mines, was in Salem one day last week. He reports progress in the big Quartzville mining enterprise satisfactory, with results fully as good as had been expected. Three tunnels now extend well into Dry Gulch mountain. Tunnel No. 1, which starts at the base of the mountain extends 800 feet; tunnel No. 2 reaches 850 feet into the mountain, and tunnel No. 3 is completed 900 feet. These tunnels run parallel to each other. Tunnel No. 2 is directly over tunnel No. 1, with which it is connected by a vertical chute 200 feet in length. Tunnel No. 3 enters the mountain about 200 feet nearer the summit than No. 2, and they are also connected by a vertical chute. The stamp mill is situated at the mouth of tunnel No. 1, and by means of the chutes and ears, all the ore passes out through this tunnel and is dumped into the large bin near the mill. Still another tunnel is being dug into the mountain, starting nearer the summit. If paying ore is struck, this will be connected by chute with No. 3, from whence its ore will find its way to the great ore bin. There are now 80 men at work. The 20-stamp mill is going night and day, 50 to 60 tons of ore being disposed of every day. The Lawler Mining Company has expended about $140,000 in these mines, but the work of development, as contemplated by the company, has just fairly begun. The plan of the company was to extend the tunnelling clear through the mountain, and the estimate of the expense was from $500,000 to $600,000. Further developments may induce the expenditure of much more capital in that region. Several clean-ups have already been made, but what the output in gold has been is one thing the company will not allow divulged. It evidently is satisfactory to the company, however, as Mr. Lawler, through whose instrumentality the mines were bought, has made representations to members of the same company, who, together with the Rothschild house in London, are negotiating for the Blue mines in Lane county. This contract has not yet been sealed, but there is good assurance that it will be, and within 30 days the work developing the Blue mines on an extensive scale will begun.

Summer excursion tickets, good to return until October 10th, to Yaquina Bay, are now on sale by the Oregon Central & Eastern R. R. at Albany and Corvallis at the usual reduced rates, viz:

Probable County Seat Contest.

The Lincoln county Leader, published at Toledo, states in its last issue that it has assurance that the West Yaquina people are preparing to contest the recent election, as far as it relates to the selection of Toledo as the county seat of Lincoln county. The Leader says: Toledo's representatives have been carefully looking up the names and eligibility of the persons who voted in the various precincts, and the result has not been a disappointment to Toledo's side. The use of money can now be established and the promise of reward can be shown. Let it be understood that we deplore a contest. We would ask those of the citizens of the county who are urging it to reflect well before decisive action is taken. It will stir up strife, intensify dissension and only cause the whole county trouble. But while deploring a contest, Toledo is not afraid of the result of one. We do not hesitate to predict that if a contest is started that the county seat will remain at Toledo; but some persons who voted in Lincoln county on June 1, 1896, will come very near to the doors of the Oregon penitentiary.
