At the trial in Justice Lovelee's Monday and Tuesday, Bob was acquitted of the charge of taking a suit of clothes belonging to young Wiencken, and Jas Crabb was convicted. The jury was out until nearly midnight in the Crabb case. The justice, in view of the very slight evidence against Crabb, imposed the least fine.

Hon. A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, delivered a very able free silver speech in Lebanon on last Saturday evening to a full house. Mr. Bennett is a very logical talker, and made a deep impression on his hearers. Much enthusiasm was manifested, which shows conclusively that the silver cause is not dying out in Lebanon.

The Lebanon McKinley Club are going to issue a campaign paper, the first issue to appear this week. The new paper is to be named "The Lebanon Truth." The Express is to do the mechanical work. The republicans are going to make this a red-hot campaign paper.

Shangle, presiding elder of the M E church, South, officiated. The contracting parties are very popular in their vicinity, and have the best wishes of a host of friends.

We received a communication from our Waterloo correspondent on the political speaking that took place there on last Friday evening, but we regret to say, it got here too late for publication. It seems that Hon. W. R. Bilyeu made a very able free silver speech on that occasion, and by his logical argument made many votes for Bryan. We hope our correspondent will write again.

Republican Rally.

The republican rally given in this city last night was a grand success in every respect. Before dark teams from the surrounding country and neighboring towns began to arrive, and at about 8 o'clock the excursion train from Albany arrived with about 200 people. The entire crowd was estimated at about 1000, and a more orderly crowd was never in a line of march. The speaking was to have been held in the hall, but when the people began to assemble the hall was found inadequate to accommodate the crowd, so the meeting was changed to the academy grounds. The crowd was called to order by Atty. Wyatt and the speakers were introduced by Atty. Brown, of this city. Gov. McCoull and Hon. W. L. Toole both gave fine addresses from a republican standpoint.

The torchlight procession was fine and deserves much credit.

The Albany and Sodaville bands furnished music for the occasion.

Dr. J. A. Lamberson was marshal of the day.

Full 8000 people were present, and it was the biggest demonstration ever held in Lebanon.—Albany Herald.

Wedding Bells.

Mr. Joseph Buhl and Miss Minnie Gilson were united in marriage on last Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, 1896, in the M. E. church, in this city; Rev. C. G. Harmon, officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated by the members of the Epworth League. Directly in front of the pulpit was a large arch, in the centre of which hung a large wedding bell, under which was strewn a bed of lovely flowers.

At the appointed time a wedding march was played by Miss Rice, and the happy couple marched in, preceded by Miss Mary Wilson and Mr. Oscar Moore, maid of honor and groomsmen. The contracting parties marched up the aisle and took their stand directly under the large wedding bell, where the marriage ceremony was performed in an impressive manner.

The bride was dressed in white silk, and wore a bridal veil. She is one of Lebanon's most popular young ladies and we feel that we could not say too much in her praise. Mr. Buhl is a young man of sterling qualities and is well liked by all who know him.

After the ceremony the happy couple marched to the parsonage where they received the congratulations of their friends; after which they went to their own home which had already been prepared for them. The young couple have the best wishes of a host of friends.

John Scanlan Arrested.

The readers of the Express will remember that the name of this young man has often appeared in the columns of this paper, as a petty offender. His escape from Marshal Taylor, a few weeks ago, is fresh in the minds of the people. At that time he made an unprovoked assault upon respectable citizens. During the course of a trial in Justice Lovelee's court on Tuesday, this bold offender was seen to ride through the streets. At a favorable opportunity Marshal Ritter caught the young man and his horse, and there was no escape for John. Seeing this, he at once was seen to throw away a small package, which was quickly picked up by some one and given to the officers. Upon examination the package was found to be a fur-lined pouch commonly used for carrying coin. Inside was a soft piece of cloth neatly covering in layers several quarter-eagles—some already gilded, others only partially so, and still others in their unadorned leaden state. This discovery was at once telegraphed to the U. S. marshal at Portland. The city and state willingly relinquished their rights to the person of the offender and he was turned over to Geo. Umpley, for the government.

The preliminary hearing was had Wednesday, at which time the government was represented by Attorney Saml M. Garland, and the defendant by Attorney W. M. Brown. Examination was waived and the prisoner was held under $1500 bonds, which were not furnished. The marshal took him to Portland by the afternoon train.

The capture of Scanlan was not a surprise, as it has been known for some time that he was suspected of counterfeiting.

His father is a respected citizen of this place. His mother has recently died. He has married sisters in this county, and one single sister. All have the sympathy of the community. They have done all in their power to check the wayward course of the son, but to no avail.

ENGINES SMASHED.

Terrible Accident on the S. P. R. on Tuesday Morning.

ROSEBURG, Oct. 6.—A collision took place between two engines near Green's, south of this place. About 6 o'clock this morning Conductor Fred Wall, after leaving on the south bound overland, discovered he had left some tickets in the Roseburg office, and sidetracked the train at Dillard's and started back with the engine for them, the engine being in charge of Engineer James Porter and Fireman George Happersett, brakeman Ben Lohr, and Conductor Wall also being on it. Meanwhile the tickets, being discovered at the Roseburg office, a light engine was sent with them, in charge of Engineer Bob McCauley, Fireman Jack McGonigle and brakeman J. Toy, with orders to overtake the overland and deliver the tickets at Myrtle Creek.

A fog prevailed and the engines came together a mile south of Green's. Fireman McGonigle and brakeman Toy were killed, and Fireman Happersett had both feet smashed. One of his feet was amputated by the physicians, after being brought here, and the toes from the other, but the shock was too severe and he died at 8 o'clock this evening. The two engineers suffered sprained ankles, and Conductor Wall severe bruises.

Engineer Porter had reversed his engine before being thrown from the cab, and his engine broke from the tank and ran south about 2 1/2 miles, where it was found exhausted. The tanks of both engines were demolished.

Brilliant Nuptials.

At the residence of Mr. J. Houk, on the evening of Oct. 6, at 8 o'clock, occurred a quiet and brilliant wedding. The occasion was the marriage of his youngest daughter, Miss Maggie L. to Mr. Asa S. Baker.

When the time came the happy couple entered the parlor under the strains of a wedding march executed by Miss Iida Elkins. The contracting parties took their position directly under a horse shoe made of beautiful flowers suspended from a huge yoke of evergreens, which had been tastily decorated in one corner of the room. As the music ceased, Rev. J. H. Cornwall, of the Presbyterian church, pronounced a solemn and impressive ceremony which united the two happy hearts that from now on will beat as one. Congratulations from all the invited guests were then freely extended. After the congratulations an elegant supper was served, to which the guests did full justice.

The bride is one of Lebanon's fairest and most accomplished young ladies, and possesses in a remarkable way the elements of making a home happy and attractive. The groom can well congratulate himself on winning the heart and hand of such a help-mate through life.

Mr. Baker is one of Lebanon's rising young business men, and has fine prospects before him in life, and belongs to that class of young men who are destined to an honorable situation in life.

There were only a few invited guests besides the family of the contracting parties—fifteen in all being present. There were some elegant presents presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker left on Wednesday morning for Salem and Portland on a bridal trip.

The Express joins with their many friends in extending best wishes.

Academy Notes.

Mr. Charles Donaca entered the business departments Monday.

Mr. Wm. Gals entered the intermediate department, and Miss Birdie Caldwell the primary department Monday.

Misses Cora and Hattie Cox were enrolled in the normal and business classes the first of the week.

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Miss Mabel Carson, '96, on Friday of last week. Call again, always glad to meet old students and friends.

Miss Rice, of the music department, reports an enrollment of twenty industrious students. Arrangements have been made for this department to have class recitals monthly, and public recitals quarterly.

Last Saturday the desks and tables in the business department were rearranged, and several new desks added. This was found necessary in order to accommodate the new students coming in.

The arrangements with the Washburn Mandolin Club have been completed, and this club will give a musical entertainment in the academy chapel on Oct. 18th. The entertainment will consist of mandolin, guitar, and banjo solos, songs, recitations, and several pieces by the entire club. This club consists of 10 members, and is well recommended, so we feel safe in assuming the public a treat in the line of music, songs and recitations.

The receipts of the entertainment, above incidental expenses, will be used to meet the payment now due on the new piano. Come out and assist us.

Trains Are Tied up. PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 5.—J. R. T. Austin, grand secretary and treasurer of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, has received dispatches from Montreal showing that the tie-up on the Canadian Pacific is complete. Nothing is moving except a few passenger trains. Saturday night the dispatchers at Smith's Falls, the only ones who remained at work and who had charge of 337 miles of the road, went out. The telegraphers, Austin's dispatch says, stand firm and seem to have the sympathy of the public all along the Canadian Pacific. At many places objection is made to any one else trying to perform the telegraphic duties. The employees of the train service have been restrained with difficulty from taking part in the strike. This is the reason the chiefs of their orders have gone to Montreal. Committees of engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen on the West end have notified the officials that they will not risk their lives with inexperienced telegraphers. It is reported the road is losing $75,000 a day, cattle are staying in cars, and goods from China and Japan lying at Vancouver island awaiting shipment. Ships lying in port for more than a week awaiting cattle, have been ballasted preparatory to sailing for England without cargo. The road is advertising for telegraphers in the United States. The latest advices this morning are that the situation looks towards a favorable settlement in a few days.

Wassom's Condition. Morgan Wassom, a Linn county convict, is showing signs of insanity. At intervals he refuses to talk, and when questioned by the prison officials, only gazes with a vacant stare. Superintendent Gilbert has had physicians examine him, and it has been decided to await further developments before taking him before the county court for commitment. Wassom was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing a saloonkeeper in Lebanon. He was received at the penitentiary May 3, 1893, and Gov. Penneyer commuted his sentence to expire next May.—Salem tel. cor.
